ADMITS SPENDING CLIENTS' $32,000 IN SPREES; FATHER TO TRY TO REPAY

Francis J. Korte, Realty Dealer, Confesses Obtaining Money by Defrauding Customers.

SPENT THE CASH ON WOMEN AND LIQUOR

Parent, Who Is Partner With Son, Says He Will Do All in Power to Make Restitution.

Clients of the Korte Realty & Loan Co., 106 North Eighth street, who have been defrauded of $32-000 or more by Francis J. Korte, junior partner in the firm, who has confessed spending the money on liquor and women, will be repaid to the best of the ability of Herman J. Korte, his father and partner.

This statement was made today by Lambert E. Walther, attorney for the father. "I am concerned only in the civil end of the case," Walther said. "We are trying to ascertain the exact amount involved in young Korte's operations, and his father will do all in his power to protect his customers from loss and preserve his own business and good will."

Inquiry by Grand Jury.
A grand jury investigation will begin Dec. 8. Circuit Attorney Sidner announced. Korte has confessed forgery, embezzlement and misrepresentation extending over the last three years. One of his victims was his sister-in-law, wife of a policeman slain on duty.

Korte is in the prison ward at City Hospital recovering from delirium tremens. He had only 35 cents upon arrival there, and said the rest of the dishonest money had been spent. He is 33 years old, married and the father of one child, but has been living apart from his family. At his home, 1311 Devonshire avenue, Mrs.
Korte is said to be prostrated.

On Nov. 7 Herman J. Korte, who resides at 7260 Forsythe boulevard, called at Police Headquarters and asked that a quiet search be made for his son, who was on a drinking spree. Detectives learned that the son had been seen at various hotels, cafes and road-houses in St. Louis and St. Louis County and arranged with one of his friends to have him surrender.
Last Sunday night a man walked into the police station, identified himself as Francis J. Korte, and was placed in a cell to become sober.

The father was notified and held a conference with his son yesterday afternoon, learning the extent of his criminal career. He and his attorney, Walther, then went to Circuit Attorney Sidner and requested him to call the victims before him and have their claims adjusted. Sidner replied that was not a proper function of his office and any settlement would have to be made outside.

Francis Korte's Story.
Under questioning by Detective
Sergeant Gerlach and Detectives Belton and Barry, Francis Korte told this story:

Eight years ago he went to work as a salesman for the Korte company. For the last three years he has been in the office. His father's frequent absences from the office and from the city on business gave him opportunity to make collections of rents and notes and to substitute and sell worthless duplicates of genuine deeds and notes.

Most of the money so obtained was lavished on women and liquor.
In addition to living fast and high in and around St. Louis, he made trips to Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Detroit, meeting women in those cities by appointment or chance. Once, in Chicago, he got into trouble, the nature of which he would not disclose, and was fined $15 in police court. Another time he was in Chicago, where he was leading a parade of children.

It was not unusual for him to spend $100 a night at parties. He bought two Ford's recently, and is said to have a collection of them.
His bets on horse races were comparatively small—$500 to $800 at a time. He spent considerably for taxicabs, $30 one day taking a trip to the Fairmount race track and elsewhere.

"Just a Damn Fool." Korte told the detectives. "I spent the money, the other fellows and the girls had the most times." Korte said he had met his father by

NEW SUPREME JUDGE

ROBERT W. OTTO.

OTTO APPOINTED SUPREME JUDGE TO SUCCEED WOODSON

Court Now Has Three
G. O. P. Members Out of Seven—N. T. Gentry of Columbia New Attorney-General.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.— Gov. Baker today appointed Attorney-General Robert W. Otto, Republican, of Jefferson City, as Judge of Division No. 1 of the Missouri Supreme Court, to succeed Judge A. M. Woodson, who died last Sunday. The appointment is for the rest of Woodson's term, expiring Dec. 31, 1926.

The appointment of Otto makes the membership of the court four Democrats and three Republicans.
As Attorney-General to succeed
Otto, Gov. Baker appointed North T. Gentry of Columbia, member of the Republican State Committee from the Eighth Congressional District. Both appointments are effective at once and both Otto and Gentry have accepted, Otto having submitted his formal resignation as Attorney-General today.

Appointment of Otto to the supreme bench came as a surprise.
It had been the expectation that the Governor's appointee for this place would likely be the administration candidate to succeed himself in next year's election.

There is no understanding as to whether he will be a candidate for election to the Supreme Bench next year. Otto told the correspondent. He added that it was too early to state whether he would be a candidate.

Funeral of Judge Woodson Held at St. Joseph, His Former Home.

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 17.—The funeral of Judge A. M. Woodson of the Missouri Supreme Court, who died Sunday in Kansas City, was conducted here this afternoon. The body lay in state in the First Christian Church, of which he was a member, during the forenoon, and was viewed by hundreds of former friends of St. Joseph, his home city, and Northwest Missouri, where he practiced law many years before he was elevated to the Supreme Court.

Delegations, including his associates of the Supreme Court, State officers and prominent politicians, attended the service, at which Dr.
C. M. Chilton, his former pastor, officiated.

RHINELANDER SAYS HE TOOK INITIATIVE IN LOVE AFFAIR

Plaintiff Admits He Was

HAD NO MARRIAGE INTENTIONS AT FIRST

Young Man Also Affirms
He Signed Papers, Part of Which He Knew Were Untrue.

By the Associated Press.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 17.
—Leonard Kip Rhinelander was infatuated with Alice Beatrice Jones, his part-negro bride, pursued her within a few weeks of meeting her and took the initiative in their relations, although at first he had no intention of marrying her.

These admissions were made today by the wealthy scion of an aristocratic Huguenot family in the course of a long series of contradictory answers under cross-examination by Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for Mrs. Rhinelander, in Rhinelander's annulment suit.

A series of questions on a letter sent by Leonard to his future bride in September, 1921, brought out the story of his infatuation. The letter was the first of a mass of missives that Davis has threatened to introduce. It told of young Rhinelander's loneliness and the rest exploring the polar regions with the auto sledges.

Naval Commander Scales, chief of the expedition; Lieut. Darola, wireless expert; Lieut. de Beyer, meteorologist; and another pilot and two mechanics had to be chosen to undertake the flight, hoping to make Point Barrow, Alaska, in ten hours.

Gasoline supplies already have been purchased to care for the journey from Point Barrow southward. These will be stored at Nome and sent to Point Barrow around the first of July, when the planes are expected to arrive.

TO ORGANIZE ON BASIS OF FOUR YEARS AGO

Particularly Obnoxious Rule Is That Allowing 150 Members to Take Bill From Committee.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The first move of the Republican management in the next House of Representatives will be to seek the abrogation of the rules which the La Follette insurgents forced upon the House two years ago, as their price for permitting it to be organized with a Republican speaker and Republican Committee chairmen.

To this end, a motion will be made at the start of the session for adoption of the rules, not of the preceding Congress, as would be customary, but of the Congress which met four years ago.

Having this year, as they believe, a safe working majority over the combined forces of the Insurgents and the Democrats, the old-line leaders, headed by the new speaker, Nicholas Longworth, intend to press their advantage to the utmost. They will endeavor to deal with the rules as if the last Congress had never existed.

RUSSIAN PRINCESS BURNED TO DEATH CLEANING GLOVES

Wife of Adjutant of Ex-King Fer-

jured Using Benzine.

By the Associated Press.
LIMBURG, Germany, Nov. 17.— Karl Angerstein, a paralytic, who last December killed eight members of his household, after enticing them separately to his bedside, died today, while cleaning a pair of gloves.

Using benzine, she stood close to a fire and the gloves ignited. With her hands and face and beautiful long hair aflame, she ran to her husband's room, where a blanket was thrown over her. Aid was too late, however, and she died in a few minutes. She formerly was the Russian Princess Rowowa and was 23 years old.

French Navy, Planning Polar Dash With Auto Sledges and Planes, Will Give Amundsen Competition

Expedition to Use Invention of Otto Sverdrup, Mechanism of Which Has Been Kept Secret—Flight Back to New York in Program.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Nov. 17.—The French Navy Department plans an expedition to the North Pole next spring and a subsequent airplane flight from the pole to New York City.
It was announced today. Supplied and manned by the navy and equipped with scientific apparatus, the expedition will be known as the "French Air Mission to the North Pole."

The expedition will leave Dunkirk, France, about the end of April, establish a base at Spitzber-gen, then strike off for the pole, carrying seaplanes on specially devised auto-sledges capable of traveling on either water or ice. Upon the arrival at the pole, the plans provide the members of the expedition will take off by air for New York.

Will Use Auto Sledges.
The expedition counts heavily for its success upon the amphibious auto sledges, which are the recent invention of Otto Sverdrup, former captain of the Polar ship Fram.

They are said to be capable of carrying six tons at speed over the ice of about 15 miles an hour, but their mechanical construction is being kept secret.

They are expected to carry two hydro-airplanes, 16 men and the necessary supplies and scientific apparatus from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, to the North Pole, where the expedition will split, six men undertaking the New York flight, and the rest exploring the polar regions with the auto sledges.

Naval Commander Scales, chief of the expedition; Lieut. Darola,
wireless expert; Lieut. de Beyer,

BODY OF RICHTHOFEN, GERMAN ACE, TAKEN HOME TO BERLIN

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Nov. 17.—The body of Capt. Baron Manfred von Richthofen, German World War ace, shot down in the Somme area in 1918, is being brought home. It will be turned over by the French at Kehl, Baden, tomorrow and will be reinterred with ceremonies in Berlin Friday. The funeral train will halt a dozen times between Kehl and Berlin for the cities en route to pay their respects.

"Red" Von Richthofen, so-called because he flew a scarlet plane, was an ex-captain of Uhlans. He was credited with bringing down 80 enemy aviators. President Von Hindenburg, other members of the Government and various military leaders will attend the ceremonies here Friday. Military honors will be rendered as the body is laid to rest.

COST OF SHADE TREES GOES UP

City to Charge $7 Instead of $5 for Each Planted.

It will cost householders $7 instead of $5 for each shade tree they ask the city to plant in front of their property, under an ordinance amendment approved today by the Board of Public Service. A few years ago the city charged $4 a tree.

Director of Public Welfare Salisbury told the board that cost of raising saplings and planting them on sidewalk lines had increased so much that the higher charge was necessary. Maples and sycamores chiefly are used.

MILL-A-GALLON TAX ON CEREAL BEVERAGES

House Committee Approves Plan to Enable Dry Agents to Check on Breweries.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A new tax of one-tenth of a cent a gallon on cereal beverages was approved today by the House Ways and Means Committee in its preparation of a revenue bill.

The tax was asked for by prohibition enforcement officials to give them power of inspection of breweries manufacturing beer and to check the "flood of high-

The committee turned down an alternative suggestion that an oc-imposed on brewers.

was expected to be doing his work was actually at his desk at work.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The United States Court of Appeals yesterday handed down a decision denying the Government the right to seize automobiles which are alleged to be carriers of intoxicating liquors and upon which there are chattel mortgages.

The court dismissed a libel ac-

FAIRMOUNT CLUB DENIES ACTING AS BET CUSTODIAN

Lyman T. Hay, President of Organization, Says Speculation on Races There Is Profit-Sharing Scheme.

POINT AT ISSUE IN SUIT BY A LOSER

Plaintiff Invokes Illinois Statute in Trying to Recover $1500 Which He Lost at Track.

When a visitor at Fairmount race track buys a $2 ticket on his favorite horse, is he betting? Or has he simply purchased a share in the profits to be earned by the horse, if any?

That was a point discussed before Special Commissioner Forrest G. Perris in his office in the Times Building yesterday where he heard depositions in two suits filed by Robert B. Prout, Pierce-Arrow auto salesman, against the Fairmount Jockey Club.

In one suit Prout asks for $100,000 damages of the jockey club and Arthur H. Simons, a private detective, for the humiliation he says he suffered when he was ejected from the jockey club grounds Oct. 24 last, as an alleged undesirable. In a second action he asks a judgment for $1500 which he says he lost in bets, or speculations, at the race track between Sept. 26 and Oct. 24.

Illinois Statute Invoked. His attorney, E. E. Butts, bases the $1500 suit upon an Illinois anti-betting statute. This law gives the loser of a bet on "a game of chance, horse race, election or other casualty," the privilege of recovering the amount of the bet, or a suit at law. The act has been construed by the Illinois Supreme Court to make the stakeholder as well as the winner of the wager liable for recovery of the bet, according to Butts's pleading in the case.

Prout is a salesman for the Western Automobile Co., Pierce-Arrow distributor, of which Sam Brendon, owner of the Cardinals, is president. One of the witnesses called by his attorney yesterday was Lyman T. Hay, president of the Jefferson Hotel Co. and of the jockey club.

Although he pleaded ignorance of the details of management at the so-called investment system in vogue there, having no remarks, as he explained it, on his experience in frequent visits to Fairmount.

Hay's Version of System. "When you buy a ticket for a particular horse you are not getting a receipt for a bet," he testified. "You are receiving an investment certificate entitling you to a prorata share in the earnings of the horse. The horse loses, there are, of course, no earnings. If the horse finishes in a position corresponding with the position originally invested, then you are entitled to collect your proportionate share of the horse's earnings. That is not betting, as I understand it."

Hay said he understood the Jockey Club charged a certain commission for handling investments on the races, but testified he did not know, except by hearsay, what the percentage was.

Report as to Commission. Visitors at the track during the recent racing season have been given to understand, however, that the club took a fee of 5 per cent from all bets, using the money so gained to make up the racing purses and to defray in part the expenses of operating the track.

Hay was asked if it wasn't a fact that the Jockey Club was paying law enforcement officers for protection but the Commissioner sustained the objection of Albert D. Norton of defense counsel to that line of questioning and ordered it stricken from the record. However, Hay had answered "No" before the objection was made. Attorney Butts explained that he wanted to show that the club was operating an illegal betting system and knew it. H. G. Stein, associate counsel for Prout, said an effort would be made to have the club's books brought into court for examination.

Jurisdiction Not Challenged. Although Prout's action to recover bets is brought in a Missouri court against an Illinois corporation on the strength of an Illinois statute, the Jockey Club has not challenged jurisdiction of the local tribunal. The suit is regarded as particularly important, since a victory by Prout would be a precedent for the filing of scores of suits by losing investors. Prout's attorneys say he has tickets to prove that he actually lost $1500 on bets.

In examination by Attorney Norton, Hay explained that his ignorance of conditions at the track arose from the fact he had no part in its management. That detail he testified, was handled by Col. Matt J. Wines of Covington, Ky., a racing expert who has been retained as managing director of the plant.

Former Mill Hand Chosen Standard Oil Chairman at $125,000-a-Year Salary

First Regular Job Paid 35 Cents a Day, and When a Boy He Could Not Buy School Books.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—George H. Jones has been elected chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, succeeding the late A. C. Bedford. Jones, son of a poor carpenter, began his Standard Oil career 35 years ago as a stenographer. His salary was $60 a month. It is now $125,000 a year.

He is the first man who, starting from scratch in a clerical position, has achieved top rank in the company, and, so far as Wall Street can recall, the first stenographer to become chairman of any great corporation.

The Election Took Place Yesterday. It is true that his close friend and predecessor, Bedford, began as a minor clerical worker and for many years attracted little notice, but Bedford had the advantage of a friendly connection with the Pratt family.

George H. Jones, a keen-eyed, ruddy-faced six-footer, began with no advantageous heritage. As a boy in Carthage, N. Y., where he was born, 53 years ago, and where his mother still lives, he felt the pinch of poverty. In grammar school he studied from the books of his companions, for he had none of his own.

Worked for 35 Cents a Day. And when the other boys were splashing in the swimming hole or hunting birds' nests, George was working for 35 cents a day, at a knitting mill from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., at 35 cents a day. At 15 he was opening an insurance office at 6 in the morning and firing the stove that the place might be warm when his boss arrived. During the rest of the day he was office boy and clerk, delivered policies and collected renewals. He received $3 a week and after a half year was paid $5 a week for the next six months.

He put in his evenings calling on prospects and sold some insurance. This pleased his employer to such an extent that the generous soul called him in at the end of the first year and said:

"George, I paid you $3 for the first six months and $5 for the last. Now I am going to increase that by paying you $4.50 a week for the entire next year."

Goes to Business College. George didn't appreciate the offer. He had saved $40 and in his spare time had picked up a smattering of shorthand as well as a two-fingered dexterity on a battered typewriter. He decided to go to a business school in Oswego. There he was favored by a small, round, heavy-jawed and keen-eyed, with the brusque address of the policeman and the dapper dress of the sportsman, even down to the detail of a well-chewed cigar, a watch chain and a black and white checked suit.

Uncertain as to Employer. The detective was uncertain for whom he worked. He had been sent to the track by a Capt. Kinney of Kentucky and rendered reports to him daily. Did he take orders from track officials? Not that he knew of. Did he report to Jockey Club officials? Not that he knew of. Was he paid by the track? Not that he knew of. No. What, then, were his duties? "My job is to keep undesirable away from the track," he answered. "Thieves, pickpockets, touts—that kind of fellows."

A tout, as he explained it, is "a man who masquerades as an owner, jockey or at least someone 'in the know' who pretends to possess valuable inside information on the races."

Tells of Warning Prout. The detective denied he had treated Prout contemptuously, as the auto salesman charges. He said Prout had been warned some days before election on Oct. 24 that he must stay away from the track. "He was taking bets and turning them in to Mr. Weeks," the detective testified, referring to "Hank" Weeks, the Republican politician who was banished from the track by private detectives who asserted he was bookmaking, which Weeks vehemently denied.

Prout was brought to the witness on Oct. 24 by a Deputy Sheriff. On that occasion, the witness declared, he himself refunded Prout's $22.50 admission fee, gave him permission to cash in his betting tickets and placed him in charge of the Deputy Sheriff, named Huckaby, to be allowed to inform his wife that he was leaving. His wife was then in the grandstand. According to Simons, it was a clubby meeting that occurred between him and Prout. The auto

MITCHELL JUDGES AGAIN DECLINE TO EXCLUDE EVIDENCE

Question of Admissibility of Testimony Postponed as Trial of Colonel Is Resumed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Resuming his sessions today after a three-day recess, the court-martial trying Col. William Mitchell heard new witnesses summoned by the defense to support the charges the Colonel made against war and navy administration of aeronautics.

At the request of Col. Sherman Moreland, trial judge Advocate, Major Francis B. Wilby of the General Staff, and Major Allen Gullison of the Judge Advocate General's office were detailed as assistant trial judge advocates to assist in cross-examination.

At the outset of today's session, Col. Blanton Winship, law member of the court, informed defense counsel that the court had been instructed by the court to ask for a determination whether the line of evidence being pursued by the defense was admissible.

Defense Seeks Delay. Representative Frank R. Reid, civilian counsel for Mitchell, said he expected the defense would "close the bulk of its case by the middle of next week," and the question should be passed over for decision until that time. Col. Moreland responded that the prosecution was willing either to wait for a decision or argue the question at once.

The court retired for private consultation and when it returned Major-General Robert L. Howze, its president, made this cryptic announcement: "The case will proceed."

Thus the question which several times before had been on the verge of a decision again went unanswered. Lieut. Donald G. Duke, air service officer in charge of the national defense academy, appeared by Reid to support the truth of Col. Mitchell's charge that "no accurate meteorological arrangements are available for air craft in this country."

Rejected Requests. The War Department, he said, had rejected emergency requests for establishment of a meteorological station at Muskogee, Ok. He presented a letter from Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, to War Department staff officers saying it appeared that economy was being practiced in the case of the Muskogee project, "at the expense of safety."

Establishment of meteorological stations at Kansas City, Dallas and Chamberlain, Minn., was recommended by Gen. Patrick, the witness said, but the stations were not established. He added that the same situation existed regarding requests for weather bureaus at Moorhead, Pa., and Uniontown, Pa.

Weather Bureau's Reports. "The Weather Bureau's reports do not answer the air service needs," said Lieut. Duke.

Questioned by Maj. Wilby. Maj. Wilby developed, on cross-examination, that it was the duty of the chief of the army air service to make the model always safe. The witness said there had been no fatal accident since the model airways were created.

Maj. Wilby also brought out that the army was allowed only $9000 for the construction and quarters of enlisted men for the fiscal year 1925, and that fund would have been exhausted if the requests for the meteorological stations had been granted.

Reed G. Landis of Chicago, son of Keneas Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, was qualified as an expert witness on the subject of his service overseas as an aviator. He said he had seen only one air machine destroyed by anti-aircraft fire from the ground, and that he considered it an undue risk to fly over the sea or over land. On cross-examination he testified that in 150 hours of flying over enemy lines, he never had a parachute.

MRS. LANDSDOWNE SAYS FOLEY TRIED TO TWIST FACTS

next day the statement from Capt. Foley, which she understood she was to read to the court.

Reaffirming her version of this statement as she gave it recently before the Mitchell court-martial, the witness said she had not meant during her appearance before that court to say that the whole of the Foley statement was false. She had referred solely, she said, to the assertion that her husband was ready at all times to take the Shenandoah on military flights.

Mrs. Landsdowne testified that she came to the opinion that there was an effort by the court to "whitewash" the Shenandoah accident and that she had voluntarily told Col. William Mitchell that Capt. Foley had sought to influence her testimony before the Shenandoah court.

She said she had been pursued by the navy about her statement and had made up her mind that she was a general opinion; that the court had its orders too from those higher up. She would not say who "those higher up" were.

"Was any action taken to coerce you to use the Foley statement?" Mrs. Landsdowne was asked. "No."

Maj. Leonard read the navy regulations requiring a judge advocate to make a preliminary examination of witnesses.

"In the light of that," said Mrs. Landsdowne, "I think the visit by Capt. Foley was in the line of duty, but I didn't think there should be an attempt in an effort to sway testimony."

Didn't Like His Manner. "In what part of the interview did Capt. Foley try to sway?" By saying that I should not say "this was a police matter," then said, "Any other way?" By his manner, it looked like he was trying to intimidate me.

"How did he do that?" "In impressing upon me the solemnity of the occasion and the power of the court, and that I must tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth in a very solemn tone of voice."

Mrs. Landsdowne testified that her husband told her the day before the Western flight that "the pressure was so great it was up to him to go if humanly possible to do so."

NEW BUS SERVICE SOON FOR NORTH ST. LOUIS DISTRICT

St. Louis Bus Co., Which Transfers to Street Car Lines, Obtains Approval of Proposed Line.

Operation of a new bus line coordinated with the Union Railways, by the St. Louis Bus Co., to serve a large loop in North St. Louis, is expected to start soon, following approval of the application by the Board of Public Service today.

The route will start at Broadway and Salisbury street, near the entrance to McKinley Bridge, and follow Salisbury, Palm street, Spring avenue, Natural Bridge avenue and Salisbury back to Broadway. It will connect and transfer with the Broadway, Bellefontaine, Lee, Belt, Jefferson, Grand and Natural Bridge car lines.

Borrowed $2000. Borrowed $2000 from Anthony Grans, 5059 Alcott avenue and gave him note for $2000 to which he forged signature of his father, Herman J. Korte, failed to deliver deed along with note.

Collected and retained client's rents in October, 1925, as follows: Albert Garavaglia, $105; Joseph Palanski, 4047 Morganford avenue, $76; Herman Martenbach, Grand boulevard and Clarke avenue, $20; and Mrs. Sherrell, 1320 St. Louis avenue, $11.50.

Korte also confessed retaining $57.30 collected from Mrs. Charlotte Dennis, 2716 North Union boulevard, for John Danforth; collecting and retaining various insurance premiums, collecting and retaining $2000 from Archille Fratelli, 6501 Manchester avenue, on note for James Harper, 4454 Manchester, and borrowing $1000 on note appointment in Chicago last week and the father said: "I'll make good for you, but hereafter, you go your way and I'll go mine."

He estimates his father's wealth, amassed through a score of years in the realty business, at $150,000. He is hopeful the clients will be paid in full, and that there will be no prosecution.

A young woman guest at the Maryland Hotel was named by Korte as among those who had helped spend his money. This woman, questioned by detectives, said she was a traveling saleswoman and a publication of her name would bring dismissal. "Mr. Korte gave me the impression he was a single man," she said, "otherwise I would not have gone out with him. All he ever gave me was a $35 present."

The dishonest deals recalled by Korte, and reported by the police, are as follows: Sold three duplicate deeds of trust, all worthless, for $9000 to Mrs. A. Schaefer, 4154 Maryland avenue.

While papers of Edward Fabey, 2648A Accomac street, were in Korte's keeping, he substituted a worthless duplicate for a genuine $4000 deed, then sold the genuine deed to Edward Remmert, 4139 West Florissant avenue. Next he recovered the deed from Remmert, giving him a receipt for it, and sold the deed to the Mercantile Trust Co. for $8000.

Sold Worthless Deeds. Sold worthless duplicate deeds for $2500 and $900, respectively, to Julia and Kate Halpin, sisters, of the Bristol Hotel, 5659 Pershing avenue. The genuine deeds are believed to remain in the Korte company's office.

Sold worthless duplicate deed for $3500 to his wife's sister, Mrs. Tillie Geisler, who lives at the Devonshire avenue residence. Mrs. Geisler, now Chief of Policewomen, is the widow of Patrolman George Geisler, who was slain by gangsters five years ago.

Obtained a genuine $1400 deed from Elizabeth Dierson, 4715 Davidson avenue, on pretext property covered by deed had been sold. Later informed her deed had failed and gave her worthless duplicate in place of original. Then sold original for $1400 to Mercantile Trust Co.

Three deeds turned over to Korte for collection were sold by him without consent of owners to Benjamin Mushlin, real estate dealer in the Buder Building, for $2150. Two of these deeds were property of Mrs. A. Schaefer, previously mentioned, and the third belonged to John D. Danaworth, formerly of St. Louis, now in California.

Collected $1150 in lump sum on note for Frank Hozjak, 3104 South Seventh street, and then paid it to him in monthly sums.

from Isaac Cohen, 5098 Delmar boulevard.

Ten men and women, among the victims, called at the Circuit Attorney's office this morning to determine their status. They were subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury at 2 p. m., Dec. 8.

An embezzlement warrant was issued today to keep Korte in custody, or under bond.

Awakens to Find Burglar in Her Room

"Why are you up so early?" Mrs. Lydia Emke of 3301 Caroline street asked when she saw the dim outline of a man moving about her bedroom at 4 a. m. today. For reply a cigar box was thrown at her, striking her arm. Then she knew he was not her husband. She screamed, her husband ran in, and the intruder fled, taking $50 that had been in the cigar box.

Obtained a genuine $1400 deed from Elizabeth Dierson, 4715 Davidson avenue, on pretext property covered by deed had been sold. Later informed her deed had failed and gave her worthless duplicate in place of original. Then sold original for $1400 to Mercantile Trust Co.

MAN FIRED AT WHEN IN AUTO GETS WARRANT FOR SUSPECT

C. W. Beck, And His Wife, Killed by M. J. Rastmas As They Went to Work.

A warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon was issued today against William J. Rastmas, 5408 Greenwood avenue, who was identified by W. Beck, former president of the defunct Federal Home Building Corporation, as the man who fired a shot through a window of his automobile last Saturday.

Beck, who was sitting in the automobile in the 5408 block, Greenwood avenue, with his wife, was shot about the face by a bullet from a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver. Mrs. Beck said the man who fired the shot was wearing a dark suit, a light-colored shirt and a dark tie. Beck's name and, learning it, first and last.

Clothing of Child Apparently Had Been Ignited. From Room Where She Was Sleeping.

Magnolia Herold, 4 years old, a negro, was burned to death this afternoon when her dress caught fire from a heating stove, while alone in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Eliza Pickens, at 209 South 26th street.

Frank Mitchell, 1228 Clark avenue, passing in an automobile, saw smoke issuing from the house, and ran in. He threw water over the flames and took the child to city hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

Sentenced for Murder in Felony. By the Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.—Ed Wilson, negro, alias John Ross, was given 15 years, and James Hunter, negro, was sentenced to 10 years in Cole County Circuit Court here today for the murder of John Sparks, negro convict, in the State Prison last Sept. 2. Both negroes pleaded guilty. Wilson is serving 10 years from St. Louis for robbery and Hunter five years from Lafayette county for burglary and larceny. They must serve their new terms and the remainder of the old ones. Sparks, 27, was stabbed during an altercation in the prison broom factory.

The Dead. Henry Kingsbury, 38, warrant paymaster, Detroit. Charles Ljunggren, 58, warrant boatwain, Detroit. John Haysack, 22, first-class seaman, Baltimore. Herbert K. Wilson, 24, cabin steward, Montreal. John R. Shea, 33, chief boatwain's mate, Providence, R. I. J. L. Stevens, 22, first-class seaman, Baltimore. Ira J. Brackett, 26, coxswain, Louisville.

Hugh H. McMurdo, 25, chief yeoman, Cumberland, W. Va. The bodies of all were recovered along the shore today. Taylor was exhausted and nearly crazed by his experience and the loss of his shipmates. He gave the names of the men who, one by one, he had seen lose their hold on the upturned craft—and drop to their deaths into the cold water and the darkness.

The last man to take his death plunge slipped off the 26-foot craft just as Taylor started his swim from the bulk to the shore.

Boat Capsized in Squall. The Morrill, bound from Detroit for Boston, where she is to take up a post in the prohibiting enforcement fleet, was at anchor off Sandy Point, five miles from Shelburne. After a dry ashore the sailors went aboard the sailboat. It was 5:30 p. m. when the craft pointed for the Morrill.

All went well until about two and one-half miles had been covered. Then a squall sent the boat on her beam ends. The sailor who topped overboard was the last to be seen. The boat was seen to capsize. It was 6:30 a. m. when the accident occurred, and it was 3 a. m. when the drifting craft had reached a point 50 yards off shore, from which Taylor made his swim to safety.

When the men had been thrown into the water, five reached the slippery keel of the upturned craft and clung to it. Others held to the edges of the boat. Waves constant. A report of the boat. One by one Taylor, the sailors, the child and disappeared in the darkness.

Boy Hears Cry for Help. Taylor reached the shore at a wooded spot. Unable to walk, he cried out for help and a small boy living near by heard him. When the news of the accident became known efforts were made to signal the Morrill to inform Commander Williams. They were futile. The sailor was not found until several hours afterwards, when a wireless message telephone to Halifax was relayed to the Morrill by way of Campden and Cape Bable.

Two Swim for Shore. Taylor's last companion on the wreck was Shea, a 23-year-old youth whose home is in Providence, R. I. They plunged into the water together in a last desperate effort to reach shore. Shea gave out after a few strokes and endeavored to grasp Taylor, whose strength was rapidly waning. Fighting his way ahead through the icy sea, Taylor managed to keep his head above water while his companion collapsed and disappeared.

The visit of the men to shore was to carry a sick man to a hospital, and the man, found by shore physicians, was in need of hospital care, was being returned to the Morrill only to go to his death by drowning. The shore trip had been made by a crew of picked men in the face of a gale that had blown hard throughout the day, accompanied by rain. The men did not attempt the return trip until they thought the gale had abated.

Civil War General Dies at 82. By the Associated Press. WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Nov. 17.—Brigadier-General Henry Clay Ward, veteran of the Civil War, died yesterday at his home at the age of 82. He had been in failing health for some time. He was born in Worcester, the son of Artemus Ward II.

EIGHT MEN DROWN WHEN SAIL BOAT UPSETS IN STORM

News of Disaster Brought by Sole Survivor, Who Swam to Nova Scotia Shore.

MEN BELONGED TO COAST GUARD CREW

They Clung to Sides of Craft, but One by One Slipped Off—All Bodies Recovered.

By the Associated Press. SHELBURNE, Nova Scotia, Nov. 17.—Eight members of the crew of the United States Guard cutter Morrill were drowned in the harbor here early last night when a sailboat in which they were returning to the cutter after leave on shore, capsized during a heavy blow.

Only one man in the boat was saved. He is Chester Taylor, engineer, second class, who swam ashore through the icy water after the boat had drifted close to the rocks. Taylor's home is in Bay City, Mich

EIGHT MEN DROWN WHEN SAIL BOAT UPSETS IN STORM

News of Disaster Brought by Sole Survivor, Who Swam to Nova Scotia Shore.

MEN BELONGED TO COAST GUARD CREW

They Clung to Sides of Craft, but One by One Slipped Off—All Bodies Recovered.

By the Associated Press.
SHELburne, Nova Scotia, Nov.
17.—Eight members of the crew of the United States Guard cutter Merrell were drowned in the harbor here early last night when a squall hit the vessel while it was in the harbor. The cutter was returning to the cutter after leave on shore, capsized during a heavy snow.

Only one man in the boat was saved. He is Chester Taylor, engineer, second class, who swam ashore through the icy water after the boat had drifted close to the rocks. Taylor's home is in Bay City, Mich.

The Dead.
Henry Kingsbury, 28, warrant paymaster, Detroit.
Charles Langren, 58, warrant boatman, Detroit.
John Hallysack, 22, first-class steward, Baltimore.
Herbert R. Wilson, 24, cabin steward, Montreal.
John H. Gibson, 23, chief boatswain's mate, Providence, R. I.
J. I. Stevens, 22, first-class seaman, Baltimore.
In Brackett, 26, coxswain, Louisville.

Hugh H. McDermid, 25, chief yeoman, Clarkburg, W. Va.
The bodies of all were recovered along the shore today. Taylor was exhausted and nearly craved by his experience and the loss of his shipmates. He gave the names of the men who, one by one, he had seen lose their hold on the upturned craft and drop to their deaths into the cold water and the darkness.

The last man to take his death plunged slipped off the 26-foot craft as Taylor started his swim from the bulk to the shore.

Boat Capsized in Squall.
The Merrell, bound from Detroit for Boston, where she is to take up a post in the prohibition enforcement fleet, was at anchor off Sandy Point, five miles from Shelburne. After a day ashore the sailors went aboard the sailboat.
It was 5:30 p. m. when the craft pointed for the Merrell.

All went well until about two and one-half miles had been covered.
Then a squall sent the boat on her beam's end. Later she toppled over-sideways. The scamen tried to cut away the rigging and right the boat, but the craft was too low and the sea too rough.

It was 6:30 o'clock when the accident occurred, and it was 9 o'clock when the drifting craft had reached a point 50 yards off shore, from which Taylor made his swim to safety.

When the men had been thrown into the water, five reached the slippery ledge of the upturned craft and clung to it. Others held to the edges of the boat. Waves crashed it swept the boat. One by one Taylor's mates lost their holds and disappeared in the darkness.

Hears Cry for Help.
Taylor reached the shore at a wooded spot. Unable to walk, he cried out for help and a small boy lying near by heard him.

When the news of the accident became known efforts were made to signal the Merrell by radio. The Commander Williams. They were fruitless, however, and it was not until several hours afterwards that a wireless message telephone to Hal-fax was relayed to the Merrell by a command of Campdown and Cape Belle.

Two Swam to Shore.
Taylor's last companion on the wreck was Shea, 23-year-old boy whose home is in Providence, R. I. They plunged into the water together in a last desperate effort to reach shore. Shea gave out after a few strokes and endeavored to grasp Taylor, whose strength was rapidly waning. Fighting his way through the icy sea, Taylor managed to keep his head above water while the dying man collapsed and disappeared.

The sluff of the men to shore was to carry a sick man to a hospital, and the man, found by shore physicians not to be in need of hospital care, was being returned to the Merrell only to go to his death by drowning. The shore trip had been made by a crew of picked men in the face of a gale that had blown hard throughout the day, ac-complicated by rain. The men did not attempt the return trip until they thought the gale had abated.

Rhinelanders Says He Took Initiative in Love Affair

at her, one of the few times during the trial that he had met her eyes.

"Does your wife look the same now as she did when you met her?"
he asked. "Yes."

"Was there no inquiry in your mind as to her color?" "Yes, in Arizona, when I was there in 1922."

Produces Bill.
Davis produced the bill of particulars, made out by Leonard's attorneys and signed and sworn to by him. He read a paragraph stating that Rhinelanders had only recently heard that Alice's sister Emily, had married a negro butler.

"Is this bill of particulars your sworn to, true?" Davis asked.
"No."

"You followed the advice of your attorney in signing this bill?"
"Yes."

"You followed the advice of Mr.
Jacobs in swearing against your wife to a statement that you knew was not true?" "I took his advice."

"Did you tell him it was untrue?" "I believe not."

"He has been building up this case for you?" "Yes."

"You never told him that you introduced the question of color to your wife?" "No."

"Jacobs put untrue statements in the pleading which you had never told him about then?"
"Yes."

"You signed papers on his advice, when they included things which you knew to be untrue?"
"Yes."

Rhinelanders declared emphatically yesterday that he had objected to his attorneys disclosing to the jury and a curious woman the confidential love letters his wife, uneducated daughter of a negro taxicab driver, wrote to him before their marriage.

Initiative in Love Affair

moods had been caught, reduced to tangible form and projected in a swiftly moving procession across a screen. Petulant impatience over his long-continued absence was followed by extravagant protestations of undying love and the letters were in turn glowing reminders of former ecstasies enjoyed in each other's company.

As former Justice Isaac N. Mills, trial counsel for Rhinelanders, finished reading the last letter he paused before turning his client over to the other side to ask him about the death of his mother in 1915.

Rhinelanders told briefly how his mother had been burned to death in the explosion of an oil lamp when he was two miles away playing tennis. He was only 12, he said, and it had been a great shock to him.

A noticeable change came over Mrs. Rhinelanders. She sat erect and gazed once more at her husband. There was no hostility, no even hardness, in her gaze. Her eyes were opened wide and she was gazing appealingly at him.

"Your mind is all right, isn't it?" was Davis' first question. Mills contended that Rhinelanders' mental development had been retarded by the impediment in his speech and that as a result Mrs. Rhine-landers had been able to deceive him regarding her color and to win his love.

"Yes, it is," came Rhinelanders' unhesitating answer.
"Your trouble is that you stammer, isn't it?" continued Davis.
"Yes, sir."

Tells of Leaving Wife.
They gazed at each other only a few seconds. A moment later his eyes were again fixed upon his wife's counsel and he was telling how he left his wife Nov. 20, 1924, accompanied by Leon R. Jacobs, his attorney of record, and was driven off in a closely curtained automobile. Davis tried to get him to admit he was hurried into the automobile. Rhinelanders admitted he hurried, but insisted he went of his own volition.

"You are able to make that distinction," remarked Davis. "Your mind is working very clearly, isn't it?" "I hope it is," replied Rhinelanders.

After he left his wife, Rhine-landers testified, he went with Jacobs to a "high-class boarding house" in Jamaica, L. I., and after four days he went there with Jacobs to Washington, D. C., where they remained four days and talked about the case.

"Who did most of the talking, you or Jacobs?" asked Davis, who has said that he will show that the millions of Philip Rhinelanders, the young man's father, and not young Rhinelanders himself, are back of the annulment suit, and that Jacobs was acting for the Rhineland-ers family.

"The conversation was mutual," Rhinelanders replied.

Went to Newark.
From Washington he and Jacobs went to the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark, N. J. Rhinelanders said, and before going from there to the summer home of Joseph J.
Strong at Bellmore, L. I., he and Strong went to New York, "on the subway tube."

"Well, I might as well ask you what you did in the subway station in New York," said Davis.
"I signed the complaint in this action."

Initiative in Love Affair

an annulment action? A. In Washington.
Q. After talks with Mr. Jacobs
there? Yes.
Q. Corrects Examiner.
Q. But you never really were sure your wife had colored blood in her veins until May, 1924? A. March, 1925.

Davis again thanked Rhineland-ers for correcting him, thus calling attention to the mental alteration displayed by the witness.
In this action on Nov. 24, 1924, did you not? asked Davis.
"Yes."

Davis then read from the original complaint the allegation that Mrs. Rhinelanders had represented herself before her marriage to be without negro blood, concluding with the words, "which representation the plaintiff has since discovered to be wholly untrue."

Q. Did you swear to that? A.
Yes.
Q. Was it true or untrue? A.
True.

Q. You swore then that the representation she had no colored blood was wholly untrue? A. I can't answer that. I must qualify.
Davis handed Rhinelanders the complaint and asked him to read it.

"Which is true?" asked Davis,
"that you weren't sure until March, 1925, or knew she had colored blood on Nov. 24, 1924, four days after your wife?" "No."

Much Quibbling.
There followed a lot of quibbling with Rhinelanders trying to evade and Davis demanding a direct answer and getting Rhinelanders' admission that both statements couldn't be true.

"Which is true?" the attorney demanded. "The one in March," answered Rhinelanders.

Q. Then you swore to an untruth in the telephone booth. Isn't that a fact? A. No. There was enough doubt in my mind at the time.

Q. So there was enough doubt in your mind so you could swear emphatically she was a liar in every day English? A. Yes.

Regarding his wife's love letters, Rhinelanders said the last he knew about them they were in a trunk in his room in Fourteenth street.
Q. They disappeared, did they?
A. Yes.

Q. Who took the letters out of your trunk? A. Mr. Jacobs.

Q. Without your knowledge or your consent?
Rhinelanders said he had been unwilling to let his attorneys use the letters, but had acted on their advice.

POSSIBLE VICTIM NO. 11 OF J. V. WIEDEMEIER

Philadelphia Police Wire Eloper Is Wanted There for Swindling Woman.

A possible No. 11 on the list of women wooed, won and swindled by the elusive Don Juan, known here as John V. Wiedemeier, was indicated last night when Philadelphia police tersely demanded his arrest.

"Arrest John V. Wiedemeier," was their telegram to St. Louis police. "Known here as Frederick B. Stanley. Wanted for swindling woman out of $7000 jewelry and money."

The St. Louis police would be glad to oblige if it were possible.
They are as anxious to arrest Wiedemeier as anyone, for he has jumped $5000 bail and is at large.
Since his arrest here last month with Mrs. Margaret Hoffman, wife of a Chicago business man, as they alighted from a train at Union Station, Wiedemeier vanished, discarding his bonds and the $15,000 cash which police took from his person.

He is scheduled to appear with Mrs. Hoffman in Federal Court tomorrow on a Mann Act charge. If he appears, as his attorney has promised, the police will be able to answer a multitude of inquiries as to his whereabouts.

MANAGER OF FUR COMPANY FOUND DEAD IN HIS OFFICE

Frederick H. Eynatten Apparently Died of Heart Disease, a Physician Stated.

Frederick H. Eynatten, 52 years old, prominent in the wholesale fur business and in South Side business circles, died unexpectedly today at the Abraham Fur Co., of which he was manager.

He had been in ill health for some time, but went to his office as usual today. Shortly before noon an employee found him dead. Dr. C. L. Sellers, who was summoned from the Carleton Building, said he died of heart disease, and that he was apparently dead at least an hour.

Mr. Eynatten lived at 3655 Harford street. He is survived by his widow and three children. Florence, Robert and Jerome. At one time he was active in politics and was once a member of the Democratic City Committee.

lines had front entrances, some had rear entrances, and some used both.

BLAZER CHARGE DISMISSED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LITTLETON, Colo., Nov. 17.—
The information against Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer, for the murder of his imbecile daughter, Hazel, was formally dismissed at District Court here today by Judge Johnson, on motion by District Attorney Joel Stone, on the ground that the verdict of disagreement in the trial last week was satisfactory.

Application by defense attorney, Lewis D. Mowry, that a new jury in the case be empaneled and the court direct a verdict of not guilty, was denied by Judge Johnson.

YOUTH, SLAYER OF 2, FACES ELECTRIC CHAIR

Noel, Who Killed Chauffeur and 6-Year-Old Girl, Convicted in New Jersey.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Harrison
W. Noel, 20-year-old Montclair, N.
J., youth, was found guilty last night of the murder of Raymond Pierce, negro taxicab driver.

This did justice in New Jersey speak quickly and sharply before Judge Edwin C. Caffrey in Newark. It was Sept. 3 last that Noel killed Pierce, stole his taxicab and the next day kidnapped Mary Daly, 6 years old, as she played in front of her home at 136 Upper Mountain avenue, Montclair, carried her away and killed her.

The jury brought in its verdict one hour and 10 minutes after the case was placed in its hands. It is understood that only two ballots were taken.

In the prisoner's dock above their heads, Noel appeared, a guard at each arm. His head was down, his hair ruffled, and save for a slight frown, his face was as emotionless as it has been since he went on trial, a week ago yesterday.

Sentence will be imposed No.
23. It will be the electric chair, as the court has no other alternative in a first degree murder conviction.

Defense counsel Wachenfeld, who pleaded throughout the trial that his client was hopelessly insane, was not in court. As an assistant heard the verdict but had nothing to say. It is presumed that an appeal will be taken.

The boy's father, an admiralty lawyer, who refused to retain counsel for his son and did not appear during the trial, was told of the conviction by reporters who found him at the Delta Upsilon Club, in New York. He declined to comment.

Noel last spring was committed to Overbrook, a State institution, from which he later escaped.

DINNER COSTING $42,000 GIVEN FOR HYLAN BY ADMIRER

New York Mayor at Feast Intimates He May Write Politics for Hearst.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—At a $150-a-plate dinner last night in the Ritz-Carlton—and there were 280 plates for a check of $42,000—without tips to the waiters—Mayor Hylan presented his calendar for the year 1926.

It was a surprise to those who had visualized him as a practicing attorney in private life. He announced that as plain John F. Hylan, citizen, he would take an active part in politics. His talk gave renewed circulation to reports that he will join the Hearst organization and write on Government and politics. But he intimated that when the opportunity presented itself for another public office, which he did not name, he would throw his hat in the ring.

He took credit inferentially to his city administration for the election of Gov. Smith.

The dinner eclipsed even the famous Berolzheimer gold-plate feast of last June, when the City Chamberlain gave his eighth annual love feast for the Mayor and paid a bill that was estimated at $25,000.

It was a newcomer in the Hylan millionaire circle who sent the invitations and called for the check.
He was Leo L. Dohlin, retired silver merchant, who lives at 276 Central Park West. He has been an admirer of the Mayor for some time, was a liberal contributor to his primary campaign fund and recently made a trustee of Hunter College by the Mayor. It was his fiftieth birthday and he decided to celebrate.

The menu was as follows:
Caviar, sprouts of sorrel, olives, celery, salted almonds, lobster Albert, fancy vegetables, half of ducking with orange, Alma salad,
"floating heart," dainties, coffee.

It contained $400 cash and $250

box and money.

BELLEVILLE WOMAN KILLED BY AN AUTO.

Mrs. Christine Byrd Struck by Car When Crossing Street Near Her Home.

Mrs. Christine Byrd, 45 years old, of North Sixth street, Belleville, was fatally injured at 5:45
p. m. yesterday when struck by an automobile as she was crossing Main street, at Sixteenth, near her home. She died of skull fracture an hour later at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The driver, Dr. O. C. Gallenbeck, 24, of 4115 West Main street, told police he was not aware his automobile had struck anyone until a pedestrian called to him as he was driving east in Main street, a short distance from the scene of the accident. He said he had slowed down at the corner to permit another machine to pass and as he started felt a slight jar. He expressed the opinion that Mrs. Byrd stepped from behind the other machine and into the side of his car.

Mrs. Byrd is survived by her husband, M. B. Byrd, a coal miner, and two children.

42 YEARS IN PRISON, THOUGH INNOCENT

Frenchman About to Be Freed as Result of Son's Appeal to Governor.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Pierre Dieudonne was 8 years old when his father was sentenced to hard labor for life for a crime he did not commit.

That was 42 years ago. Today the father is still breaking stone in French Guiana, in the broiling equatorial sun. Pierre has just turned 20, and he has set about the task of freeing his father from bondage.

Dieudonne was accused of having, with a member of the famous "Tragic Band," held up and attempted to assassinate a bank messenger in the streets of Paris. It was in 1912, when Paris, and particularly the suburbs, had been terrorized by the notorious anarchist group, which had declared war on society. They had, some years previously, founded an anarchist colony on a country farm, where they sought to live according to libertarian principles. But the police raided them, drove them out, burned or otherwise destroyed their property. So they revolted, stole some automobiles and took to banditry. They committed numerous robberies and holdups, and a number of murders, before they were finally surrounded in a house where they had barricaded themselves.

Battle Police for Days. There they battled with the police for days. Some of them were killed in the course of the battle; the rest were arrested and gullied.

Dieudonne was identified by the bank messenger as one of his two aggressors. He denied it. His lawyer brought the 8-year-old Pierre into court and begged the accuser to reflect on what it would mean to the boy to have his father unjustly taken from him. The bank messenger maintained his accusation. The jury believed him and found Eugene Dieudonne guilty.

Then one of the other prisoners—the one who was accused of having accompanied Dieudonne—arose in the dock and declared Dieudonne had had nothing to do with the crime. He said he had not spoken sooner because it might affect his own chance of acquittal. But now that he himself had been convicted he would testify.

Unfortunately his testimony was out of order. The jury had already spoken. A new trial? The law did not provide for it in such a case as this because when the other prisoner confessed sentence had not been pronounced. The jury had brought in the verdict but the Judge had not pronounced sentence. And the law stipulates that a new trial may be ordered only in case new facts or evidence are discovered after sentence has been pronounced.

If the other prisoner had spoken 10 minutes earlier, or 10 minutes later, it would have spared Eugene Dieudonne, perhaps, 12 years of prison.

But He Was Not Pardoned. Why was he not pardoned? That is one of those mysteries that constantly occur in the history of criminal proceedings. It is easy today to believe in the innocence of Dieudonne, even when we have only the evidence produced at the trial—among which was a positive alibi, proving that Dieudonne was in another city on the day of the crime. But at the time of the trial Paris was in a turmoil as a result of the terrorist operations of this band, and the last thing anybody was thinking of, even the President of the Republic, was clemency to any prisoners that the police may have rounded up.

At any rate, it is likely that Eugene Dieudonne will soon be on his way back to France, and back to the grown son—who now wears an army uniform.

The boy has written the governor of French Guiana the facts about his father's case, and the governor has replied:

"My dear child—I was greatly touched by your letter. You speak as an honest, upright man. Be assured that I will do my best to return your father to you, so that he may find a worthy place in society."

LAWYER SUES TWO DOCTORS FOR DAMAGES OF $100,000

William Moffitt Bates Alleges He Was Burned by X-Ray in Taking Treatment for Wart.

Acting as his own attorney, William Moffitt Bates, lawyer and Republican City Committeeman, yesterday filed suit for $100,000 damages against Drs. Joseph Grindon and Richard Krings, Lister building.

Bates sets forth that he employed Dr. Grindon to treat a wart on his left foot, and Dr. Grindon advised him to take X-ray treatments from his partner, Dr. Krings. Bates asserts negligence entered into the 12 treatments, and his foot was burned by the X-rays, causing nervousness, loss of sleep and appetite, interfering with his work and necessitating an operation.

Dr. Krings could not be reached for a statement. Dr. Grindon has been practicing since 1879, is at present a dermatologist to five St. Louis hospitals and formerly was president of the St. Louis Dermatological Society and St. Louis Medical Society. He said he never before had a controversy involving his skill.

AUTO, LEFT WITH BRAKE ON, RUNS AWAY, SMASHING WINDOW

Owner of Machine Is Summoned on a Charge of Destruction of Property.

When Fred B. Kroger, who is employed in the Liberty Central Trust building, went in at 214 Olive street at 8:30 p. m. yesterday he left his automobile at the curb, with the brake set.

When he came out a few minutes later the automobile, brake off and motor out of gear, had rolled downhill and into a show window of the Mavrakos candy store at Broadway and Olive street. He was summoned on charges of property destruction.

NEWS SERVICE FOR DOCTORS

Latest Information on Tuberculosis Distributed by Society.

The Medical News Service of the Tuberculosis Society of St. Louis is to become a permanent department. This service was originated by the advisory medical staff to serve physicians with the most recent information about tuberculosis. It was felt new information about the disease was accumulating so rapidly that the general practitioner did not have time to keep up with it unless it were collected and arranged in concise, readable form.

The first series of articles, written by medical experts, on the latest phases of tuberculosis, is nearing an end, and requests for another series have been so numerous, according to Dr. A. J. McLaughlin, chairman of the medical staff, that it was decided to make the service permanent. The second series will be broader in scope, touching general health problems as well as tuberculosis.

ALL NOBEL PRIZES WITHHELD THIS YEAR

Board of Directors Does Not Make Public Reason for Decision.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 17.—For the first time since the first Nobel prizes were given, 24 years ago, all five of the prizes will be withheld for this year, it was announced by the board of directors of the Nobel fund today. The reason for this decision was not made public.

The five prizes are physics, chemistry, medicine or physiology, literature and the Nobel peace prize.

It was announced today that 1924 physics prize, awarded last week to Prof. Manne Siegbahn of the University of Upsala, was in recognition of his important discoveries in the X-ray spectra of the elementary substances.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News, November 1925. STOCKHOLM, Nov. 17.—The decision of the Nobel committees to withhold prizes because there are no candidates of sufficient merit, is much criticised here, alike by press and public.

While some prizes have been withheld in previous years, especially during the World War, such a general unbestowal is unprecedented in the history of the Foundation. Nobel's will directed that the prizes, the total amount of its annual value reaching approximately $650,000, should be given to persons who during the past year had rendered the greatest service to humanity in medicine, chemistry, physics, idealistic literature and promoting peace.

High Taxes Blamed.
The constitution of the Nobel Foundation, framed after Nobel's death, specifically directs that prizes shall not be awarded unless work of sufficient importance has been accomplished, but the press here declares the committees were influenced in their decision by the necessity of accumulating further funds owing to the heavy taxation demanded from the foundation by Swedish state. Last year's taxes exceeded the amount of the prizes.

The decision to withhold the literature prize aroused the greatest controversy. The secretary of the Swedish Academy, Dr. W. Dahlgren, strongly insists the sole reason this prize was withheld was that no claim this year was considered worthy of consideration. Critics point out that the committee in previous years selected comparatively minor candidates whose reputation was local, leaving giants like Thomas Hardy unhonored.

The press here is solidly behind its demand that Sweden should cease its heavy taxation for demands on prize funds. Karl Siegbahn, who was awarded the physics prize for his Roentgen spectroscopy investigations and discoveries, is a professor in the University of Upsala, whose work on the atomic theories is very highly esteemed.

DRYING UP ILLINOIS TOWNS

By the Associated Press.
CARBONDALE, Ill., Nov. 17.—In the most drastic liquor cleanup Jackson County has known, County Judge Fred Herbert has granted a temporary order closing 13 saloons and roadhouses in Murphysboro, Ward, De Soto and Dowell. In filing the petitions State's Attorney John H. Zaring declared he was going to close up the county as "tight as a tick."

A hearing to determine whether the injunctions should be made permanent was set for Dec. 31. Meanwhile Sheriff White and deputies began padlocking the places.

FORCED SEARCH UNDER GAME LAW ASSAILED

Attorney - General's Office Thinks Action Is Unconstitutional—Suggests Test.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.—Forcible search of hunters or their automobiles by game wardens, to determine whether hunters have exceeded the game-killing limits fixed by the State law, is contrary to the State constitution's guarantee against unreasonable search and seizure, the Attorney-General's department ruled today in an opinion rendered to Prosecuting Attorney F. M. Brady of Benton County. The Attorney-General also raised a question of constitutionality of a section of the game laws which renders a hunter subject to prosecution if he falls voluntarily to permit a game warden to make an inspection and count of the game he has killed. The opinion suggested a test case be instituted to obtain a construction of the section by the State Supreme Court.

Validity of Section Doubtful.

"While we doubt the validity of the section (5645) it is the duty of the court, and not the Attorney-General, to declare acts of the Legislature invalid and unconstitutional," the opinion stated.

The opinion was requested after several persons in Benton County refused to permit a game warden to search them and count their game. They had killed on the ground such a search was unconstitutional.

Assistant Attorney-General J. A. Potter held the game law did not authorize or attempt to authorize the State Game and Fish Commissioner and his deputies "to forcibly search, on suspicion only, any one found hunting."

"Had the Legislature attempted to confer authority on the commissioner or any of the deputies to forcibly search persons found hunting on suspicion only, all such statutes would be in direct conflict with the Constitution," Potter said. "The immunity of one's home or person from an unreasonable or forcible search by an officer out of idle curiosity or on suspicion merely has become so firmly imbedded in the laws of Missouri, and is based upon such a long line of decisions, that it cannot be disregarded even by an officer of the law."

Test Case Suggested.

Potter pointed out that Section 5645, providing a fine of $25 to $150 for persons failing to permit a search by game wardens, had the result of a hunter being compelled to furnish evidence against himself. Whatever decision the hunter makes may subject him to prosecution, Potter stated. He said this section might conflict with a provision of the Constitution that no person shall be compelled to give testimony against himself.

He suggested a test case, filed where permission to make a search was refused, would bring the law before the higher courts for construction.

About 200 automobile drivers, returning to St. Louis from Jefferson County Sunday night, were stopped at the southern approach to the bridge over the Meramec River on Lemay Ferry road by Deputy State Game Wardens, who searched the machines for violations of the State game laws. Twelve persons who had been hunting without licenses or had more than the legal limit of 15 quail in their machines were arrested and find by a Justice of the Peace near Marxville.

SALOONKEEPER EXONERATED OF MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

A jury in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court last night exonerated Louis Baumann, 35 years old, proprietor of a saloon at 657 Thrush avenue, of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, Hazel, 30, March 23, last. Previously, Baumann had been exonerated by a Coroner's jury, but subsequently was indicted by the grand jury.

The jury accepted the version of the circumstances as related by Mrs. Mary York, proprietor of a restaurant, operated in conjunction with the saloon, which was corroborated by Baumann. Mrs. York testified Mrs. Baumann had been drinking heavily for a week, and on the day when injured—two days before her death—entered the saloon and began quarreling with her husband. She said she overheard Mrs. Baumann say, "Did you say I took that check?" to which Baumann replied, "Oh, forget it." A moment later she heard the sound of a falling body. Baumann testified his wife entered the saloon, just as he was about to prepare a highball. She was very much intoxicated and quarrelsome, he said. When the wife reached for the bottle in his hand, he said, he wrenched the bottle away, and his wife fell to the floor, suffering a fracture of the skull.

Escape of 14 Prisoners Frustrated.
POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Nov. 17.—Will Johnson is credited with preventing the escape of 14 prisoners from the county jail. While passing the jail Sunday night he heard noises and reported it to the Sheriff, who found a group of prisoners digging out. They used a window weight and a piece of iron from a bunk in an attempt to dig out of the cell tier into the roadway. They were about through the brick wall when caught.

SUMMERALL DEPLORES ATTACK ON U. S. ARMY AIR SERVICE

Without Mentioning Mitchell's Name, General Says Some Things in Statement Must Be Atoned For.

By the Associated Press.
MALONE, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Major-General Summerall, who withdrew as presiding officer in the general court-martial of Col. William Mitchell on challenge of the defense counsel, in an address to army officers and reserve officers here last night, without mentioning Mitchell's name, declared there were things in the attack on the control of the air service that must be atoned for.

"I once gained considerable notoriety," said Summerall, "by refusing to accept as Captain in Ohio some years ago a man who did not measure up to the required standard of loyalty of the United States Army. The same lack of loyalty is responsible for recent happenings in the air service, such things as have never happened before. Things that have hurt. Things of which we are not proud. Things that must be atoned for. Things that those responsible for will regret all their lives."

Naval Lieutenant Drowned.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 17.—The body of a man found floating near North Island Sunday was identified yesterday as that of Lieut. Nathan Green of the destroyer Moody. He was 25 years old and a native of Tennessee. Delay in identification was due to the fact that he wore civilian clothes at the time. There were no marks of violence on the body and Coroner Kelly said he believed death to have been due to drowning.

ALOE NAMED RECEIVER FOR ALLIGATOR CO.

Faces Task of Separating Its Affairs From Bankrupt
Ferguson-McKinney Firm.

Louis P. Aloe, president of the A. S. Aloe Optical Co., and former President of the Board of Aldermen, was named by Federal Judge Davis today as receiver for the Alligator Clothing Co., which has been a subsidiary of the now bankrupt Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co.

The receiver's task will be to separate the Alligator Co., which is considered a going and profitable concern, from the wreckage of Ferguson-McKinney, whose $3,300,000 collapse, following the obtaining of large loans by criminal misrepresentations, is being investigated by the grand jury.

As head of the Alligator business, Aloe will replace Forrest Ferguson, president of that company, who, with Murray Carleton, president of the Carleton Dry Goods Co., is held responsible by banker creditors for the falsification of credit statements which made the Ferguson-McKinney crash so disastrous to creditors.

Judge Davis fixed Aloe's bond, as receiver, at $100,000.

Upon application of Receiver Aloe, Judge Davis appointed Forrest C. Donnell, who was the late Senator Spencer's law partner, as attorney for the receiver.

The Alligator company controls a patented process for manufacture of raincoats, and it has profited by the recent and still continuing demand for colored slickers by youths of collegiate age and above.

D. M. Flournoy, vice president and manager, who yesterday filed the suit for receivership, hopes to form a syndicate to reorganize the Alligator company. His petition stated that the Alligator company was solvent, but that the Ferguson-McKinney failure had deprived it of needed credit. He said the company was without effective means of proceeding against its president, Ferguson, for his personal indebtedness to the concern. Ferguson's I O U debts to the Alligator company were $180,000, out of a total of $439,000 of such obligations to Ferguson-McKinney and the Alligator company.

The grand jury resumed its inquiry into the case this morning and examined a number of bankers, including E. B. Pryor, Richard S. Hawes of the First National Bank and George W. Wilson of the Mercantile Trust Co. This afternoon they will question Eugene Engert, receiver of the Ferguson-McKinney company, and a representative of Ernst & Ernst, accountants, who are auditing the company's books.

THIRD PRISON TERM GIVEN HERE FOR AUTOMOBILE DEATHS

Records Show 14 Motorists Have Been Sent to Workhouse,
One to Jail.

Charles E. Hollis, sentenced to two years' imprisonment yesterday for an automobile killing, is the third man to receive a penitentiary sentence here for such an offense. Hollis pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Landwehr to charges of manslaughter in connection with the killing of Edward C. Buchmuller of 4537 Fair avenue on Aug. 25 last, and of felonious flight in driving away from the scene after his car had knocked Buchmuller down at Jefferson and Shennandoah avenues.

Hollis was employed at the time as an attendant at Lutheran Hospital. He was arrested after detectives had found his blue touring car in a garage near the institution. Policemen were assisted in their search by a description of the machine, including the fact it bore a Louisiana license. Subsequently Hollis admitted he had stolen the car in Louisiana.

The others who have been sentenced to the penitentiary here for auto deaths were Arthur Rickman, negro, who was sentenced for two years in 1928 for manslaughter in the fatal injury of Mrs. Martha Sprinell, and George Dean, who also got two years on April, 1923, for the death of Floyd Cavanaugh as the result of an auto injury.

A survey of Circuit Court records shows that in addition to these three, 14 men have been sentenced to terms in the workhouse for auto deaths or felonious wounding. Still another man got a jail sentence for an auto death.

BELLEVILLE ADOPTS DRY LAW AS MEANS TO GET REVENUE

Belleville, which got its financial support, prior to prohibition, almost exclusively from the liquor trade, last night put itself in a position to draw what funds it could from the post-Volstead traffic in intoxicants.

The Board of Aldermen, with only one dissenting vote in 14, passed an ordinance under which dry law offenders can be tried before local magistrates and fined from $25 to $500. Revenue from prohibition offenders prior to enactment of the ordinance had been going into the State and national treasuries and the act was passed, as stated in arguments at the meeting, to allow Belleville to draw revenue from this source.

Before prohibition Belleville saloons paid from $40,000 to $70,000 annually in dramshop license fees. The license fees from saloons are less than one-sixth that amount now. It was pointed out last night that Collinsville was drawing a handsome annual revenue from fines assessed under its local dry law.

Fined $100 for Selling Liquor.
Harry O'Connell of East St. Louis, arrested by Deputy Sheriff May 24 for violation of the dry law, pleaded guilty before Judge W. R. Weber in the St. Clair County Court yesterday and was fined $100 and costs, totaling $123.75.

39cCREW OF TRAIN
ON RECORD RUN RECEIVES $5000Rewarded by Guy Waggoner, Texas Millionaire, for 1053-Mile Trip in 20 Hours, 26 Minutes.Guy Waggoner, millionaire Texas oil operator, is at the bedside of his dying sister in New York City today, Pennsylvania Railroad officials are proud that they have smashed all records for a run from St. Louis to New York, and the crew of Waggoner's special, which completed the 1053-mile run in 20 hours and 26 minutes yesterday, are figuring on what to do with the $5000 bonus they received from him.It cost Waggoner more than $10,- 000 to make the trip from St.
Louis to New York—about $5,600 for the train and the $5000 bonus for the crew if they made the trip in less than 24 hours. But he reached his destination earlier than a scheduled train could have taken him, and he succeeded in bringing his sister's son to her while she was still conscious.Waggoner was at his home near Fort Worth when he received a telegram announcing that his sister, Mrs. Electra Wharton, was in grave danger at their mother's home, 430 Park avenue, New York.
With his wife and John Wharton, the sister's son, he boarded a train for St. Louis, but a freight derailment caused delay and the train missed connection with the Pennsylvania's New Yorker which left here at noon Sunday.Tried to Hire Plane.
Waggoner, who occasionally used an airplane to go from his ranch to Fort Worth, 200 miles, tried unsuccessfully to hire a plane to New York. Then he appealed to the railroad and laid down $5000 for a special, which left here at 3:51 p. m. Sunday.The oil operator was not interested in records. He wanted only speed. He informed the crew that it would get $5000 if the run was made in less than 24 hours, the time of the fastest regular train.
Freight and passenger train were shunted into sidings, and the special was given the right-of-way. It stopped only for fuel and to change engines.As a result the train slid into the Pennsylvania Station yesterday at 1:17 p. m. New York time, 12:17
p. m. St. Louis time. It had made the run three hours and 41 minutes faster than the Pennsylvania's crack train, and one hour and 44 minutes faster than the previous record 22 hours and 10 minutes for a New York Central special running from New York to St.
Louis last spring.A limousine waited at the station, with a traffic policeman on the running board to clear the way, and Waggoner sped to his sister in record time. He found her in critical condition, but conscious. A crisis will be reached today, it was said.Waggoner and his sister are two of four children of Tom Waggoner, reputed to be worth many millions in ranches, oil lands, banks, sky scrapers and oil refineries.
Their grandfather was Dan Waggoner, who went to Texas 50 years ago from Missouri with a few cattle and little money. Each of the younger Waggoners is a millionaire in his own right. For Electra Waggoner, the town of Electra, Tex., was named.Mrs. Wharton has been married three times and separated twice by divorce and once by annulment.
She is 45 years old and has been ill for several weeks suffering from complications brought on by gall-stones.Her first husband was Albert B.
Wharton of Philadelphia, whom she married 20 years ago, and divorced after 10 years in Fort Worth. Mrs. Wharton went to Dallas where she met and married Weldon Bailey, son of former United States Senator Joseph W.
Bailey. They established themselves on Mrs. Wharton's ranch at Vernon, New Mexico, but the marriage was of brief duration and ended in divorce.Last winter, in Florida, she met James Gilmore of New York, former head of the old Federal Baseball League. They married after a short courtship, but after a few months, Mrs. Gilmore returned to her ranch at Vernon and got an annulment order on Sept. 11. It is understood she had married too soon after divorcing Bailey.

SHERIFF IS SUED FOR $3800

HELD AS ROBBERY EVIDENCE
Surety Company Says It Has Paid
$8000 to Bank Whose Messenger Was Held Up.Suit to recover $3800 held by Sheriff Schuler as evidence to be used in the trial of two persons for the robbery last February of a messenger of the State Bank of Wellston was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by the National Surety
Co., which states it paid the bank $8000 to cover the loss.The defendants are Sheriff Schu-ler, William O'Brien, James Ryan, Floyd Miller, Margaret O'Brien and the heirs of Edward O'Brien, who was murdered several months ago in St. Louis County. William O'Brien and Ryan are awaiting trial on the charge of robbing the bank messenger, and Miller has been convicted and sentenced.

SHIRT SALE

Your Unrestricted Choice of 18,620 Shirts—Pure Silk, Rayon, "Kingsatin," Broadcloth, Madras, Pongee, Oxford and Many Others

These vast sales have won for themselves such a great name that all over America merchants speak of Nugents Shirt Sales as one of the wonders of modern merchandising. It is a fact that although they are studied and copied by stores here and elsewhere they still stand out alone! We suppose it is because the Shirts we put in these sales are so high grade and expensive that few stores would care to sell them for the price we do. Just think what wonderful Xmas gifts these will make!

Our idea behind these great sales is to give the finest Shirts that our buying organization can gather together over a period of months of earnest effort. So you see Nugents Shirt Sales do not just "happen," they are the result of hard and conscientious work and planning. That's why they are so wonderful and why men attend them in thousands.

Is that Cold re

CHRONIC chest or head col-are more often than not the result of anemia. Unless the blood is in proper condition, the system is a ready victim to not only cold but indigestion—headaches and many other far more serious troubles.
The body depends upon rich blood for its vitality—its endurance its resistance to disease of every kind.
And if the blood stream is weak watery—anemic—you are robbing yourself of your own strength.
For more than 30 years, thousands of physicians have prescribed Gude's Pepto-Mangan as the sure way to put the blood in condition to withstand constitutional attacks. They know that unless the blood is built back by aiding Nature in giving it the iron and mangan-content it lacks, no permanent cure can be effected.
Start today on Gude's Pepto-Mangan.
The results will surprise you. For Gude's Pepto-Mangan is quickly assimilated, the blood and almost instantaneous distributed to every part of the body

Is that Cold really Anemia?

CHRONIC chest or head colds are more often than not the result of anemia. Unless the blood is in proper condition, the system is a ready victim to not only colds, but indigestion—headaches and many other far more serious troubles.

The body depends upon rich, red blood for its vitality—its endurance—its resistance to disease of every kind. And if the blood stream is weak—watery—anemic—you are robbing yourself of your own strength.

For more than 30 years, thousands of physicians have prescribed Gude's Pepto-Mangan as the sure way to put the body in condition to withstand constant germ attacks. They know that unless the blood is built back by aiding Nature in giving it the iron and manganese content it lacks, no permanent cure can be effected.

Painful Rheumatic Swellings Disappear

Discoverer Tells Druggist Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allenhu Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLENHU, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore entrusted Wolff Wilson, Druggist, with the understanding that if the first nine bottles does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comments.

Seeks Data on Trachoma.

Dr. Ida A. Bengtson, recently named Associate Bacteriologist of the Hygienic Laboratory Staff, United States Public Health Service, at Rolla, Mo., is in St. Louis this week to inspect the Winter-Steiner collection at St. Louis University Medical School and to consult records of the Missouri Commission for the blind for data on the trachoma situation in Missouri.

Aching Joints

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in knees, hands, shoulders, feet, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure. "Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, fragrant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin. Druggists guarantee each 60-cent bottle.

DECISION ON EXCHANGE IN PAYMENT OF DEBTS

Rate at Date of Maturity Upheld by U. S. Supreme Court.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Debtors owed Americans in terms of the foreign currencies by subjects of the Central Powers of Europe at the outbreak of the world war, must be paid, the Supreme Court held yesterday, at the rate of exchange which prevailed when they fell due, with interest from that time until paid, including the period of American participation in the war. The question reached the court in two cases in which Ladsburg, Thalmann & Co. of New York, was a party.

One was brought by the Allen Property Custodian and the Treasurer of the United States, who contended that the rate of exchange for converting a debt owed by the German firm of Delbruck, Shickler & Co. should be that prevailing at the time the New York concern obtained judgment on the obligation in American courts.

The New York firm's contention for the exchange rate prevailing when the debt fell due was upheld in the lower courts, but it appealed on the question of interest having been refused during American participation in the war from April 6, 1917, to July 14, 1918.

The Supreme Court sustained the finding of the lower courts with reference to the rate of exchange, but reversed them in the matter of interest.

The practical effect of the decision was to require payment of the debts involved at the rate of exchange of 17 1/2 cents per German mark instead of 125,000th of a cent, which was the rate prevailing when judgment was rendered in the courts.

The Court pointed out with respect to the interest, that in the proceedings before it the question of action had accrued before the United States entered the war.

"The question was no longer one of excuse for not performing a contract, but of the continuance of a liability for damages that had become fixed," the decision stated.

MAN FREED OF CHARGE OF VIOLATING THE 'BLUE SKY' LAW

Actor, Who Caused Arrest of J. Ralph Dodsworth, Refuses to Testify Against Him.

Raymond Brown, character man of the Woodward Players, yesterday chose a dramatic moment to end his prosecution of J. Ralph Dodsworth, 3255 Washington place, for an alleged violation of the Missouri "blue-sky" law.

Two hours had been spent in picking a jury in Court of Criminal Correction. It was explained to them that Dodsworth was charged with selling to Brown a $100 interest in the Benson Engine Trust, an unincorporated and unregistered concern. Then Brown took the stand as complaining witness.

"I refuse to testify," he announced. "I stand on my constitutional rights."

"My employer advised me not to testify," he explained. He was told, he said, that "constitutional rights" was the only reason he could give.

Judge Miller accepted a nol-prossue motion offered by Associate Prosecuting Attorney Renick. Renick said he understood Brown had started the prosecution by seeking a warrant.

POSTOFFICES TO CLOSE FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

One Delivery to Newspapers and the Hotels East Jefferson Avenue.

The main postoffice and all branches will be closed Thanksgiving day and there will be no deliveries on city carrier or rural routes. Sunday postoffice boxes will be accessible.

One collection will be made in the residential district between 7 and 10:30 p. m., and two collections in the business district between 12:30 and 2 p. m., and between 7:30 and 9 p. m.

ROBBED OF HIS AUTO AND $11

Claude Meyers' Car Later Used by Thieves in Oil Station Holdup.

Two men mounted the running board of the coupe of Claude Meyers of the North Side Y. M. C. A. as he slowed down at Cardinal and Bell avenues at 8:30 p. m. yesterday, and forced him to drive into an alley, where they deprived him of $11 and his machine.

Fifteen minutes later the coupe was at the oil filling station of William T. Brewster, 918 Walton avenue. After getting oil, gas and water, the two men held up Brewster and his wife, who was sitting in the office, and drove off with $4 from the cash register.

Man Found Dead Near Tracks.

William Clemens, 62 years old, of 4314 South Broadway, was found dead of a skull fracture, lying on the southbound Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks near Bowen street at 6:50 a. m. today. Near him lay a coal bucket. His wife told police he had gone out to pick up coal on the tracks. A southbound freight had passed Bowen street at 6:30.

"Dollar Bill" Says
"Every Day Is Dollar Day"
You may have your plain woolen garments cleaned here for a dollar, not only Wednesday, but next week, or next month. Of course, you won't want to wait that long, but it's a comfort to know that there is one cleaning plant where this price is in effect all the time.
In less than two years we have twice increased our plant equipment, and added five trucks to our original delivery fleet, which indicates quite plainly that more and more St. Louis women are realizing that Dollar cleaning not only costs less, but is worth more.

INDIAN ACQUITTED OF BURYING BABY ALIVE

Wrapped 17-Day-Old Boy in Blanket With Dead Mother at Command of "Medicine Man."

By the Associated Press.

PUEBLO, Colo., Nov. 17.—Platt May, Ute Indian, who was brought to account before the bar of white man's justice on a charge of murdering his 17-day-old son by burying him alive in the grave of his mother, went back to work on the Ute Reservation today a free man. He was liberated yesterday by a ruling of Judge J. Foster Symes, who directed a Federal Court jury to return a verdict of not guilty. Judge Symes ruled that the Government had not proved a murder had been committed.

Not knowing what it was all about, May had to be pushed from the courtroom by one of his attorneys appointed by the court. He sauntered up and down the corridor and finally demonstrated that he knew he was free by saying he was going to return to the reservation and work for his boss—E. McKee, Ute Agency superintendent.

Through McKee, Ed Black, Deputy Superintendent; Dr. E. E. Johnson, a physician who lives near the reservation, and two Indian witnesses, the Government brought out the story of how May was caught between two conflicting laws—that of the white man and the medicine man. Testimony showed that he wrapped the live baby in the burial blanket with its dead mother, permitted them to lie on the Ute camp ground throughout a February night, and buried them the next day in a shallow grave—all under the orders of Mormon Joe, medicine man and father-in-law of May. Dr. Johnson testified the baby was suffering from pneumonia, which may have caused its death. The defense based its contention on that point and won a directed verdict.

Faced "Mormon Joe." May sat through the proceedings as unflinching as a wooden likeness of his kind at the front of a cigar store. His eyes, except for a few hasty glances to the right or left, were fixed upon Judge Symes.

The testimony showed that May feared Mormon Joe and obeyed his command because disobedience might have meant death, and that he also was an unwilling servant of the medicine man, who bound the bodies of his dead bride and his living son together and prepared them for burial.

Mormon Joe, who beat a fellow prisoner to death while being held in jail at Cortez, Colo., as an accessory to the charge, is serving a term of from 25 to 30 years in prison for the killing.

MAN KILLED, POLICE CHIEF

AND TWO OTHERS WOUNDED
Shooting in Pittsburgh Suburb Attributed to Vengeance for Earlier Affray.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 17.—One man was killed and three others, including two Cleveland men and the chief of police of McKee's Rocks, a Pittsburgh suburb, were wounded last night in a fight in Joseph Cheffo's home.

Cheffo, whose life had been threatened since he wounded Patsy Valicenti two months ago, was killed by gunfire when he drove to his house in an automobile bearing an Illinois license. Edward Reider, police chief, who attempted to arrest the assailants, received a load of buckshot in the face. Samuel Mincetto and Samuel Foglio of Cleveland also were shot. Police think Cheffo shot the Cleveland men before he dropped.

Soviet Places $30,000,000 Order.
By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Nov. 17.—Orders for $30,000,000 worth of mining machinery will shortly be placed in Germany by the Soviet government. The government intends to electrify the southern ore trust, which is one of the most powerful units of Ukrainian industry, producing 73 per cent of the total iron output of Russia. New equipment will be installed in 72 of its mines. Machinery also will be erected in the Nikopol manganese beds, which produce 20 per cent of Russia's total output of the metal.

$375,718 GIVEN IN COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN

Report at Social Workers' Luncheon Shows Great Increase Over Contributions Reported the Preceding Day.

GOAL OF DRIVE IS $1,848,768

$109,165 Raised by the Special Gifts Body—Other Divisions Make First Reports.

Contributions in the Community Fund's 10-day drive for $1,848,768 had reached $375,718.72 at noon today, it was announced at a luncheon of workers at Hotel Statler. This is the fifth day of the campaign.

The total showed an increase of more than 100 per cent over yesterday's figure, which was $158,220. Of yesterday's total, $109,165 was reported by the Special Gifts Committee, headed by J. Lonberger Davis. The only other report yesterday was from the city division. The other four divisions made their reports today.

Warrior Workers of Hate. In warning workers not to urge those solicited to subscribe too hastily, Bert H. Lang, chairman of the campaign, said: "No good job is done in a hurry. You must study your prospect, go to the right man in the organization, and do not hurry anyone too much. They must be given time to arrive at the amounts they desire to give to the fund this year. Businesslike methods will go far toward making the fund a success, coupled with the enthusiasm each one should show for the task in hand."

Campaign to Close Monday. The campaign started last Friday and will close Nov. 23. Noon luncheons of workers will be held each day this week at the Hotel Statler. Appeals for contributions will be broadcast from local radio stations during the week.

The annual roll call of the Red Cross, which is being conducted this month throughout the United States, is incorporated in St. Louis in the Community Fund drive. The local chapter of the Red Cross requires its entire support from the fund, and each person contributing a dollar or more to the fund becomes a member of the Red Cross.

BELGIAN SEES A NEW LOCARNO SOON. TO TAKE IN RUSSIA

Rhine Pact Has No Aims Against Anyone, Foreign Minister Vandervelde Tells Deputies.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 17.—"A second Locarno, at which all Europe will make an agreement with Russia to the great advantage of both," was envisaged by Foreign Minister Vandervelde in a speech before the Chamber of Deputies today. This new move for peace, he said, would occur in the not far distant future.

Vandervelde's reference to Russia was brought out by violent criticism of the Locarno treaties by communist deputies, who claimed they were directed largely against Russia.

Vandervelde said Locarno would have been impossible without the Dawes plan. The Rhine security pact, he added, had no offensive aim against anybody. It replaces a one-sided system. Its significance, he declared, lies in the acknowledgment of the statesmen who framed it of the immense debt for peace existing in the hearts of European peoples.

MEXICO OPENS NEW HIGHWAY

Correspondence of the Chicago Daily News.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 26.—From Puebla to Mexico City a new highway has been opened to automobile traffic. It has not been completed, having still to be "topped" but the construction company has 2000 men working on it. The traffic has increased from an average of two or 25 motor cars a day. Between Mexico City and Pachuca, the first stretch on the Laredo highway, the road is in fine condition as far as Mexico.

Automobile traffic on the Mexico-Acapulco route is perfectly safe as far as Cuernavaca. Preferential attention is being given to this route and 1939 men are employed on it. The gaps are subject to revision and resurvey and parties are now engaged in this work. Other location and survey parties are at work between Monterey and Laredo.

Wood to Veto Philippine Vote. MANILA, P. I., Nov. 17.—Although Gov.-Gen. Leonard Wood has not received from the Legislature the bill passed recently which would authorize a plebiscite on the question of Philippine independence, it is understood he will veto the measure on the ground that it is the function of the secret government of the United States Government to authorize such a plebiscite.

The total showed an increase of more than 100 per cent over yesterday's figure, which was $185,256. Of yesterday's total, $109,165 was reported by the Special Gifts Committee, headed by J. Lionberger yesterday. The only other report yesterday was from the division of workers at Hotel Statler. This is the fifth day of the campaign.

Wants Workers of Haste.
In warning workers not to urge too hastily, Bert H. Lang, chairman of the campaign, said: "No good job is done in a hurry. You must study your prospect, go to the right man in the organization and do not hurry anyone too much. They must be given time to arrive at the amounts they desire to give to the fund this year. Businesslike methods will go far toward making the fund a success, coupled with the enthusiasm each one should show for the task in hand."

Campaign to Close Monday.
The campaign will close Nov. 22. Noon luncheons of workers will be held each day this week at the Hotel Statler. Appeals for contributions will be broadcast from local radio stations during the week.

The annual roll call of the Red Cross, which is being conducted this month throughout the United States, is incorporated in St. Louis in the Community Fund drive. The local chapter of the Red Cross receives its entire support from the fund, and each person contributing a dollar or more to the fund becomes a member of the Red Cross.

Belgian Sees a New Locarno Soon, to Take in Russia.
Rhone Pact Has No Aims Against Anyone, Foreign Minister Vandervelde Tells Deputies.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 17.—"A second Locarno, at which all Europe will make an agreement with Russia to the great advantage of both," was envisaged by Foreign Minister Vandervelde in a speech before the Chamber of Deputies today. This new move for peace, he said, would occur in the not far distant future. Vandervelde's reference to Russia was brought out by violent criticism of the Locarno treaties by communist deputies, who claimed they were directed largely against Russia.

Vandervelde said Locarno would have been impossible without the Rhine pact. The Rhine security pact, he added, had no offensive aim against anybody. It replaces a one-sided system. Its significance, he declared, lies in the acknowledgment of the statements which framed it of the immense desire for peace existing in the hearts of European peoples.

Mexico Opens New Highway.
Mexico City, Oct. 20.—From Mexico City to a new highway has been opened to automobile traffic. It has not been completed, having still to be "topped" but the construction company has 2000 men working on it. The traffic has increased from an average of two or three motor cars a day. Between Mexico City and Pachuca, the first stretch on the Laredo highway, the road is in fine condition as far as Pachuca.

Automobile traffic on the Mexico-Acapulco route is perfectly safe as far as Cuernavaca. Preferential attention is being given to this route and 2000 men are employed on it. The gaps are subject to reconstruction and survey and parties are now engaged in this work. Other location and survey parties are at work between Monterey and Acapulco.

Wood to Veto Philippine Vote.
MANILA, P. I., Nov. 17.—Alvin K. Wood, Gov.-Gen. Leonard Wood has not received from the Legislature the bill passed recently which would authorize a plebiscite on the question of Philippine independence. It is understood he will veto the measure on the ground that it is the function of the secretary of the United States Government to authorize such a plebiscite.

300,000 AUSTRALIANS LIABLE TO FINE FOR NOT VOTING

Returns Indicate All Members of Premier Bruce's Government
Have Been Re-elected.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 17.—All the members of Premier Bruce's government have been re-elected with the exception of Senator R. V. Wilson, minister without portfolio, whose fate is doubtful on the present returns from Saturday's election.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of the electors went to the polls. This leaves about 300,000 persons whose votes were not cast and who are liable to a $10 fine under the new compulsory voting law.

It is thought that, as a result of the election, the Labor party will endeavor to sever all connections with the extremists in the party at the next Federal Labor Conference.

LONDON PRESS JOINS MOVEMENT TO ABOLISH SUBMARINE

Supporters of Project, Encouraged by Reports From U. S., Discuss It in Lobby of Parliament.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The movement for the abolition of the submarine is attracting much sympathetic attention in the press, in political quarters and among the general public. Cabled reports of American approval of the suggestion to do away with the underwater boats were received as a valuable encouragement. The question was the general topic of conversation yesterday in the lobbies of Parliament, where everybody agreed that abolition was wholly desirable if all the chief naval powers would act simultaneously.

There has been no official statement on the subject on behalf of the Government or from prominent naval officers. But Parliamentary Secretary for the Admiralty David, discussing the matter informally, said that Great Britain's attitude at the Washington conference was still maintained.

The Sketch says the Government has decided to make a big cut in its submarine building program and that it will lay down many less in the future than in the past. Because, owing to the development of detection appliances submarines are not likely to be of great use in future warfare.

MUSSOLINI CALLS NOV. 14 FASCIST GOLD-LETTER DAY

Premier Comments on Italian Debt Settlement at Meeting of His Cabinet.

ROME, Nov. 17.—Premier Mussolini, speaking at a meeting of the Cabinet in regard to the debt agreement negotiated at Washington, said yesterday: "Nov. 14, 1925 (the day on which agreement was formally signed at Washington) is the Fascist gold-letter day. It is the day on which we have secured the cancellation of the Italian debt to the United States. Subscription lists have been opened and a large sum already donated."

GENOVA, Italy, Nov. 17.—On the recommendation of commercial houses of Genoa, a movement has been launched here for the collection of national voluntary subscriptions of $1 from each person each year to raise the $5,000,000 which represents the earlier annual instalments of Italy's debt to the United States. Subscription lists have been opened and a large sum already donated.

DECISION FAVORS RAILROAD

Coal Company Must Keep Up Royalties to Hocking Values.

THE Hocking Valley Railway Co. has lost in the Supreme Court its suit to set aside an arrangement under which it has been compelled to pay royalties to the Hocking Valley Railway Co.

The case was an echo of the proceedings in which, a decade ago, the railways of the country were ordered by the courts to discontinue their coal interests. At that time the Hocking Valley owned the Buckeye company, and had pledged 2 cents a ton on all coal mined by the company as a sinking fund for cancellation of the Hocking Valley mortgage bonds. After the dissolution both the Buckeye company and the Sunday Creek Coal Co. sought to have this arrangement set aside. The decision in favor of the Hocking Valley confirmed the findings of the lower courts.

First Cuban Exposition in U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Speaking over a direct telephone wire from the presidential palace in Havana to the roof garden of the Hotel Pennsylvania, President Gerardo Machado of Cuba last night formally inaugurated the first Cuban exposition in the United States.

He said that the exposition was a friendly commercial relationship between the two nations.

Chinese Executed Before Crowds.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 17.—The native city here was exempted yesterday when an executioner decapitated a Chinese posing as a military officer who had extorted $2000. The victim was accompanied by Chekiang soldiers and Chinese police and executed before huge crowds at the Shanghai Railway station at the border of the foreign settlement. Foreign police were necessary to control the crowds.

WAY TO END WAR ISN'T GUESSWORK, F. J. LIBBY SAYS

Secretary of National Council for Prevention Addresses Women's Organizations Here.

World peace by arbitration is in sight, a group of St. Louis women representative of various St. Louis organizations active in the espousal of that cause were assured at a conference here yesterday. The speaker was Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, whose Washington headquarters are said to be a clearing house for 37 national peace organizations.

Libby, returning from a conference of Menomonic, Dunkards and Friends, held at Friends' University, Wichita, Kan.—all religious sects avowedly opposed to war—was invited to address the St. Louis antiwar proponents through the St. Louis League of Women Voters.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. E. T. Senseney, 4555 Pershing avenue, the chairman of the League's Committee on International Co-operation. In attendance were the Democratic, Republican and Independent presidents of the league, and representatives of the Council of Jewish Women, Women's International League, Fellowship for Christian Social Order, St. Louis College Club, and St. Louis Council of Organizations Promoting World Peace.

Where Did She Get Words?

The public has begun to wonder how a child of 10 became so learned that she could use, as the author of these poems has used, such odd words as "barracon," "cantabrig," "seal," "nullah," "cantatrice," "slatrum."

The doubters are asking, also, how such a child could have several terms, even unable to piece called "The Cantabrig Bar" in the recent volume:

Behind the red Euphrates,
Beside the Nile,
We would be the minstrel
And entertain the Nile.

The bulk of Nin was chided. The young girl's mother said: "But for the Euphrates, the Nile, the Nile, the Nile."

We gave the Sphinx a statue, Hailed Pharo from our skirts,
And then we said: "Nin,"
We posed the Pyramids.

The spinster schoolmarm of Brooklyn Grammar School No. 8, where Nathalia sat in classes for several terms, seems unable to understand how a quiet, modest, small female child could possess the sophisticated sex consciousness, enable her to write the piece entitled "The First Reformer," quoted here in full:

It was a painful twilight scene,
Heat swathed the straining down,
When suddenly she began to cry:
"Oh, let's take off our cradles!"

No arrogance of modesty—
The time was all too hot;
The sap was running in the trees.
The pools began to clot.

A passionately poetized strip Herself of sunset's glow,
A rose her garbadee.

The honeycuckoo cast her sheath,
Strove hard to hide a mole,
The honeycuckoo cast her sheath,
Strove hard to hide a mole.

Across the down a humming bird,
He pivoted on empyrean;
To scrutinize the flowers.

But as he paused to clarify
The honeycuckoo's mood,
The honeycuckoo cast her sheath,
Strove hard to hide a mole.

Reverberated the polyphonic blushed,
And grabbed a bit of straw.
The honeycuckoo cast her sheath,
Strove hard to hide a mole.

The roses called their regicide,
Down rushed that sublimated witch—
A sultan from the skies.

He wooed the daunted odalisque,
He kissed each downcast shade.
He whispered that an angel's robe
Was barely shade.

He sang of love's own liberties,
Of sunburnt hair and verve.
He little Nordic freckles posed
To subjugate a curve.

He begged them not to grow again,
Carried away their crown.
He was the first to crown
The honeycuckoo's mood.

The skeptics include eight Brooklyn public school teachers who have had Nathalia in their classes several times. Not a teacher who believed the child to be the author. The Brooklyn Eagle lately published the teachers' statements, without their names or their signatures.

Teacher No. 1 cited a mark of 101 made by the girl in an intelligence test, saying it was hardly more than a normal mark. Nathalia was not brilliant in any of her classes, was behind several others in English, and her penmanship was noticeably bad. This teacher said:

"We asked her on different occasions to write us a school song or school poem, but although she said she would, they never materialized. She never wrote anything in school that would show that she had the slightest poetic talent."

HER TEACHERS DOUBT CHILD IS AUTHOR OF POEMS

Books She Published.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—No one pretends to understand how Nathalia Crane, 12-year-old Brooklyn school pupil, can have written the poems published under her name.

There are those who will not believe what they cannot understand, and these are declaring that there has been some hoax, and that Nathalia did not write the collections of verse published under the names "Lava Lane" and "The Janitor's Boy."

There are others who find the thrill of discovery in reading the verses, and who, no matter how far the matter may seem beyond the comprehension of a child of 12, and of this particular child, accept the story and exclaim "Miracle!"

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Have the People Forgotten?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
ARMISTICE day has again passed on. We recall that day of Nov. 11, 1918, when a huge 200-pound young fellow who said he was from St. Louis rushed into our camp and shouted in a loud voice, the armistice is signed! The armistice is signed! His accent was on the second syllable and his pronunciation of the word armistice was wrong, but he was right in his contention that it was signed.

Almost all of my life was spent in an Eastern State and my experience has been that people have almost entirely forgotten the ex-service men. To me it seems like it was 15 years ago since Nov. 11, 1918, but it has only been seven years. When in the army service I had a feeling that being a defender of my country, that when I received my honorable discharge the fact that I was an ex-soldier would help me. It never has hurt me any I don't believe and neither has it helped me any. I never lost but one job and that one not so long ago and the fact that I was an ex-service man amounted to nothing. If I would grade 80 per cent in physical efficiency (I never was an overly strong man) before the war, my rating today is only about 45 or 50 per cent in my estimation, or about one half of a man. Two hard months of influenza was the major cause of this in my honest opinion. One young married man, a friend of mine, at one time a Jack Dempsey type of man, 6 feet tall and 180 pounds, looks like the grave-digger today. He claimed he couldn't get compensation. Pays some one else to do the hard part of his work out of his own wages and has a wife and child to support. I could mention several other cases. My belief is that people forget quickly. A WORLD WAR VETERAN.

Indoor Munny Opera.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
ST. LOUIS has in former years supported a stock opera company during the winter season, as it does the Munny Opera during the summer season. Henry W. Savage had several profitable seasons at the old Music Hall, supported by such artists as Wm. Pruett, Jos. Sheehan, Frances Boyle, Harry Tuckstone, Adelaide Norwood and Clara Lane. With a repertoire from light to grand opera it would be worth while for some general promoter such as Guy Golderman, Flint Garrison or others to try out indoor opera at popular prices.

If New York, Chicago and Boston can support indoor opera during the winter months, I see no reason for St. Louis not trying it out, as I know they are good losers, if they should happen to break even with the overhead at the end of the season, as the other cities mention, are satisfied to do this. We ought to try it, as it would not be experimental, as Savage tried it and made it go.

Safety Device for Railroads.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A PROPOS your editorial regarding the disastrous wreck on the Pennsylvania lines in which 10 persons lost their lives on account of the failure of the engineer to see the red signal in a heavy fog, a successful device that automatically stops trains as they pass a semaphore in case the track ahead is not clear is in operation on some roads. Had this device been in operation on that part of the road, the accident would not have occurred. The installation of these devices should be speeded up.

SAFETY FIRST.

Afraid of Pneumatic Tires.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I HAVE read quite a few letters about a bill introduced by Alderman Sam L. Wimer in the Board of Aldermen requiring all busses to be equipped with pneumatic tires. No doubt busses equipped with pneumatic tires would be more comfortable to ride in, but would they be as safe as solid tires? Double deck busses with pneumatic tires might turn over, especially in turning a corner and cause a score of people to be injured, and in this phase of the question is worth considering.

This bill is unfair to the bus people and is class legislation, and directed at the People's Bus Co., since they are the only ones operating busses in this city with solid tires. If this bill had read all motor driven vehicles and not all busses, it would have been fair to all. Mr. Wimer, the people of Walnut Park appreciate all the good you have done for the city of St. Louis and especially the Twenty-seventh Ward, therefore cannot understand why you introduce a bill that may force the People's Motor Bus Co. out of our city. You know the conditions that prevailed in Walnut Park before the advent of the People's Motor Bus Co. and readily understand why we want them in this city. A TAXPAYER, FROM WALNUT PARK.

UNCIVILIZED RUSSIA.

Twelve grafters in Russia have been sentenced to death. They are large grafters in official or semi-official positions. Their graft has amounted to $1,000,000 or more.

The sentence is severe, but the decision seems quite logical. The graft of these condemned men and others, some of whom are under arrest, has interfered seriously with business. Goods designed for the rural districts and even for the cities have never reached their destination. They have been shunted into private speculation. The Government, therefore, finds itself unable to purchase grain from the peasants in exchange for goods. The result may be imagined. The peasants are deprived of their necessities, the people are deprived of bread. Destitution and famine are inevitable. The grafters are murderers.

There is a shiver of terror running through Soviet Russia. There are many grafters. Doubtless we shall soon hear cries of persecution and wails about the graft terror.

There is no shiver of terror in America over this Russian news. We have a better Government—a Government which is more humane to grafters and dishonest folk. We have orderly, legal processes which operate slowly. We do not condemn grafters to death. We do not persecute grafters. Sometimes we expose them. Occasionally we indict them. Now and then we prosecute them. But we rarely convict them. When convicted, they appeal. Frequently their cases are reversed or remanded. Frequently the convicted grafters, who are usually given light prison sentences, are pardoned or paroled. As a rule we permit grafters to live long and spend most of their lives in luxury and freedom. As a rule we generously permit them to enjoy the fruits of their graft.

Poor old benighted and misguided Russia! It is still uncivilized.

THE SUCCESS OF PROHIBITION.

The Antisaloon League has replied to Senator Reed's assertion that prohibition is costing the Federal Government $100,000,000 a year with a statistical statement designed to show that prohibition "is paying its way now." While costs are going up in the creation of more lucrative sinecures and an expansion of personnel, and in an increase in rum-chasing vessels and the like, arrests and convictions are also increasing with a mounting return in fines to the Government.

It seems never to occur to the Antisaloon League that this, rather than being evidence of the success of the policy of prohibition, is quite the reverse. If the success of the policy is to be determined by the number and proportion of convictions relative to population, which seems to be the Antisaloon League premise, the policy will be completely vindicated when the half of our population, more or less, has been haled into court and subjected to fine or imprisonment or both.

What sort of policy is it that seeks to stamp half the population with the stigma of crime for an act involving no moral turpitude, and what sort of nation is it in which half only have not been condemned as criminals?

One can only wonder whether group intelligence has made any progress since that time when four-fifths of the free citizens of Greece sold into slavery the other fifth that the prorata share of grain donated by the African King might thereby be increased.

CHURCHES IN POLITICS.

As Democrats, in so far as they are Democrats, the members of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church have a right to oppose the candidacy of Gov. Al Smith or any other Democrat for office.

But as members of the Methodist Church Board their published statement opposing Gov. Smith's possible candidacy for President is entirely out of place in American politics. Church organizations which officially enter politics by publishing denunciations of candidates for political office, thus endeavoring to swing a church against a particular candidate, are untrue to American principles embodied in the Constitution. They are doing their best to bring the Government under religious control.

The Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in publishing its anti-Smith statement, in which it assumes to voice the views of Southern Democrats, is assuming too much, and injecting the religious question into national politics.

Let the South, let all America, be on its guard against such attempts to capture any party for any religious organization or church. Political parties, under our system, are legitimate factors in government. Churches are not.

THE PLACE FOR STRONG BEER.

It looks as if we had been doing Gifford Pinchot a grievous wrong. Read his latest letter to Secretary Mellon. Present regulations, in Pennsylvania, he observes, "do not forbid putting strong beer into racking machines, barrels or bottles." The implication is plain. Mr. Pinchot believes there is a better place to put strong beer than racking machines, barrels or bottles. If he means the portable cask of the ultimate consumer he is dead right.

HOBBS AND MOHAMMED.

London is stirred just now by the resentment of India at a cartoon published in a British journal which shows Jack Hobbs, the famous cricketer, more prominently than Mohammed, Charlie Chaplin, Lloyd George, Moses and Abraham. The offending newspaper has apologized, but a holy war may start any time. Oh, these international misunderstandings! Before this affair is ended the world Zionists will become involved and Hollywood may declare diplomatic relations with the court of St. James severed.

The truth of the matter, which we hereby submit to the League of Nations, is that the paper publishing this cartoon did not have a world viewpoint. In London Mohammed is virtually unknown. But Hobbs? He made a century at cricket. "Oo is this 'ere bloke, Mo'ammed?" asked the paper's subscribers. "Some bloody infun blighter, I bet. But ain't this 'ere a swell picture of 'Obbs'?" While in the bazars of Punjab outraged Mohammedans were swearing by the prophet's beard: "Who is this Hobbs, to be so exalted above the Prophet of the Most High? What is cricket?"

As for us, we're broad-minded, and all that, but didn't the cartoonist lay it on a bit thick when he indicated that this silly imitation Babe Ruth, Hobbs, was a bigger man than Charlie Chaplin? Down with the British!

CONTINUOUS TAX REDUCTION.

An ingenious argument against further tax reduction by Prof. Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania was reviewed in the Sunday Post-Dispatch. The two main reasons in support of this position were these: First, the Coolidge economy program is completed so far as reducing government expenses is concerned, and from now on expenses will increase because of the steadily expanding activities of the Government. Second, the surplus can best be applied to reducing our public debt, the interest on which approximates a billion dollars a year.

Prof. Patterson's appraisal of the country's finances and prospects is not shared by legislators at Washington. For example, Representative Madden, chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House, looks forward to a continuing surplus. Accordingly, he is going to introduce a bill—probably by way of amendment to the revenue measure—providing for an automatic reduction of taxes whenever the surplus exceeds $50,000,000. It is acknowledged that such amendment would have no legal effect, since no session can bind a future session, yet it is predicted that the Madden proposal will be hard to beat in the House and will occasion extensive debate in the Senate.

In behalf of his plan Mr. Madden argues that it would be "an unparalleled stimulus to Government economy," a point which we consider well taken. For there is no question that reducing taxes is about the most popular thing an administration can do, and with the national policy established of cutting taxes whenever the surplus reaches a fixed figure the incentive to make that goal would be constant.

Such incentive, it may well be, would inspire both the executive and legislative departments of the Government with a will to resist these "expanding activities" which Prof. Patterson so confidently predicts. It might also inspire Congress to undertake a tremendous economy which—with due respect to Prof. Patterson—is altogether feasible and practicable. We refer to the reorganization of the executive departments to which Mr. Coolidge is committed, which he has earnestly recommended and which, in the judgment of a practitioner like Senator Curtis, can reduce operating expenses some $300,000,000 a year.

It is understood that a resolution will be introduced at the forthcoming session to vest in the President the power to reorganize the public business along the lines he has suggested—and that it will be introduced by a Democrat. Such a resolution, if carefully worded and the lease of extraordinary executive power definitely limited, might well make this session of Congress memorable as the point when the Federal Government turned about and began a genuine retrenchment both of expenditures and activities. Meantime the overwhelming sentiment of the country is for tax reduction within the limits of efficiency in necessary governmental functions, without bureaucratic frills.

Speaking of Gen. Sarraill, Lloyd George says: "I have never been able to make up my mind whether he is a genius or a charlatan, or a dangerous combination of both." Which is exactly what John Masefield once said of Lloyd George.

A REVERSION TO THE DARK AGES.

When and if the Premier's attribution bill becomes law Italy will have abandoned all pretense at parliamentary government and Mussolini's dictatorship will become legal and absolute. The new bill makes Parliament a dead letter in theory as it is now in fact, and releases Mussolini from all responsibility to the people. He will be answerable only to the King, and no repudiation of his actions or policies by a majority of the legislators will have any effect whatever on the stability of the premiership or the Cabinet.

Besides, the new bill will hedge the figure of the Premier in a kind of sacrosanctity. Persons who criticize him either in print or by word of mouth will be guilty of a penal offense punishable by as much as 30 months' imprisonment. This section of the new bill implies that any such criticism is contrary to the good of the State. It means that there is one individual in Italy who is set apart from the remainder of humanity.

Many attempts to justify the high-handed rule of Mussolini have been made on the grounds of expediency. The post-war period found the country of Garibaldi and Cavour well on the way to the bow-wow. Industry was stagnant, and politics was in the hands of grafters and blunderers. The menace of bolshevism was very real. Mussolini, through the use of ruthless force, has put Italy on its feet.

Even assuming that the end justifies the means, to perpetuate and legalize such power as Mussolini wields is to revert to the governmental philosophy of the dark ages. It has been said that "a despotism with an angel on the throne is the ideal government." Perhaps, in the frenzied adoration of Mussolini which now possesses the Italians, that man appears in winged and haloed glory. Perhaps they are even prepared to deify him before his death, as their forebears did the great Augustus. It is hard to reach any other explanation of a proposal which violates every concept of modern government.

Sir: Assuming that our fundamentalist brethren, and bibliologists in general, will not side-step the suggestion that they apply these unpalatable apostolic pronouncements to modernistic heretics in appropriately poetic form, I venture to recommend, as one duly qualified for that office, the author of the lines quoted below—a young Hindu in an English school in Calcutta, who, having undertaken the composition of an epic on the Creation, had this to say concerning the introduction of femininity into the cosmic scheme:

"Then a sleep there fell on Adam,
And a tiny rib was took,
Out of which there blossomed madam,
Given to man to be his cook."
Observe the admirable inclusiveness of these four terse lines of this tawny and turbaned young rhymester. Not only do they embrace in toto the fundamentalistic doctrine explanatory of the origin of evil in this world of ours, but they also cover comprehensively what logically must be the fundamentalistic conception of woman's place in the universe, as so plainly indoctrinated in those well-known passages of Paul to which our militant feminists so wretchedly object—"some of Paul's non-sense," as one of them has peevishly classified these unpalatable apostolic pronouncements. "Madam given to man to be his cook!" Isn't that a rare and rich tid-bit of unspiced innocence? One shudders to think of what would happen to this naive and outworn youngster if Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt could get her hands on him; she would surely enlighten and occidentalize his benighted Oriental mentality with her characteristic vigor and dispatch.

I. W. S.

One of our contributors thinks the Christmas drive ought not to begin until Thanksgiving is over. The point is well made. If we don't give each of the holidays a clear field, how can we be sure what we are celebrating? Thanksgiving is a case in point. Thanksgiving is important. We undertake upon that occasion to give thanks for blessings beyond our deserving. That is not easy. We labor in so doing, as one always does gesturing. The old people who gave us Thanksgiving carried it off much better than we do. They had few blessings, all of them earned. They were tight, and so was Providence. We are prodigal, and so is Providence prodigal. Thus our task is harder than that of the oldsters. Providence has us in the hole, and we ought to give ourselves wholly on Thanksgiving to that obligation. Christmas can wait. It is largely a business matter in which we take more than we give, anyway. Let us not get taking mixed up with giving.

If you don't think that life under the sodapops is amusing you haven't read about the debate in Washington over a revenue tax on smuggled alcohol.

Missouri Democrats have to pay their money debts, which seem to be about the only way which a political party ever becomes obligated.

An historian reminds us that last week was the anniversary of the occasion upon which the Osage Indians ceded to the United States all that part of Missouri lying south of the Missouri River. The cession was made under treaty maneuvered by Gen. William Clark, who knew something about getting rid of peaceful barbarians and bringing in warlike Europeans. The Osages owned all the region between the Missouri and Arkansas rivers lying along the west bank of the Mississippi. They held the Ozarks, which were their hunting ground. They were said by Catlin and other observers to have been the tallest of all the North American Indians, men of six feet being common and men of seven feet not unusual. They probably got tall trying to see over the ridges, as you can well believe by going quail shooting in the Ozarks and trying to watch where the birds go. At any rate, old "Red Bill," as the General was known, showed up at the rendezvous with a gunny sack filled with knickknacks from one of the 10-cent stores over on Washington avenue, and he bagged all the real estate the Osages had. They were a pastoral, peaceful people who had not had a war since the Meramec Spring began to flow. Clark got them moved to the Indian territory, and opened Missouri to somebody who could fight. It was then we began to have feuds, border ruffians, guerrillas, bandits, gunmen, payroll robbers, etc. Most of the land taken from the Osages isn't worth $10 an acre today, but the coal and oil lands we moved them on in Oklahoma have made them the richest nation on earth. No Osage ever sits down and thinks tearfully of when he owned St. Louis County. He has something better. Meanwhile the white people in the Ozarks are probably the poorest people on earth. Credit life with another of its little ironies.

Sir: Disappointed, but not defeated, Evangelist Williams leaves the ungodly city of St. Louis and seeks greener pastures. He has found "converting the heathen a tough job. Only 200 converts have decided to give up their sinning ways. What of his prediction that his revival would sweep "this old town?" But a boast, I suppose, is only a boast. We, citizens of St. Louis, weep with you, Brother Williams, that we must remain unconverted to revivalism. With our golf links thickly populated on Sunday. May you find more sinners in your new field, and more converts. See you in church. LARRIMORE.

POOR OLD KENTUCKY.

From the American Mercury's article this month by W. G. Clugston, a "native son" now with the Kansas City Journal-Populist:
THE first really alarming signs of the breakdown of the old Blue Grass civilization came a little more than two decades ago, when millionaires from the North and East began to pour in, buying up the big estates and establishing palatial homes.

These millionaires set a pace that was too fast for the local troopers. They did not have the means to keep on spending dollar for dollar with the newcomers, and they were too proud to allow themselves to be out-done. The result was that they began to give up their leisure lives, and to exploit their possessions in order to keep abreast of the new grand march. An increase in the production of tobacco was one of the first symptoms. Fine blue grass pastures that had never been touched with the point of a plow were broken up and planted. The Blue Grass gentry began to lure the restless mountain people down to their farms as tobacco tenants. Also, about the same time, other resourceful individuals began to go into the mountains to exploit the coal and timber and oil up there. Soon there was no stratum of Kentucky aristocracy to take root as far up in the mountains as West Liberty and Crockettville. Holy Rollers, emerging from the open country, and Methodists and Baptists followed by the lowland Campbellites. The World War finished the job of uprooting what remained of the old traditions. The Ku Klux Klan came along on the heels of prohibition to ram the young Kentuckians into the Kansas mold. There they stay today.

THE WETTEST STATE.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.
THERE are those who claim that Maryland, and especially Baltimore, are the wettest places in the Union. Lead Editor of the Baltimore Sun says that over this claim, it is well to note that there are other aspirants for the honor. Recently, for instance, the head of the Anti-Saloon League asserted: "The East may think they are the wettest, in no state there is the Volstead act in such contempt and violation as in Wisconsin." And in Maryland, along comes A. B. Stroup, Federal Prohibition Administrator for the Eastern Michigan district, which includes Detroit, and makes this claim: "I can't say without reservation that Detroit is the wettest city I was ever assigned to." But he is overlooked, it may be pointed out, Detroit has the benefit of a State prohibition enforcement act as well as the Volstead act, and that its wetness is in the face of the supposed co-operation of all police powers of the State of Michigan. In the face of these rival claims, Marylanders hope to continue to be the state whose Free State is the wettest of all.

MUSIC

Hans Kindler Gives Exquisite Violoncello Recital Before Small Audience.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

KILLING blight which has fallen this season on the recital business in St. Louis frustrated a concert given last night at the Odeon by Hans Kindler, the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and one of the leading experts of his instrument. Only 350 tickets were sold. This is the fifth recital of more or less prominence to fall financially in the last few weeks, while a sixth was called off to save a Metropolitan prima donna the humiliation of appearing before a house one-third filled.

In his previous concerts here Mr. Kindler has affected breadth, fire and drama. Last night he adopted, both in his program and playing, a salon style, elegant, fastidious and exquisite. What his music lacked in power and emotion it required with delicate phrasing, subtle coloring of tone and aristocracy of mind.

Old Italian Aires. Three of his numbers represented the mannered school of old Italian music, during the reign of simple, lucid and patrician melody. There was a seventeenth century arioso in five movements by Valentini, besides a delicious arioso by Pergolesi and a stately minuet of Handel. Descending to modern times, he played "Cello's 'Oriente,' Debussy's 'Passepied,' Ravel's 'Habanera,' a transcription of a Chopin prelude and Puccini's 'Tarantella.' A touch of humor was provided by a 'Spanish Dance' which Kindler wrote in imitation of a shabby Spanish troubadour whom he heard tuning up his battered instrument and strumming a measure. The celloist was warmly applauded and gave numerous extras.

Two Novices on Program. He was supported by Miss Beatrice Teller, violinist, from Chicago, and Miss Morya Poe, soprano, of East St. Louis. Miss Teller's attack upon the first movement of Tchaikowsky's violin concerto did more credit to her courage than her judgment, but she gave respectable performances of several small pieces.

Miss Poe was also ill-advised in attempting the 'Flower Song' from 'Faust,' but gave promise of expressive instinct in songs of her native Russia. She sang mostly off-key, with many unpleasant instances of tone production. Mrs. David Krishabashoff provided adequate accompaniments.

NEW BRUNSWICK PANATROPE GIVEN DEMONSTRATION HERE

Improvement in Tone Credited to Combined Features of Phonograph and Radio.

The new Brunswick Panatrope, in which the principles of the radio have been applied to the recording and reproduction of music, was demonstrated at Hotel Statler last night to a gathering of music dealers. Comparison between the new instrument and a specimen of the best of the old mechanical Brunswick phonographs convinced the audience of the superiority of the Panatrope, in bringing out all the tones of orchestra, piano or other musical performance.

The best results were shown in the reproduction by the Panatrope of records made by the new methods, a marked improvement over the phonograph was also shown in the rendition of old records. It was shown that the old records had tones which had not been brought out hitherto.

In a test of more than a hour the new instrument was demonstrated in various forms of music, from American jazz to Italian grand opera.

The Panatrope is the product of co-operation between the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., the Radio Corporation of America and the General Electric Co. A five-tube power amplifier is connected with a vibrating needle, sensitized so as to set up a weak electric current. A used to perform the function of the radio amplifier. A gradual 'stepping up' of the volume of sound was shown in some of the louder orchestra selections, with surprisingly realistic effect.

COL. DEITSCH'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED BY THE GOVERNOR

Baker Praises Officer's Work as Instructor of the 138th Infantry.

SPECIAL to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.—Gov. Baker yesterday accepted the resignation of Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. Deitsch from a commission as Colonel of the Missouri National Guard and as commanding officer of the 138th (St. Louis) infantry, effective Nov. 26.

In his resignation, Baker commended Deitsch, who has been the regular army instructor of the 138th, for his efforts to bring the regiment to a higher state of efficiency and for putting its financial affairs in better condition than they have been for years.

Col. Deitsch transmitted his resignation early this month because of his inability to leave the organization over. He had been instructor of the regiment since May 12, 1921, and had commanded it since May 25, 1924.

Adjutant-General Rumbold said no steps had been taken for election of a new commanding officer. Several men in St. Louis, with World War experience as officers, have been interviewed concerning taking command of the regiment. Business matters have conferred on the matter of financial aid for the regiment.

JEWISH PHILANTHROPIST DIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Sol Rosenbloom, Pittsburgh banker and philanthropist, died here yesterday. He was stricken at a dinner Sunday night at the Jewish Theological Seminary. He was a leader in Jewish philanthropy in this country and abroad, aiming especially at the education and growth of Palestine.

He recently donated $250,000 for the creation of a department of Jewish studies at the Jewish University. He was born in Russia. He is survived by his widow and three children.

WOULD MAKE ST. LOUIS LEADING AIR PORT

Carl F. G. Meyer, New Head of Chamber, Outlines His Policy.

Installation of Carl F. G. Meyer as president of the Chamber of Commerce will take place at the chamber's luncheon tomorrow. He was elected to the office last week, to succeed W. Palmer Clarkson.

Meyer, who was chairman of the Finance Committee for the international air races here two years ago, hopes in his new position to advance the interests of St. Louis as an air port. In a statement outlining his policy as head of the business organization, he declared that St. Louis should be made the focal transcontinental air port.

He also referred to the city's future as a distribution center, in transportation by rail, water and motor.

To Work With Other Cities.

Meyer's first communications with the officers of business bodies in other cities were letters to the president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce and the president of the New Orleans Association of Commerce.

Co-operative relations with the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce are sought by Meyer because of the importance of a Missouri development program in which the two chief cities of the State can take the lead. Co-operation of New Orleans and St. Louis is of importance in developing river transportation.

In response to his letters, Meyer has received letters from Lou E. Holland, new president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, and William Pfaff, head of the New Orleans organization. Both assure him of their approval of his program.

Pleads for Co-operation.

"It is fervently hoped," Meyer said in his announcement, "that the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce can co-operate fully in bringing the cities of Missouri to closer harmony and so benefit not only the city, but the entire State. The chamber will offer its services to the Missouri association, which has this for its objective."

"Kansas City, Springfield, St. Joseph and all other cities in the state are part of the great development program, for as we can build up the State of Missouri, the industries of St. Louis must necessarily benefit."

"The chamber wants to co-operate with transportation facilities already here and encourage water transportation on the river, joining the North and South.

"I am primarily interested in advertising St. Louis and visualizing its potentialities and bringing new industries here as well as encouraging those already here."

"The first thing the chamber has to do is to have the commercial and industrial firms realize that it is their Chamber of Commerce and that it can render service to them. It precludes failure by precluding lack of moral and material support."

"Past history of the body is one of accomplishment, bearing justification of its continuance. And I am hoping that the present members and new ones will rally to its support and make it the central agency for the development of the facilities of St. Louis to the greatest extent practicable as a producing and distributing center."

Meyer is president of Meyer Bros. Drug Co. His home is at 5503 Clemens avenue.

VETTORI IN TRIUMPH IN 'TOSCA' AT CAPITAL

Audience and Reviewers Acclaim St. Louis Diva in Washington Company.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Elda Vettori, St. Louis diva, moved up another rung on the ladder of fame with her appearance here last night in "Tosca," with which the Washington Opera Company opened its brief season. Thanks to a prima donna of the caliber of Vettori, acting and a comely, flexible voice, the young singer fulfilled expectations aroused at the capital by her successes in other cities, notably as prima donna of the Götterman summer opera festival in St. Louis.

A large audience, with an unusually large sprinkling from the embassies and legations, paid its tribute with applause which rose at the end of the second act to a general ovation. From a kneeling position on the floor, she poured out the heart-wrenching prayer, "Vissi d'arte," with a fire and abandon which formed sufficient proof of her vocal and dramatic powers.

Ulysses Lappas, Greek tenor, who sang on performance of "Carmen" in 1924 at the St. Louis Municipal Theater, appeared as Mario Cavaradossi. Other principals were brought here for the occasion. Local aspirants took minor roles, and the chorus was recruited in Washington.

The newspaper critics were generous in praise of the prima donna on the occasion of her debut in the national capital. The Washington Post reviewer described her as "endowed with a magnetic personality and fine stage presence," adding that "she has dramatic fire and feeling and the means of communicating these through her voice as well as by her acting."

In the opinion of the Herald's chronicler, last night's performance was "an individual triumph for Elda Vettori, who enacted the title role in a way which would have done credit to an older artist." She has a voice of wide range and richness of quality which frequently glows with color. Her costumes added to the pictures which she made in her various poses. She rose to great dramatic heights in the trying scenes of the second and third acts.

R. B. BULLOCK, REALTY FIRM PRESIDENT, DIES

Succumbs to Infirmities at Age of 84 at Home of Daughter.

Richard B. Bullock, president of the Bullock Realty and Investment Co., with offices in the Fullerton Building, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Violet Kobusch, 6849 Elwood avenue, yesterday from the infirmities of age.

Mr. Bullock, who was 84 years old, was a native of England, coming to the United States in 1865. He settled first at Mobile, Ala., and came to St. Louis in 1871. He entered the employ of the old Barr Dry Goods Co., later establishing the R. B. Bullock Dry Goods Co., 2220 Franklin avenue. Mr. Bullock was one of the first directors of the Jefferson Bank, Jefferson and Franklin avenues, and at one time was president of the institution.

Mr. Bullock retired from the dry goods business 20 years ago, organizing the Bullock Realty and Investment Co., which is now operated by his sons, Richard A. and George B. Bullock. In addition to Richard and George Bullock and Mrs. Kobusch, Mr. Bullock is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah S. Bullock, and a third son, James A. Bullock. Mr. and Mrs. Bullock celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Aug. 17, 1924.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday from the Kobusch residence to Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Pension for 3000 Ministers.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Pensions for the more than 3000 ministers in the employ of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions will be provided in accordance with the decision of the board, the office of the General Assembly here announced last night. Members of the board, the announcement said, had adopted the new pension plan of the Presbyterian Board of Ministerial Relief for all eligible employees of the Board of National Missions. As part of its share in the plan, the Board of National Missions will pay into the pension fund annually the amount equal to 7 1/2 per cent of the total salaries of the 3000 ministers.

CRAWFORD LIVINGSTON, 78, RAILROAD BUILDER, DIES

Played Prominent Role in Transportation Development of the Northwest.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Crawford Livingston, railroad builder and capitalist, died yesterday at his home here. He was 78 years old.

Mr. Livingston, a native of this city, played a prominent role in the railroad development of the Northwest. He first entered railroading as a purchasing agent at St. Paul for the Winona & St. Peter Railway. Later, aided by the late Henry Villard, he built the Little Falls (Minnesota) Railway. With the late A. B. Stickney, he constructed the Minnesota Central and the Chicago Great Western. Alone, he built and partly owned the James River Valley (North Dakota, Duluth-Manitoba, and Little Falls & Dakota road.

Mr. Livingston formerly was president of all lighting companies of St. Paul and for many years had been a director of the Northern Pacific Railroad and president of the Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul. During recent years, he has been a member of Livingston & Co., bankers.

Americans Wed in Swedish Cathedral.

By the Associated Press.

UPSALA, Sweden, Nov. 17.—With Archbishop Nathan Soderblom, Primate of Sweden, officiating, Miss Margaret Morton of Philadelphia was married today in the Cathedral of Upsala, to James Creese of Pittsburgh, since 1921 secretary of the American-Scandinavian Foundation in New York. This was the first strictly American wedding ever held in the Cathedral of Upsala, and to have the Archbishop himself perform the ceremony is an honor ordinarily reserved for royal couples. Mr. and Mrs. Creese have started on a honeymoon journey to Rome. They plan to live in New York.

The Underwear That Holds Its Figure

MOST knitted underwear fits when first you put it on—but MERODE fits after you have worn it.

Wear and washing cannot rob it of its perfect shapeliness. . . And the reason is this:—

Each MERODE knitted garment is individually cut by hand—not by the dozen.

Each MERODE garment is tailored and finished by hand—not by a machine.

The result—is glove-like perfection of fit—the ideal foundation for fashionable frocks. MERODE fit is also the secret of its comfort, for there isn't a ridge, wrinkle, bag or sag in the entire garment, to bulge or chafe or annoy!

For complete underwear satisfaction—for fit, fashion, warmth, comfort, health and your money's most—there is only one answer.

POOR OLD KENTUCKY.

The American Mercury's article this week by W. G. Clugston, a "native son," with the Kansas City Journal-Post, first really alarming signs of the decline of the old Blue Grass civilization. A little more than two decades ago millions from the North and West began to pour in, buying up the big farms and establishing palatial homes. These millionaires set a pace that was too fast for the local troopers. . . . They did not have the means to keep on a dollar for dollar with the new money. . . . and they were too proud to allow themselves to be outdone. The result was they began to give up their leisurely life and to exploit their possessions in the most unbecoming manner. . . . An increase in the production of tobacco was one of the first signs. Fine blue grass pastures that had been touched with the point of a plow were broken up and planted. The grass gentry began to lure the restless tenant in people down to their farms as tenants. Also, about the same time, the mountaineers began to exploit the coal and oil up there. . . . There was no stratum of Kentucky that was not caved in, and mixed with falling strata—and outside the breakdown. . . . Finally, the breakdown was so complete that the State nature Republic! ## THE WETTEST STATE.

The Baltimore Evening Star says: "It is those who claim that Maryland, and especially Baltimore, are the wettest places in the Union. Last thirty years have become swelled with pride in their claim. It is well to note that there are aspirants for the honor. Only Maryland, for instance, the head of Madison Anti-Saloon League averred: Wisconsin is the wettest State in the Union. In fact they may think they are wet, but state there is the Volstead act held in contempt and violation is so openly such as in Wisconsin." And, as if it were not enough to kill the claims of Maryland, comes A. B. Stroup, Deputy Prohibition Administrator for the Michigan district, which includes Michigan, and makes this claim: "I can say with reservation that Detroit is the wettest city I was ever assigned to." Let it be pointed out that the benefit of a State prohibition enforcement act as well as the national act, and that its wetness is in the fact of the supposed co-operation of all the powers of the State of Michigan, in the face of these rival claims, can only hope to continue to believe their Free State is the wettest of all.

USE SULPHUR IF SKIN BREAKS OUT

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cool cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. Get a jar of Rowle's Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

Sure Way To Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be softer, busier, glossier, silkier and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

PLEA TO SET ASIDE $20,000 JUDGMENT IN DAMAGE CASE

Pyle Motor Service Co. Asks for Retrial in Alleged Injury of Negro Woman.

A motion to set aside a judgment verdict of $20,000 for retrial was filed in Circuit Judge Hall's court today by counsel for Everett Motor Service Co., a trucking concern, against whom the verdict was obtained by Miss Leathe R. Tyndall, a negro, on Oct. 28.

The woman, who is about 35 years old, obtained the judgment upon a showing that she was permanently injured when one of the defendant's trucks rammed a street car at Washington and Leffingwell avenues, on which she was a passenger, April 4, 1924. She was represented by Edward W. Foristel at the trial.

Accompanying the motion for a new trial, an affidavit was filed in which Dr. J. Walter Pruett of 6006 Virginia avenue, set out that the woman was in his employ for nearly 10 years prior to the accident, and that during the period he treated her for a nervous disorder. This disorder, it was claimed, was set out to the jury as having resulted from the truck-street car crash. Originally, the United Railways was a defendant, but the jury exonerated the street car company of lia-was gladdened by the attitude on this subject of the American Legion at Omaha, when it declared:

"We advocate the truthful exposition of the facts of history to the end that the causes of war may be recognized and determined. Those charged with the responsibility of teaching the young are urged and requested to study how best to educate mankind in international good will."

Educated in New England universities and at Oxford and German universities, Libby has had a cosmopolitan career. He served as pastor of the Union Congregational Church at Magnolia, Mass., for seven years, and later visited and studied conditions in Japan, China, Australia and islands in the Pacific Ocean. He went in 1918 to Europe with the Quaker Relief Committee, returning after the war as the society's commissioner for reconstruction. He worked in Germany, Poland, Austria, France and Serbia. In 1921 he became a Friend.

His conference at Wichita, he related, which continued three days, was a source of gratification to him, in that he had carried his point that these organizations had no moral right to protest against war unless they had made constructive protest on the war-and-peace problems.

46-YEAR DISPUTE OVER FOX CREEK ROAD IS UP AGAIN

Protest to Eleventh Petition Since 1879 Filed at Clayton and the Case Is Set for Nov. 24.

SONS INHERIT ROW OF FIRST LITIGANT

Highway Remains Meanderingly the Same as Valley Is Torn by Controversy Over Route.

In 1879 a petition was filed with the St. Louis County Court asking a change in the route of the Fox Creek road. Forty-six years passed, filled with continuous litigation as to where the road should lie, and yesterday a protest was filed to the eleventh petition asking the County Court to change the road's route to the east side of Fox Creek.

In 1879, as now, those on the west side of Fox Creek wanted the road to run entirely on their side, those on the east, preferring the eastern bank, while the road, in an impartial way, twined now on this side of the creek and now on the other. And though 46 years have passed, with hearing after hearing before bewildered county courts, the issue and the road remains the same. The case will again be heard by County Court on Nov. 24.

Time does not change the issue, but it does change the contestants. William E. Linz, who in March, 1879, was one of those filing a petition to change the road to the east side of the creek, has been dead for six years. But the names of his two sons are on a petition asking the same thing, filed last week.

Different Protesters, Too.
William Horstmann, who filed a protesting petition to the one of the elder Linz, is also dead. His five children still living on the old homestead on the west side of the river, have their names on the protesting petition filed yesterday. Even the contesting lawyers have been changed by the years. When the case began Andrew Kiskaddon of Kirkwood was a young man and employed as the attorney for those of the west. Now he is 82 years old, retired, and Walter Werle, Clayton attorney, has taken up the fight.

"One has no idea of the bitterness caused by this wrangle," Attorney Werle said today. "It wasn't so bitter when it began. But when each side thwarted the other year after year, the feeling increased. During the World War, there was not half so much talk among the contestants as to whether or not Paris would fall as there were arguments over the road. There are about 40 contestants on each side and the parents of almost all of them were concerned in the years of previous litigation."

Perhaps some idea of the feeling concerning the issue was shown one day, not long ago, when Bernard Brundick, who was 14 years old when his father first went to court over the matter but who is now 60, took Attorney Werle into one of his fields.

Brundick owns land on both sides of the creek, but is a rabid "Westerer." "They want to run their road through this field," he said.

Fights for His Trees.

"Do you see those two elms over there? They are more than 100 years old. They were here when my grandfather was a boy. Both my dad and he used to rest under them on hot summer days while they were ploughing corn in the field. They used to tie their team to those trees and lie and rest for a while. If the road runs on the east side those trees would have to come down. I'll fight that proposition until doomsday."

And there is Mrs. Mary Gunder-son, daughter of Robert E. Miller, who died last April believing the road should be on the west side. She had an argument four months ago with some of the "Easterners." One night as she was walking down the road to mail a letter two men assaulted her. She was in bed two weeks. As soon as she arose from her bed, however, she again clearly expressed her opinion as to where the road should be. A few days later her barn burned down.

William Pfeifer, editor of the County Leader, then editor of a newspaper in Pacific Mo., was involved in physical combat with the two Linz boys, sons of William E. Linz, after an editorial concerning the road's route. The Linz brothers were arrested, charged with common assault, but the case was dismissed by Justice of the Peace Pittman.

Fight Not All Out of Court.
But the fight was not entirely outside of court. Petitions were filed by at least one side in 1879, 1886, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1909, 1910, 1915, 1924 and 1925. One petition pleads, "give us a highway, thereby bringing to a close the many years of anxious waiting." But in this instance, too, they could not agree as to where it should go.

And so it is continuing. Today there is the same conversation among mothers and fathers in the farmhouse on the wood-covered slopes of the Fox Creek Valley, as they themselves, heard as children. The only difference is the date. Children listening years ago heard their elders speak of a day in March, 1879, as the "big day" when the question of the road would be settled. Now they hear that it will be all settled on Nov. 24, 1925.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—County Gosta Morner de Moreland, fourth husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, actress, refuses to believe Peggy is preparing to sue for divorce. "It can't be," he said. "I kissed her goodbye when she sailed for Paris. This is nothing but a renewal of rumors."

OPPOSES COSTLY AUTO LURE

New Yorker Sees Evil in Easy-Payment Invitation.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Henry Ittelson, president of a New York City Finance Corporation, decries a tendency to get persons who cannot afford automobiles to buy on easy payments. "A purchaser," he told the Annual Automotive Finance Conference, "should not acquire a car if the depreciation during the first 12 months exceeds 15 per cent of his annual income. Hence no purchaser should be induced to acquire too costly a car by the de-luding invitation of small monthly payments, extending over many extra months."

Bleeding Stops in 12 Hours—Soreness Disappears in 24 Hours—Pus Clears Up in 2 to 3 Days—And Infection Is Destroyed in Three to Four Weeks—Without Pain

A pleasant tasting oil strongly fortified with germ destroying Creso-sene positively penetrates to the deepest infected areas and kills out tissue consuming Pyorrhoea germs. Bleeding of gums stops completely in twelve hours; soreness and bad breath disappear in twenty-four hours; pus clears up in two to three days; teeth begin to tighten in one week; poison secretions stop flowing the second week and if your Pyorrhoea has not been completely eliminated in three to four weeks, get your money back.

Creso-sene derives its great curative powers from its ability to penetrate through healthy tissues without harm and carry germ destroying medication to the infected areas. Being an oil, it is not affected by the saliva. A thin coating of Creso-sene remains on the surface of the gums long enough to allow the medication to do its work thoroughly and effectively.

Creso-sene is the newest and most improved form of home treatment for Pyorrhoea and infected gums. It completely banishes this terrible disease without pain or discomfort. Heavy dental bills and severe pains are avoided. It is sold on an absolute and positive guarantee of cure. Satisfaction, or money refunded by the original firm from whom purchased.

Sold by Wolff-Wilke Drug Co., Walgreen Drug Company, Kresge Drug Co., and all other local druggists at $1.00 per full size bottle, or will be sent direct from the laboratory on receipt of price. Address: CRESO-SENE COMPANY, Dept. 3, Atlanta, Georgia.

Kentucky Troops Called Out in Election Fight Fatal to Sheriff.

By the Associated Press.

HAZARD, Ky., Nov. 17.—Leaving here at 9 a. m. with 24 men, Capt. James W. Wooten, 149th Infantry, Kentucky National Guard, is expected to arrive late today at Hyden, seat of Leslie County, in the mountain hinterland of Kentucky to which no roads lead, to disperse a mob reported to be seeking the slayer of Sheriff Joe Morgan, killed Saturday.

Dave Steel, accused of the slaying, is reported to be barricaded in the Citizens' Bank at Hyden while friends of both men march up and down the streets, equally well armed and making threats of vengeance if they capture Steel. The slayer would surrender, it is declared, if he felt he would be given protection, but fears he would fall into the hands of the mob.

The slaying is said to have been the outcome of an election for the successor of the Sheriff. Morgan's wife having been defeated by two votes.

Rival Factions Arm.
"Look me square in the eye," Morgan is said to have greeted Steel Saturday. The shooting followed immediately. They had come to talk over differences in regard to the election. Almost as the Sheriff fell his feudist faction began arming. Steel partisans immediately followed suit.

Firing by the feudists into the county courthouse and a wild ride by County Judge Jason Confee to this place to inform Gov. Fields of the disorder were immediate sequences. The Governor is in this part of the State or a road inspection trip.

The troops making the trip are forced to go on horseback, as there is no vehicular road to the troubled sector. They were ordered out by the Governor from Hindman, where he was found by Judge Combs' message. Telephone wires being down, no further communication has come to this place from the scene of trouble, where it is declared hundreds of armed men are preparing for a fight. The Governor departed today for Hyden.

Charged With Defeat.
Steel, accused of the slaying, is an influential lumberman of Eastern Kentucky. Morgan's wife ran to succeed him, but was defeated by her Republican opponent, C. W. Revis, by two votes, and Steel, as one of the precinct election officers who refused to count a number of votes for Mrs. Morgan on the ground that the ballots were spoiled, was charged by the candidate's husband with having illegally caused her defeat. He was preparing to contest the election when he met Steel and was killed.

Former Sheriff J. Hazard resigned when a band of armed men rode into Hyden and shot up the courthouse.

So far as has been learned, there has been no bloodshed since Morgan's death.

CONVICT DECLINES FREEDOM
Officials Permit Negro to Continue Prison Duties Until Summer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.—A cold winter ahead and no surplus from summer wages did not look good to Washington Buckner, 33 years old, negro convict, when penitentiary officials notified him his sentence was up. He declined to accept his merit credits and announced he wanted to stay until next summer. While the prison is overcrowded prison officials indulged his wish and sent him back to his task at the prison rock crusher.

Buckner was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary from Boone County for manufacturing whisky and was committed to the prison on April 25, 1924. He was given credit for time spent in jail which, with sentence reductions, would have released him last Friday. Now was on the ground the day Buckner was to go free. Prison officials said he would be allowed to stay until next July.

"many, many dentists today recommend Life Savers"

They're safe for tiny teeth

"This is the only kind of candy I like my own children to have," the dentist told the mother. "These little Life Saver mints are much better for little folks. Try the new Violet flavor. Children love them."

Every growing child craves sweets. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat. Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (Life Saver shape), answer this problem in just the right way. They are china-hard and deliciously flavored. This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors last longer. Little tummies are not upset. And Life Savers are kind to tiny teeth. They're safe and wholesome. You may conscientiously be generous with Life Savers for they are the ideal candy for little folks. Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinnamon, Lic-o-ri, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

By Leased Wife From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Department of State has explained why it excluded from the United States Countess Karolyi, wife of the former President of Hungary, Curtis, Postle & Belknap, New York lawyers, have made public a letter, dated Nov. 14, from W. R. Castle Jr., chief of the division of Western European affairs, who has handled the Karolyi case in the State Department. In it he cited two laws under which, he said, the department acted. He did not specify the particular reasons for the action.

The first act requires exclusion of dangerous radicals. Under it Shapurji Saklatvala, British communist, was excluded. Countess Karolyi's counsel deny she is included in the classifications. The second act, a war-time law, gives the President and his delegated subordinates sweeping powers to control entry of aliens. The law is held to be discretionary and to permit the President to exclude any person deemed undesirable.

Letter to Attorneys.
Castle's letter follows: "Your letter of Nov. 6, addressed to the Secretary of State advising that you have been retained by Countess Karolyi of Budapest, Hungary, as her attorneys; and you request certain information concerning the refusal to visa her passport.

"Since you client is a non-resident alien, the cause involves no question of right pertaining to American citizenship, and is consequently governed by the laws relating to the admission of aliens to this country. Your attention is directed particularly to the following laws on the subject:

"The act of May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. L. Pt. 1, p. 859) as extended by the act of March 2, 1921 (41 Stat. L. Pt. 1, p. 1217).
"The act of Oct. 16, 1918 (40 Stat. L. Pt. 1, p. 1012) as amended by the act of June 5, 1920 (41 Stat. L. Pt. 1, p. 1098).

"The department's action was taken pursuant to the duties imposed and the authority conferred by these laws; and it is therefore unable to comply with your request that visa be granted to Countess Karolyi."

"As Much in Dark as Ever."
"Apparently the department referred the whole matter to its solicitor to find out under what provision it really was acting, and the solicitor has decided to make assurances doubly sure, setting up that it is acting under both the laws," said James F. Curtiss, Countess Karolyi's attorney, in a statement last night.

"Consequently, we are as much in the dark as ever, and are without any information as to whether Countess Karolyi is being excluded because it is claimed she is an anarchist or a communist, or because of some other mysterious but undisclosed reason."

"The last sentence of Mr. Castle's letter deserves special notice. To which duty or to which authority does he refer?"
"Is it the duty that requires them to exclude communists? Then we demand an opportunity of showing that Countess Karolyi is not a communist. Is it the authority that permits them to exclude persons upon the caprice or in the discretion of the department? Then we demand an opportunity of showing that any regulations purporting to grant such autocratic powers are not reasonable regulations within the requirements of the act of 1918."

"The department is still evading the issue. Its position is that the Countess Karolyi is barred under some law or other, but it refuses to say what, which or why."

ARGUMENT IN DR. BRIGGS' ACTION TO REGAIN LICENSE

Counsel for Debarred Physician Declares Law Under Which State Board Acted Is Invalid. Circuit Judge Miller yesterday heard arguments of counsel for Dr. Waldo Briggs, owner and former dean of the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, in a suit in which Dr. Briggs asks the court to set aside revocation of his physician's license last spring by the State Board of Health.

Counsel contended that the statute under which the Board proceeded was invalid in that it provides a license may be revoked for "bad moral character." This term, it was argued, is relative and it is not within the province of the board definitely to determine its meaning. The arguments were taken under advisement.

In revoking the physician's license the Board provided it could be restored when conditions at his college had been improved. Meanwhile the State filed quo warranto proceedings to revoke the college's charter. The ouster suit is pending.

Nothing else which you can do will protect you from colds, grippe, and influenza as effectively as keeping the bowels open and the system toned by the use of Nature's Remedy, NR Tablets, the vegetable laxative.

Begin today to make sure that you can avoid a cold. Take an NR Tablet tonight and put your system in such shape that you can feel reasonably sure of resisting disease.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) does more than a laxative. Besides causing a pleasant, easy bowel action, it acts on the stomach and kidneys, aids digestion as well as elimination and tones and strengthens the whole system.

18,000 say NR is good

During the past six months, over 18,000 users of NR Tablets have written us, telling us how NR has relieved them and their families and has helped them to keep well and happy. Many have told of their experiences extending over long periods of years—twenty, twenty-five, even thirty years of continuous use in their families for Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headaches, Rheumatism, Auto-Intoxication and the train of ills which follow faulty elimination.

Read a few of the letters in the next column
Get a box of Nature's Remedy from your druggist—it is the only safe, dependable way of keeping fit to enjoy the months that are to come.

Well and Happy at 82
W.M. Adcock, Waynesville, Ill., writes: I am 82 years of age and have taken NR tablets for almost 20 years and am never without them. They are fine for constipation, liver and kidneys. I am a real well and happy man for my age, and certainly believe it is due to the good condition Nature's Remedy keeps me in.

Relieved of Dizziness and Indigestion
Henry Schauer, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: It is with a great deal of pleasure that I say that I have taken NR tablets for many years, and the wonderful effect has given me untold relief. My dizzy spells, bad stomach and constipation have entirely left me. I always buy the large size on account of the saving. I recommend them 100%.

No More Sick Headaches and Indigestion
Mrs. L. A. Stone, Norman, Okla., writes: After suffering years from dyspepsia, indigestion and sick headaches, my sister induced me to try Nature's Remedy. This I did and for the past twelve years I have used Nature's Remedy and find it the most reliable medicine.

Twenty Years of Satisfaction
Mrs. Mattie E. Porter, El Dorado, Kans., writes: I have used Nature's Remedy for 20 years. I use nothing else and would not be without them. It is the best medicine I can get. I am 69 years of age and Nature's Remedy is my only medicine.

Great Relief from Stomach Trouble
G.A. Willingham, Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: I have been using Nature's Remedy for some time and it has afforded great relief from stomach trouble. I was down and out and it put me back on my feet. I have gained about 30 pounds since taking Nature's Remedy and I would not be without them.

THE TRUTH ABOUT HOSIERY

How to get more for your money. How to make comparisons. A way to save 25%.

Mrs. Grandon said, as she and Mrs. Spencer passed a shop window filled with gorgeous hosiery: "I wish I knew how to solve this puzzling problem of buying the right hosiery."

"Is it ever possible to solve it?" Mrs. Spencer asked. "It seems utterly hopeless to me," Mrs. Grandon replied.

This is typical of the attitude of thousands upon thousands of women. Some keep searching for information . . . some simply give in.

Yet there are a few simple facts which will guide one, which will save money, yet with no sacrifice to either style or luxury.

First, you should analyze the claims made for different hosiery and learn a few simple ways of comparison.

The claim of "pure silk" can be made by any one. However, a claim is not always a truth. The sole insurance you have that the hosiery you buy is pure silk, is the name and fame of the manufacturer.

If it is a long established firm with a reputation to maintain, you can be absolutely sure that the claim of pure silk is true.

"Pure dyes" is another factor that means much to you. If dyes are not pure the fabric will rot and the life of the hosiery will be shortened.

Furthermore, there is a common practice of "loading" or "weighting" hosiery which gives it a false impression of weight. Mere heaviness is not an indication of quality. Kayser hosiery is never weighted.

You can easily learn how to detect the genuine full fashioned hosiery and the imitation. Genuine full fashioned has a seam which runs from the toe tip to top of stocking.

The imitation is merely the old-fashioned tubular hose with a fake seam running up the back. After the first washing it loses its shape—twisting and wrinkling around the ankle in loose folds.

The genuine full fashioned is knit to conform to the shape of the leg and insures perfect neatness and style.

When the name "Kayser" is on hosiery, it is a guarantee of 100% full fashioned; 100% pure silk; 100% pure dyes.

When you buy hosiery just say: "Kayser's, please," and you will save yourself not only from disappointment, but you will save yourself from extravagance.

Kayser offers the latest in colors and tints. In sheerness and beauty. None of these need be sacrificed to attain long wear.

But some sheerness has strength from proper knitting. Some lacks strength.

Through a clever Kayser invention the annoyance of "runs" is prevented. This is called the "Marvel Stripe". . . a series of knotted loops below the knee—barely noticeable. And yet it is extremely effective, and is guaranteed to prevent garter runs from continuing.

Look for the Slipper Heel! It is gracefully shaped to a narrow point and accentuates the slender lines of the ankle. This is a style feature which every woman appreciates.

Every woman should consider hosiery as a staple article.

Do not be misled by pretty pictures. Costly art does not insure long wear in hosiery. Do not be led astray by hysteric claims. There is nothing magical nor exclusive to honest manufacture.

For every four pairs of ordinary hosiery, women tell us, only three pairs of Kayser's are needed. This is a saving of 25%.

Are you interested in saving 25% out of every dollar you spend on hosiery?

How many pairs of hosiery are you buying today? What would your saving be if you adopted Kayser's?

Your hosiery allowance will tell the story.

The Sextette from Regal in the Spotlight of Style

The six models listed above received more applause from the public than any Style Sextette now appearing in any American city.

We know, because we presented this Style Show in all the principal cities—and the box office receipts tell the whole story.

The Opera Pump was never in better form. The Three-Button Sprayed Strap effect and the Ribbed Front Gore are perhaps the newest style notes to step into the limelight. The Low Broad Flared Inset Strap and the High Riding One Strap deserve their well earned popularity, and the revival of the Colonial made a hit in every city.

They are all headliners and represent the six best sellers in the Regal line. But the best of it is, you don't have to pay a speculator's price. They are all $6.60.

$300,000 Fire in Glass Plant.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Thirty-five tons of molten glass, pouring from a huge crucible, which collapsed yesterday at the plant of the Technical Glass Works, caused $300,000 damage. Firemen were menaced in fighting the flames when water came in contact with the streams of glass, causing small explosions. The fire started when supports under the big crucible became weakened.

BEGGS ALWAYS LEFT PLACE OF RESIDENCE BLANK

"John I. Beggs of —" Way in Which Traction Magazine Was Named in Legal Papers.

"John I. Beggs of —"

That was how Beggs, the late Milwaukee traction magnate and former head of the United Railways of St. Louis, used to be named in legal papers where a statement of one's name and residence is customary.

The blank residence entry, appearing after Beggs' name in several papers which were examined in the course of a court review of the question of Beggs' legal place of abode, caused Theodore Kron- sage, Milwaukee lawyer, to refer to him as "The tax dodger from nowhere."

No Record of Votes.

George A. Bowman, special Assistant District Attorney for Milwaukee County, who was in St. Louis yesterday investigating the matter of Beggs' legal residence, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter: "For at least 20 years, it now appears, John I. Beggs purposely sought to avoid any legal acknowledgment that he lived in Milwaukee. He did not vote in Milwaukee or anywhere else, so far as can be learned, though he had much to say about political matters and the duties of officeholders."

"In Milwaukee he professed to have his legal residence in St. Louis, and in St. Louis he professed to be a resident of Wisconsin, in both cases for the purpose of avoiding taxes in the two states. No taxes have been collected from him in Milwaukee since 1921. He paid taxes on his summer home at Oconomowoc, in Waukesha County, the payment being about $600 a year, but he did not list his legal residence in the records there."

Professed Residence in Florida. "He professed, at the time of making his will last year, and since that time, to be a resident of Florida. But the State of Wisconsin and the Milwaukee County authorities hold that a man's legal residence is a matter of fact, and not merely of declaration on his part."

The purpose of the Wisconsin tax authorities, in trying to establish Beggs' legal residence in that state, is to collect from his estate of $25,000,000 or more, inheritance taxes which have been estimated at a minimum of $1,800,000. The estate was left in trust for Beggs' three grandchildren, children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCulloch of St. Louis.

The State of Florida has no state income or inheritance tax. However, Attorney Bowman explained, this would not mean so great a saving to the estate as would at first appear. The Federal inheritance tax law grants a 25 per cent exemption to estates in states where the estate is subject to a state inheritance tax. This exemption, which the Beggs estate would receive in Wisconsin, but would not receive in Florida, would about equal the amount of the state inheritance tax, Bowman said. The Beggs estate cannot escape the Federal inheritance tax.

In the matter of the State income tax, there would be a saving to the estate by establishing a Florida residence for Beggs. If a Wisconsin residence were legally established, taxes on Beggs' income for the last three years of his life, at least, could be levied and collected by the State, and the estate would remain subject to income taxes there.

Bowman said the Wisconsin tax authorities would contend that Beggs' claim of residence in Florida was for the sole purpose of avoiding taxation in Wisconsin. The contention of the tax authorities is that Beggs actually lived in the Blackstone, a Milwaukee apartment hotel, had his office in the First Wisconsin National Bank Building and employed a private secretary in that office. Citations have been issued for 30 business men, who are expected to testify to facts showing residence in Milwaukee. It is admitted that he removed to St. Louis for a time, but it is contended that he moved back to Milwaukee and made his home there up to his death.

Feb. 24 has been set for a hearing in the Probate Court of Milwaukee County, on the question whether the special administrator, named by that court, shall be sustained in his position or removed. Counsel for the estate has moved that he be removed.

Victim of Accident at Page and Pendleton Was Camillo Barsanti, 64 Years Old.

A man killed by an automobile Sunday night at Page boulevard and Pendleton avenue, was identified today at the City Morgue as Camillo Barsanti, 64 years old.

Identification was made by his employer, H. A. Krueger, head of the Roman Art Co., 2704 Locust street, who was alarmed by Barsanti's absence. He said Barsanti lived with a married daughter on Burd avenue.

Archie Teare, 45, 9A Page boulevard, is under arrest. He told police that Barsanti walked into the side of the machine.

Look Out!

Look for the picture of the Quaker on every package of oats you get. That's the only way to get the "Quaker flavor"—the old Scotch flavor—that you want

WHAT you want in oats is flavor. Everything else takes second place. Oats originally a Scotch dish must have true Scotch flavor to be at its best—real "Quaker" flavor.

Nobody has yet succeeded in imitating Quaker flavor. That enticing and tasty Scotch tang of the Quaker brand.

People who ordinarily don't take to oats, find delight in that unique flavor. Once you taste it, you are spoiled for ordinary oats. So when asked to "try" a substitute, say "NO."

That flavor is not the result of guesswork but of certain Quaker milling processes applied to the finest, plumpest oats that grow. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It makes the finest, the most savory and quickest of hot breakfasts.

Due to Quaker milling methods, it supplies, too, the "roughage" you need to make laxatives seldom necessary.

Judgment Given Film Actress Against Charles H. Duell, Who Sabotaged Her Apartment.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A judgment for $1600 was given yesterday by the Supreme Court against Charles H. Duell, former head of Inspiration Pictures, in favor of Mae Murray, motion picture actress, who claimed that in the six months he rented her apartment Duell did great damage to the furnishings.

A $2500 day bed was broken, Mrs. Murray charged; eight pillows with antique covers were damaged, bed linens disappeared, glass-were shattered and the walls, ceilings and floors were scratched. Last week Mrs. Murray was awarded $500 for one month's rent, which she alleged Duell failed to pay.

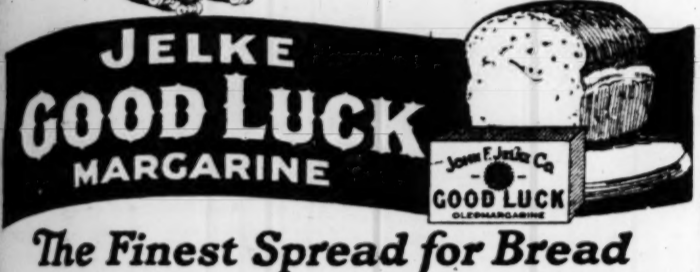

Duell this year attempted to have the Federal Court enjoin Lillian Gish, motion picture actress, from acting for any one other than him. He testified he had been engaged to her, but his testimony was contradictory, the case was dismissed and he was indicted for perjury.

AUTO DRIVERS' CHARGE OF EXTORTION HEARD

Attorney for Club Tells County Grand Jury of Alleged Actions of Constables.

Gus Vahlkamp, attorney for the Automobile Club of Missouri, appeared before the St. Louis County grand jury today to tell of eight instances of alleged law violations by Deputy Constables and others in the county in extorting money from persons arrested for speeding or other traffic violations.

He told a Post-Dispatch reporter he would also relate instances of abuses of power by deputies, not amounting to law violations.

He said that persons involved in these incidents would appear before the grand jury, if called. Vahlkamp asked that officers who extorted money be indicted.

One case as related by Vahlkamp was as follows: Paul Radke of Jefferson City was "arrested" for speeding in the county two months ago by a man who resides in St. Louis and is not an officer, and was forced to give this man $35. When the Automobile Club protested to the township Constable, the Constable was quoted as having said: "That man was not an officer, but it was all right; he gave me the money to me."

Thomas English, an insurance adjuster residing in St. Louis, was followed to his home by a Deputy Constable who had arrested him in the county for speeding. Vahlkamp declared, and forced to give the deputy $45 under threat that he and his wife would be taken back to the county otherwise. This occurred three months ago at 11 o'clock at night.

Two weeks ago, according to Vahlkamp, Albert Brenhan, a shoe company employee, was followed into a county roadhouse by a deputy, who forced him to pay $7.50 "costs" for speeding.

Complaint by Foreign Consul.
Recently, the club attorney said, the Cuban Consul here was taken to a county Justice of the Peace and made to pay $7.50 costs for "glaring headlights," although his lights were approved when tested at city hall. Only Federal officers can arrest a foreign consul, Vahlkamp asserted.

Most of the instances reported to him occurred in St. Ferdinand and Bonhomme townships, Vahlkamp said, but there was one case in Carondelet and two in Central. St. Ferdinand is the northern part of the county and Bonhomme is in the middle of the county.

FITZGERALL REJOINS BILLIKENS FOR CARNEGIE TECH GAME

—By Ken Kling

Pikers Practice Defense Against Sooners' Passes

Both University Elevens in Good Shape for Next Saturday's Contests.

OKLAHOMA FORMIDABLE

Showing of Benny Owens' Eleven Against Missouri Proves Its Power.

By John H. Alexander.

The return of Bill Fitzgerald to the St. Louis University squad yesterday has greatly strengthened the team's chances for its Homecoming game against Carnegie Tech of Pittsburgh. Fitzgerald will fill the vacancy left by the loss of "Whitney" Kahle, who suffered a compound fracture of the thumb last week.

Before Fitzgerald decided to return, it seemed as though the Billikens were to be greatly handicapped in their efforts to stop Carnegie by the enforced use of inexperienced winners on the left side and Coach Savage had already begun to groom Herman Holz, who took Kahle's place in the Loyola game for the job. Holz will now be held in reserve and Jack McCarthy, another new man, has been changed from a substitute center to a substitute end. Fitzgerald has been missing since the trip to Detroit, in the course of which he was called back to the bedside of his father, who subsequently died.

Scott Field to Test Pikers. Washington University will get a good workout this afternoon when it scrimmages with the Scott Field aviators in a curtailed game of 10-minute quarters. The Pikers are in first-class physical condition, no regular being as the injured list and will be at their best against the aviators in the curtailed game.

Assistant Coach Johnny Davis, who has seen the Sooners in action twice, he has been drilling the freshmen with Oklahoma formations and will have the yearlings ready for two afternoons of scrimmage tomorrow and Thursday. The varsity will leave some time Thursday night for the scene of the game. Particularly against Oklahoma's forward passes will the Pikers be guarded as they are reputed to be much of their ground-gaining in this way.

Sooners at Peak of Form.

Oklahoma's showing against the champion Missouri Tigers at Columbia last week demonstrated that the Sooners are now one of the strongest teams in the Missouri Valley Conference although up to recently have been notably weak on offense. "A vastly improved team" is the way they were described after the Missouri contest. In the first few minutes of play they opened an attack that swept the Tigers off their feet and resulted in a touchdown and again in the fourth period they walked through the Tigers for a marker. Coyle's field goal was all that saved the Missouri team from defeat, winning the game, 16 to 14.

Perhaps the circumstance that it was Homecoming day at Columbia had something to do with the closeness of the score, but in spite of their improved form as displayed in beating Rolla, the Pikers seem to be as far away from their first conference victory as they ever were.

It is Homecoming week at St. Louis U. this week and the students are busy preparing for the return of the grads. The Homecoming day was pushed back from Thanksgiving day to the Saturday preceding because of the St. Peter team, Carnegie, scheduled to play University of Vermont to be seen against the Billikens Turkey day. Tickets are now on sale for Saturday's contest and reservations have been made at the ticket office in the lobby of the Arcade Building.

DUANE STEAM-ROLLERS BRITISH OPPONENT IN TWELVE HARD ROUNDS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Carl Duane, the Bronx steamroller, gained the decision of the Leon Kamp of England; Sammy Schack and Dominick Petrone fought a draw and Joe Malone was awarded the decision over Irvine Shapiro in the three great 10-round bouts that were fought here a packed house at the Lenox Sports Club last night.

There was action in every round of the three bouts. In addition to this a sensational bout between Scotty Williams knocked out the highly-touted Johnny Filice in the first round.

While Duane won, he was forced to fight hard all the way as his determined English rival kept swinging both hands all the time and rolled with Duane's punches. Duane, however, was too rugged for Kamp and kept in close, hammering the body with both hands, once or twice he cornered the Englishman and he landed him with the jaw.

Shapiro won the applause of the crowd by the great hit battle he made against Malone. As Shapiro came bounding off the ropes in the second round he was floored with a right hook to the jaw. The crowd thought it was the end of the bout but the East New York featherweight got up at the count of nine. From then on he stood toe to toe with Malone and exchanged punches

JOE and ASBESTOS—It Appears That Asbestos Was Put Out About It

Grange Likely To Quit School After Ohio Tilt

At Least That Is Opinion Expressed by Illinois Football Star's Father.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Red Grange's greatest admirer, his father, is opposed to the illustrious young Illinois gridiron star's playing professional football when the curtain rings down on his intercollegiate career in the Ohio-Indiana game, Saturday.

Grange's father, a Deputy Sheriff at Wheaton, Chicago suburb, said last night that he would not object to Grange accepting any of the other numerous offers made him, whether it be the movies, writing for a newspaper syndicate or any form of public appearance, but that he did not approve of commercialized football.

"Every time I read in the paper that Harold has accepted a contract from this or that college, it gives me a shock," the elder Grange said. "I sincerely hope that he does not do this, although he has not confided in me what his plans are. I have no notion, however, that he will drop out of school for a while after the football season and accept one of the offers made him by the colleges."

Entitled to Spoils.

"I think he's entitled to 'cash in' on the long runs his gridiron fame has brought him. It has been expensive for me to send Harold and his brother, Garland, through the university. We are not rolling in wealth and I think the public will approve of anything Harold does." When Grange bids adieu to the intercollegiate gridiron, there probably will break out the most intense argument that sports have ever witnessed on amateurism and professionalism. A fortune awaits the famous Wheaton iceman, no matter what offer he accepts. His decision as regards a career is awaited with almost as much suspense as his exploits on the field.

Whether Grange has signed a contract to appear in Miami in a football game on Christmas, and elsewhere this fall cannot be verified, although Grange has persistently denied these reports. A close friend and adviser of Grange's declares that he is positive that Grange has signed no contract, and that Grange has turned down offers with the explanation that he wishes to maintain his amateur status until he finishes playing with Illinois. The belief persists in Champaign that if C. A. Pyle, owner of a motion picture theater there, has signed a contract for Grange's appearance at Miami, he has done so of his own accord and in the belief that when Grange leaves school he will be able to influence him to play.

TO WITHHOLD WINNER'S NAME UNTIL LATER

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Announcement of the most valuable player to his team in the American League probably will be withheld hereafter until after the world's series, President Ben Johnson of the American League said last night. Roger Peckinpaugh of the Washington club was awarded the prize for 1922 and it was pointed out that this may have weighed on the player's mind in the world's series.

Kieckhefer Beats Reisel.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Angie Kieckhefer of Chicago took both games here yesterday from Otto Reisel of the National Three-Cushion Billiard League. The scores were 50 to 49 in 47 innings and 50 to 42 in 49 innings. Kieckhefer had a high run of six in the afternoon contest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Allen Hall and Gus Copulos split even here yesterday in their National Three-Cushion League billiard matches. Copulos took the afternoon game, 50 to 42, in 47 innings and Hall won in the evening, 50 to 49, in 47 innings. Copulos' run of eight in the evening was best.

for punch. Both boys were wildly cheered as they left the ring. Yesterday's match was the first since he returned from the Pacific Coast. In Peckinpaugh's found a sturdy youngster who fought hard all the way and was ready to mix at all times.

100-YARD DASH STANDARD, 19 YEARS OLD, WIPED OFF RECORD BOOKS

Scholz Holder Of New Mark of 9 1-2 Seconds

Former St. Louis Sprinter Made Figure Accepted Yesterday on May 9, 1925.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 17.—The 100-yard dash record, which officially has stood for 19 years, went to the boards yesterday when delegates to the National A. A. U. convention, in session here, accepted the mark of 9 1-2 seconds, made by Jackson Scholz, former St. Louis sprinter, now representing the New York A. C. as official.

This new mark for Scholz eclipses the 9 3-4 seconds, first officially recognized in 1906, when the late J. Kelly of Seattle negotiated the century in that figure. Howard Drew, the great negro sprinter, tied this mark on several occasions, the first time in 1914. Charles Padlock of California, rated as the "fastest human," also equaled the standard in 1923.

Scholz's new record was established at Greensboro, N. C., May 9, of this year, when running in the Greensboro High School meet. He ran on a hard clay track and was assisted by Currie of Davidson College and Emerson of North Carolina.

As a result of the acceptance of the former St. Louis sprinter's figure as official, he is now the sole possessor of the century dash mark.

200 Records Approved. The new figure for Scholz was one of the 200 records approved by the delegates. A total of 68 were rejected. Most of the rejections were based on the fact that better figures had been made for like events. Pavo Nurmi and Willie Rittola had marks for "trick" distances refused. Nurmi's was for 400 yards and Rittola's for three and one-quarter miles.

There were a few word battles among the delegates during the transaction of business. Gustavus Kirby, president of the Intercollegiate A. A. U. exchanged words with H. N. Goldsmith, chairman of the Records Committee, when the latter reported his committee had failed to recommend adoption of the 23 feet 1 1/4-inch running broad jump indoor mark of William A. Downing of Georgetown University, made at a meet in New York Feb. 11, at which Kirby was referee.

Lawson Robertson, Olympic team coach and a member of the Records Committee, was present at the meet. He reported that the pit was three inches lower than the take-off.

President Hulbert intervened and prevailed upon the delegates to allow the matter to be referred back to the committee.

Joe Ray's name appears only once in the new records. Ray and Nurmi share the mile mark of 4:12.

Two weeks ago neither had the remotest idea of attaining fame so soon. Martin not so long ago graduated from the amateur ranks. Rittola is more experienced, but he himself has not attained notable heights.

However, Rittola's merit is known on the Coast, where he has been fighting with considerable success. When Phil Kaplan was here he worked with Harry. After his workout he said Rittola was a "very fine, promising boy."

There is little doubt that the Martin-Rittola go will be a real feature of the evening whether it goes on as a final or as the semi-windup.

Kaiser Will "Be Good." The matching of Peewee Kaiser with Morris King caused some up-lifting of eyebrows. But Matchmaker Straus has assured everyone that Kaiser has promised to step out and fight every inch of the 10 rounds. In the past Kaiser has not always pleased. In fact, he gave a sorry exhibition his last appearance here. That was because, when stung, he resorted to clutching his foe and holding on grimly. Peewee has assured Straus he will be good and give his best. That was once worth while.

King is a clever boy, with a good right-hand punch, who will make it a good fight. If Kaiser will meet him half way. This pair also will be battling for the "city championship" at the featherweight limit.

Lou Terry and Eddie Goldberg will battle for the third time in one of the preliminaries. Frank Krell and Gene Riley will appear in another, while Frog Vidal of Scott Field will oppose Kid Panko, otherwise known as Paul Steadman, in the curtain raiser.

Eddie Anderson Beats European Champion Badly

Edouard Mascart Gamely Takes Terrific Punishment for Twelve Rounds.

By Hype Igooe.

Of the New York World Sport Staff NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Eddie Anderson of Wyoming defeated Edouard Mascart, the European featherweight champion, in 12 rounds at the Broadway arena last night. The Frenchman was outclassed, though he took a severe drubbing without wincing. He suffered a deep cut over the left eye in one of the early rounds and this hampered him badly all through the fight.

Anderson's long reach and his clean, solid hitting had the Frenchman in deep water from the start. It was decidedly an uneven affair. The best that this game fellow from France could do was to take a thrashing uncomplainingly. He stayed the 12 rounds and they were betting feverishly that he wouldn't go right, this especially after he had been bumped around in the first two or three rounds.

Anderson was always master. The Wyoming boxer weighed 125 pounds and Mascart 124.

Draw to Decide Which Bout Is To Feature Coliseum Program

Boxers, Jealous of Prestige, So Promoters Will Leave Selection to Chance—Kaiser-King and Martin-Rittler Bouts Called "Double" Windup.

Fearing to wound the sensitive feelings of his local boxing stars, Matchmaker Gene Straus today was confronted with the necessity of drawing straws to decide whether the Lester Martin-Harry Rittler bout or the Peewee Kaiser-Morris King contest should be billed as the final or "main event" on next Thursday night's Coliseum fight program.

The original "wind-up" between Carl Tremaine and Tommy Ryan having been called off because of an operation on Tremaine, it became necessary to promote one of the secondary events into a feature.

And then the fun began. Neither of the two pairs of St. Louis scrappers who had been billed for 16-round events would yield the post of honor to the other, and so it falls out that chance will decide the matter.

Martin and Rittler "Scrappers." St. Louis fans are firm in the belief that the Rittler-Martin city welterweight championship affair will not be lacking in real class. Both men are willing "scrappers" and, although they lack the fame of Mickey Walker, they can box well and hit hard and often, which is perhaps more appreciated than scientific sidestepping and stalling. If the "main event" choice falls to them, the dreams they long have dreamed but not hoped for will have come to pass—that of being in a wind-up fight before a big club.

Two weeks ago neither had the remotest idea of attaining fame so soon. Martin not so long ago graduated from the amateur ranks. Rittola is more experienced, but he himself has not attained notable heights.

Coast Battler Dies After Bout

By the Associated Press. EL CENTRO, Cal., Nov. 17.—"Babe" Monroy, who fought Tony Escalante at a boxing show here Saturday night, died Sunday. The State Boxing Commission is investigating. Monroy came from Tipton.

A doctor had advised him not to enter the ring, but Monroy concealed this advice from his manager and started against Escalante. After the fight he complained of feeling ill, went to bed and died.

SUGGESTIONS MADE TO PLAY WORLD SERIES IN DIFFERENT CITIES

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—A suggestion to play the world's series games in the different cities of the major leagues was submitted to President Johnson of the American League yesterday. Johnson said he had not come to a decision but probably would discuss it with his club owners at their annual meeting.

Adoption of the suggestion would give "fans" who cannot make the trip to the cities represented by the contestants an opportunity of seeing the games.

Bender Is Released.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—"Chief" Bender, veteran pitcher of the American League, who joined the White Sox to help Manager Eddie Collins get his pitchers into shape, has been stricken from the reserve list of the Chicago club, according to Commissioner Landis' office.

Secretary Grabner of the Sox explained that the "Chief" was returning to coach the navy team and undoubtedly would become a member of the White Sox next year.

Valley Teams as Powerful as Big Ten Machines, Brewer Says

Nebraska, Conqueror of Illinois 14-0, Was Beaten by Both Missouri and Drake—Sectional Superiority in Grid-iron Ability a Thing of the Past.

By Chester L. Brewer.

Director of Athletics of the University of Missouri.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 17.—Intersectional games have given flavor to Middle-Western football this season and the results vividly stamp the teams of the Missouri Valley Conference as the equal of those in other sections of the country.

To show on what an equal plane the teams of the different districts play, something of the record is interesting now that the season is about over. Nebraska, defeated by both Missouri and Drake, within the Valley Conference, was able to stop Grange and Illinois, 14 to 0. This team also held Washington, undefeated leader of the Pacific Coast, 6 to 6.

Missouri tied Tulane, the undefeated and sensational team of the South, which easily defeated Northwestern in the Western Conference. Kansas Aggies defeated Marquette and on Thanksgiving day Nebraska will play Notre Dame.

No Sectional Superiority. These intersectional contests, with their evidence that football is played with about as much skill in one section as in another, also broaden the knowledge and vision of various districts.

Five substantial stadiums have been completed in the Missouri Valley Conference, and Missouri is now building one to seat 55,000. This added capacity will give further incentive to the scheduling of important and outstanding intersectional games in the future.

In the Valley Conference, Missouri, by her win over Oklahoma, continues the only undefeated team. Drake, with only one defeat, is the only other team with championship possibilities. If Missouri should fall before Kansas, next Saturday, then Drake, if victorious in her game, could claim a tie, since the two teams have not met.

The Kansas-Missouri battle goes back 24 years and is the historic game of the section, arousing not only institutional interest but state interest, dating to the guerilla warfare of Civil War days.

Oklahoma, although defeated by Missouri, displayed a remarkable offensive. All games of the week were played on heavy fields, making the seventh week of bad fields and heavy going, something that has never been known in the history of the game.

GAME 'Oaken Bucket' To Be at Stake In Purdue Game

Indiana to Wage Fight for Trophy—Chicago Eleven Is Crippled.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—An old oaken bucket makes its appearance in the Western Conference this week to vie with a little brown jug for place in Big Ten football tradition.

While Michigan and Minnesota engage in their sixteenth battle for the jug and other conference teams meet in more or less important games, Purdue and Indiana stage their first fight for the Bucket, to be presented by George Ade, humorist, former Purdue student, and Harry Kurrie, Indiana alumnus.

Beside the jug, the Gophers and Wolverines have the Big Ten title to quarrel about and the Hoosiers and Boilermakers have state honors.

No jugs, buckets or titles inspire preparations of Chicago and Wisconsin for their clash at Stagg field. Chicago is handicapped by injuries to players and morale as a result of the Dartmouth defeat, while the Badgers are in good shape. Most of Stagg's cripples are expected to be recovered for the traditional tilt with Wisconsin.

Neither team has much to gain or lose in the title campaign.

Grange in Practice. Harold (Red) Grange, the Illinois sensation, who makes the game with Ohio State the diving off point, for his collegiate career, is being kept busy with rumors from all parts of the country regarding his future football activities. Between denials he manages to get in a little practice for the run with which he hopes to end his school grid history. The Buckeyes, meanwhile, are stressing passes.

Iowa ends its practice today at home before entraining for Los Angeles and the Southern California game Saturday.

Fear that "Plowboy" Fry may not recover from the injuries of two weeks in time to play is worrying coaches.

Knut Rockne is mustering his strongest Notre Dame lineup for Northwestern. Dick Smith, right guard, and Clem Crowe, captain, are the only regulars not in shape. Northwestern starts heavy work today with its squad in fighting trim after the Purdue victory.

Rare Turkish tobaccos give distinction to Chesterfield's blend

Drawing from a photograph by Mr. Gary, showing the loading of Turkish tobacco aboard lighters to be transferred to the ocean liner in mid-stream. The tobacco is picked, leaf by leaf, and tightly packed in burlap bags weighing from fifty to a hundred pounds each.

For Chesterfields, the best Turkish tobacco — and nothing but the best!

Where does Chesterfield get its spicy tang, its delicate piquancy of taste and aroma? From costly Turkish tobacco, world-famous for their distinctive character, their sheer excellence of quality.

And how does Chesterfield get its mellow fullness and its satin-smoothness? From the way this fine Turkish is blended with the choicest Domestic leaf; carefully, shrewdly, in that can't-be-copied Chesterfield way that brings out the hidden flavors in each type of leaf.

It took no end of skill and patient experiment to get this blend right. Was it worth it? Just smoke a Chesterfield and let the good tobaccos speak for themselves!

Welter Title to Be at Stake in Second Meeting

Sailor Can Take Honors by Knocking Out His Rival or Winning on a Foul.

By Fair Play.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Interest in big time boxing transfers to Jersey on tomorrow night when Mickey Walker will step into the ring and face Sailor Friedman, the come-back artist.
As already noted, Walker met Friedman in East Chicago recently and not realizing that the Sailor had begun to take himself seriously and get himself into fighting trim, the champion was not greatly interested in the bout. As it turned out, he had a rough evening and was not sorry when the bell clanged ending the last round. Now Walker is eager to prove that this bout was all a grand mistake.
Friedman will not weigh in at the welter limit so that his chance of gaining Walker's crown lie either in knocking Mickey out or being fouled by the champion. But by making a good showing he can retrieve a lot of his old prestige, and that really is his aim.

HARVARD FROWNS ON PRACTICE OF SMASHING OF FOES' GOAL POSTS

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Smashing of foes' goal posts after football victories, which appears to have become the fad, is frowned upon at Harvard.
Capt. Dolph Cheek of the Crimson football team has informed the Brown University authorities that the majority of Harvard students are sorry that over-enthusiastic supporters demolished the posts at Providence on Saturday.
Harvard had every reason to burst forth in unbridled enthusiasm after the Brown game for it was the Crimson's first victory over the Bears in four years and one of three Harvard victories this season, but Capt. Cheek did not hesitate in apologizing.
Late upstated the Harvard posts after winning the muddy battle at the Harvard stadium two years ago, when Ducky Pond raced 25 yards to a touchdown, and Harvards suffered the same fate in Yale bowl when Princetonians bore away all the wood in sight.

WILLIAM JEWELL WINS OVER CENTRAL, 14 TO 7

By the Associated Press.
FAYETTE, Mo., Nov. 17.—The Cardinal eleven of William Jewell College, outplayed in the first half of its Missouri College Union battle with Central yesterday, rallied in the third quarter to pull victory out of the fire, winning, 14 to 7.
Central jumped off in the lead early in the first quarter when McKinley caught a Central pass and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. A blocked Central punt paved the way for the first William Jewell touchdown in the third quarter. A Cardinal player recovered the ball on the three-yard line, from where Loomis plunged over for the score. Walker's kick added the extra point and the score was tied at 7 all. Jewell opened up with passes and took the lead when an aerial flip counted a touchdown from the 20-yard line and goal was kicked.

CALZA, ANOTHER ITALIAN MAT TITLE CLAIMANT TO BE SHOWN ST. LOUIS

George Calza, Italian heavy-weight wrestler, has joined the colony of foreign mat men now in this city. He will be given a match at the Coliseum in the near future, although no opponent for him has been named.
Calza has wrestled in the East, where he attracted some attention as one of the several claimants of the "Italian wrestling championship." Vadalini and Gardini being the rival claimants.

Prince of Bourbon Wins.

By the Associated Press.
BOWIE, Md., Nov. 17.—Maryland's last race meeting of the season got under way with the opening of a 12-day gathering here yesterday. The day's feature, the Prince George handicap, $7500 added, was won by Prince of Bourbon of the Nalana Farm. Ten 3-year-olds and up went to the post for the mile and a furlong run, the winner covering the distance in 2:08 3/4. Horolog was second and Primrose took show money.

Russian Player Leads.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Nov. 17.—Bogolubov, Russian champion, assumed the lead in the international chess tournament by defeating his fellow-countryman, Genesky, in the fifth round yesterday. Capablanca, world champion, drew with Rubinstein of Poland. Torre, the Mexican, and Dr. Veresovsky, Austria, drew their game. Marshall, United States, had a bye. The summary of the 10th round: Bogolubov, Russian, beat Rast, Czechoslovakia; Bogolubov, Russian, beat Genesky, Russian; Rubinstein, Poland, beat Genesky, Poland; Lasker, Germany, beat Torre, England; the games between Tartakover, Austria, and Torre, Mexico; Samisch, Germany, and Bogolubov, Russian; and Capablanca, Cuba, and Rubinstein, Poland, were drawn. Those between Lowenthal, Russian, and Dr. Veresovsky, Austria; and Scharov, Russian, and Veresovsky, Austria, and Gromov, Russian, and Gromov, Austria, were adjourned.

Vogel Is Ineligible.
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Otto Vogel, ex-Cuba outfielder, has been added to the ineligible list of the Chicago Nationals, according to announcements made last night.

AND FRIEDMAN TO BATTLE IN JERSEY RING TOMORROW NIGHT

WRAY'S COLUMN

SINCE his former manager, Benny Benjamin, left him, Willie Hoppe has taken many false steps. For one thing, he stepped down and out of the championship. Now he is "stepping out" in an exhibition tour with Jack Schaefer, the man who beat him.
This would seem to be about as bad a move as Willie could make. That the public does not like it was evident from the scanty attendance at the exhibition in St. Louis.
Schaefer and Hoppe are soon to meet in a championship challenge match. For them to be hobnobbing around together now doesn't seem a bit pretty. The public would begin to sniff hard if Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey, who are matched to fight for the title next year, should start an exhibition tour now.
Intimacy between prospective championship rivals is never viewed with favor by fans. They suspect that the next step will be collusion and "professional courtesy." It invites suspicion even though none is deserved. It is easy and advisable to avoid it. Benjamin, as Hoppe's manager, would not have countenanced such a faux pas.

Hope for the Pickers.
OLD GUARD ALUMNI, disheartened by many years of Washington football failure, are beginning to smile, at last. They see a future at Francis Field.
The layman will find it hard to detect anything hopeful in this year's record. In six games the team scored only one touchdown. It failed to win any of its first four conference games. It is highly probable that Oklahoma and Oklahoma both will defeat the Pickers in their remaining contests of the year.
And yet the alumni hope! That's due to two facts:
1. Coach Higgins has shown the team's supporters an eleven with fighting spirit and sound execution of the plays is attempted.
2. He has exhibited eight members of the freshman squad who weigh over 200 pounds, and others of close to that tonnage.
In other words, Washington has found a real coach and real material. And it has been short of one or the other—or both—for many years.
"Next year," is the slogan now.

Can't Be "Finicky."

THE desire to preserve amateur ideals is causing gray hairs among leaders of all branches of sport. One of the chief sources of worry is how to prevent the amateur from acquiring a money-thirst by "capitalizing" his amateur reputation.
The Tilden case and its disposition have not solved the problems. Nor will any ruling solve it for "capitalization" begins even in the high schools. High school reputation is capital.
Oklahoma Looks For Hard Battle With Washington
Team Not Overconfident as Result of Its Strong Showing Against Missouri.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NORMAN, Ok., Nov. 17.—Coach Bennie Owen continued to drill the Sooners on offense tactics as the team began its week of training for the Washington game here Saturday.
After a conference, the coaching staff showed the squad a number of new plays, and the first-string eleven spent the rest of the afternoon slashing through freshmen opposition.
While the team hopes to score its second conference victory of the season next Saturday, the men are not overconfident and the entire Sooners camp realizes that the fighting desperately to break into the win column.
Exceptional defense work displayed by Chief Sumter, 200-pound Indian tackle in the last half of the Missouri game Saturday indicated that he was ready to take his place in the lineup after an absence of three weeks because of injuries. He will probably replace Wilcox at left tackle.
Owen's combinations in scrimmage forecast early changes in the lineup Saturday. If the field is dry, the Sooner motor will probably start his heavy blocking, consisting of Lamb, Slough, Potts and Hill, and later inject the lighter and faster combination, consisting of Situations, Bond, Arbuckle and Taylor.

Joe Smith No. 1 In Junior Tennis Rankings of City

S'goloff Second—Bascom Is Placed at Top in Boys Singles.

By Davison Obeir.
Joseph Smith, district and municipal junior champion, has been placed No. 1 in the official ranking of junior players as announced by a special committee of the St. Louis District Tennis Association, of which Harold M. Hess of the Triple A Club, is chairman. Smith and Charles Sigoloff were awarded first place in the junior doubles on account of their showing in the 1925 tournament.
Smith came into tennis prominence in 1922 when he won the district boys' singles title. He retained the honor in 1923 and his record during that season gave him the position of No. 10 in the national boys' list. Smith also won the local High School tennis title in 1923. Last year Smith captured the district junior singles championship, but lost to Robert Norton of Yeatman High in the interscholastic tournament.
During the 1925 season Smith not only won the two junior tournaments, but was runner-up in the district championship for men players. In that event he defeated Charles Barnes, No. 4 in the district ranking for 1924, and then won from Teddy Egman, who had previously eliminated Elmer Schwarz, another first ten player.
Bascom Placed at Top.
William Bascom, winner of the district title for boys, was placed first in the boys' singles ranking. Bascom and his partner, William Dreese, were awarded No. 5 in the boys' doubles list. Vernon Tietjen of the Oakland Tennis Club is the holder of second place in the list as a result of his showing during the past season.
The ranking committee will announce the women's list Thursday. A second meeting of the committee will be held on that day at which time it is hoped that the ranking of men players will be completed.
How They Are Ranked.
The official list of juniors and boys is as follows:
Junior Singles.
1. Joseph Smith.
2. Charles Sigoloff.
3. Robert Norton.
4. James Murphy.
5. Sidney Smith.
6. Clark Smith.
7. Richard Dietrich.
8. Isador Rosenfeld.
9. Herbert Kassling.
10. Archie Kennel.
11. Sol Pollock.
12. Hugo Brer.
Junior Doubles.
1. Smith and Sigoloff.
2. C. Smith and Dietrich.
3. Koellner and Norton.
4. S. Smith and Brer.
5. Kassling and Harrison.
6. Weber and Kennel.
Boys' Singles.
1. William Bascom.
2. Vernon Tietjen.
3. Alfred Rothchild.
4. Robert Steideman.
5. Robert Smiley.
6. Harry Berkin.
7. Howard Zeuchel.
8. Sidney Wyman.
9. Junior Bohmer.
10. M. E. Boland.
Boys' Doubles.
1. Vandover and Rothchild.
2. Berkin and Steideman.
3. Zeuchel and Abbey.
4. Tietjen and Wyman.
5. Bascom and Dreese.

Hard to Fathom.

THE way of the wrestler is even a greater mystery than the "way of the eagle in the air, the way of a man with a maid or the way of a serpent on a rock." The man who can guess the wrestling game can guess which way a modern college football game will go—and that's some guess.
As to the wrestler, consider the cases of John Pesek and Martin Plesina.
Pesek last year was fighting the Curley circuit and posing for Ed Lewis and the Sandow last. Martin Plesina, through Ole Marsh, was scrapping both the Curley and Sandow "tricks" and getting nowhere with either.
Today, behold Pesek in the ranks of the Curley supporters (hated foes of last year), and Plesina, lining up in Chicago, friendly with the boys whom formerly he fought utterly.
But, after learning that Vadalini beat Jim London, and after having had a Big Munn for a world's champion, one surely need not be surprised at anything in wrestling circles.
They have plenty of stars in the mat game today but the kind that seem to be lacking are what we might term "shooting" stars. You may have to ask some wrestler what this means, but the point is there.
There Seems to Be One.
AS to "shooting" stars, we hope John Pesek will continue to be one. Pesek may indulge some of his opponents. Also, he may lead the public with statements such as the one of last Tuesday, when he is quoted as having said he did not know much about Davis because he had never met him—although he beat Davis in Rochester and Atlanta, advises say.
But Pesek is a great wrestler and proud of his ability, apparently. He permits none to take liberties and he wants the championship. As long as Pesek remains this attitude toward the game he will be an asset and a hope.

Rosenberg Is Sought.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 17.—Harry Segel, manager of Charlie Rosenberg, bantamweight champion of the world, conferred here today with promoters regarding a match with Jimmy McLarnin, Oakland (Cal.) star. Rosenberg will weigh 124 pounds, thus eliminating defense of his title, if the match is arranged.

No Chance for a Missouri-Princeton Contest Next Fall

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 17.
D. R. CHARLES W. KENNEDY, chairman of the Princeton Graduate Board of Athletic Control, said yesterday that rumors of a Princeton-Missouri football game at Columbia, Mo., next fall were unfounded. Such a game would be impossible under the Big Three agreement, he said.

TRYON STILL LEADS SCORERS IN THE EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Edie Tryon of Colgate and not Myles Lane of Dartmouth is the leading individual scorer on the Eastern intercollegiate gridiron. An official recheck with the Dartmouth football management yesterday revealed that Lane had scored 17 touchdowns for a total of 102 points while Tryon had amassed a total of 101 points.
Another change in the official ranking was announced by Syracuse authorities when it was determined after the Colgate game that Harlan Carr had scored the lone Orange touchdown instead of Mike Neister. This elevated Carr to third place among the leading scorers with 33 points, one point ahead of "Swede" Oberlander of Dartmouth.

Carnegie to Play W. and J. Eleven

Post-Season Contest Dec. 5 to Be Play-Off or Scoreless Tie.
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Nov. 17.—Lacking only the approval of President Thomas S. Baker of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, arrangements have been completed for a post-season contest between the football teams of Washington and Jefferson and Carnegie Tech. Sanction of the plan by President Baker is considered a certainty.
The game, according to these arrangements, will be played at Forbes Field Saturday, Dec. 5.
The game will be in the nature of a play-off of the scoreless tie to which these two rivals battled Oct. 17, when the collapse of the grandstands at W. and J.'s Field brought a halt to the proceedings with but half the affair completed.

JOPLIN WOMAN HELD IN POISON PEN CASE

Mrs. Mary Frances Adams Rearrested in Atlantic City by U. S. Agents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Mary Frances Adams of Joplin, Mo., sister of Mrs. Lydia Locke Dornblaser, singer, who was indicted last September on the charge that she had sent an obnoxious letter to Arthur Hudson Marks, millionaire tire manufacturer and head of the Skinner Organ Co., was arrested last night by Federal agents in a hotel here. The agents refused to disclose the basis for the arrest.

Mrs. Adams, arrested in connection with her sister's case, was freed Oct. 12 last at the request of the Government, after she had been subpoenaed to appear as a witness in New York against her sister. She then told officials she had mailed the letter to Marks when she was on her way home from New York after visiting her sister, but that she did not know what it contained.

Hysterical When Arrested.
Mrs. Adams became hysterical when taken into custody by five Federal agents, headed by United States Deputy Marshal George F. Winner, and became unconscious when placed in a cell in the city hall to await arraignment before United States Commissioner McGee. The agents said she had eluded their for five weeks in two states.

Marks was the third husband of Mrs. Dornblaser, who has been married four times. In the course of their married life he gave her large sums of money. At the time of their divorce he gave her $250,000 and later $100,000 in trust for good behavior and on condition that she should not annoy him for five years.

This good behavior agreement, Marks' lawyers allege, was broken when Mrs. Dornblaser tried to foist a child on him soon after the divorce. The child, seven weeks old at the time, was ordered returned to the Willows' Maternity Sanitarium in Kansas City by Supreme

THE Vacuette franchise for St. Louis and surrounding territory is open. It requires a man who has ability to build and handle a house to house organization. He must have sufficient finances to insure us proper representation.

We believe the Vacuette line, embracing both electric and non-electric vacuum cleaners, is the most valuable franchise in the field.

Years of national advertising, including the present campaign of full pages in color in the Saturday Evening Post, have made the Vacuette known to millions of homes.

This is not an opening for job hunters. It requires a man who is an experienced sales organizer, a good executive and responsible morally and financially.

The right man in this job will build a permanent and mighty profitable business for himself. If you think you are the man, phone or write Ralph H. Jones, Hotel Statler. Interview by ap-

An Apology

We are very sorry that we were a few days late in delivering the vast amount of Radios sold in the last sale, but we were overwhelmed with orders, and express shipments on some parts were delayed. We are ready with 500 more sets now in the house and completely equipped. No disappointments this time.

Convenient Terms May Be Arranged With Weekly Payments as Low as $1.50 Week

Because of the Low Price at Which This Set Is Offered We Are Requested Not to Announce the Maker's Name—But the Moment You See It You Will Immediately Recognize It as One of America's Leading Makes

These Are the High-Grade Accessories Which You Get With This Set for $59.98 Complete!

- 1 Westinghouse storage "A" battery, rubber case.
- 1 Radiotron UV201A tubes.
- 2 Large-size 45-volt Beacon "B" batteries, made by the world's largest makers of batteries.
- 1 Complete antenna equipment.
- 1 Horn type loud speaker and plug.

They Came—They Saw—They Purchased! By the Hundreds

Last week, in a full-page announcement, we told how fifteen great department stores, located in as many cities, combined to make one of the largest purchases of Radio Sets ever made from one manufacturer at one time.

In This City Only This Store Has Chosen to Participate in This Great Sale

Not only did we participate, but hundreds of our customers as well, and we sold more Radio Sets than we had ever sold previously on a similar sale.

These five-tube Radio Sets are made by a nationally known manufacturer whose name you have seen and heard thousands of times. But we have been requested not to use his name in this advertising. You will, however, recognize this set the moment you see it, and the moment you recognize it you will immediately want one as did the hundreds of other people who bought them last week. The new shipment we have now received is the balance of our original allotment of five hundred sets and we know that these will not last very long. If you want the best radio value which this amount of money will buy do not fail to take advantage of this sale, BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE!
The accessories which go with this outfit are of the highest possible quality. No "bootleg" tubes, no "orphan" "B" batteries, no cheap wood case storage battery, but everything of a quality that will continue to give you good radio entertainment for a long time to come

SUE FOR CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

Man and Wife Name Boston and New York Science Churches.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—A court order requiring the directors of the First Church of Christ Scientists and the First Church of Scientists to New York to restore them to full membership in both churches was asked in bills in equity filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by William H. Taylor and his wife, Nellie G. Taylor, of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who were dropped from the membership roll of the New York Church after August 1, 1929, were charged with teaching contrary to the tenets of the mother church founded by Mary Baker Eddy, also ask the court to order the directors to furnish specifications and particulars as to when and how Mrs. Stetson taught or practiced contrary to the tenets of the mother church or to the teachings of Christian Science as promulgated by its founder. Damages also are asked.

Church Rallies Successful.

Officers of the Advisory Board of the Board of Religious Organizations, at its November meeting yesterday, reported success of the recent denominational rallies, 10 in number, held to stimulate interest in the organization's work.

Mrs. Joseph S. Caffee, president, and Miss Lillian Trussell, executive secretary, estimated 900 women had attended the rallies, each of which was for an individual denomination. Hereafter, the Board of Religious Organizations has launched its winter work by a central meeting at a downtown hotel.

Three-Piece Bed Davenport Suite

A $199.50
Value $144.50

Who would guess the secret of the graceful Davenport sketched above? Without sacrificing any of its beauty, it conceals a full-size bed which can be summoned into service at a minute's notice. The three inviting pieces . . . davenport . . . armchair . . . wing chair . . . are all covered in velour . . . your choice of the popular colors. A Suite that will stand up under hard usage—well made and good looking. The price is an added incentive for claiming this Suite for your very own.

$10.00 Monthly Pays for This Suite

PPRICE is not always a true measure of value. Furniture may be low in price—and inferior quality—in which case it is expensive no matter how little the cost. Every piece of furniture on May-Stern's eight large floors has been carefully selected with the idea of giving our patrons the best obtainable for the money. Here you will find Quality—plus Low Price. A combination made possible by our 41 years of experience in buying dependable furniture.

Five-Piece Breakfast Set

A $39.50
Value $22.45

YOU could start the day right by breakfasting with this pretty Suite—really nice enough for a small bungalow or apartment dining room. Five cleverly designed pieces include a drop-leaf table, 36x45 inches when open, and four chairs. The Set is enameled and can be had in cheerful color combinations, such as blue with gray striping, gray with blue striping, ivory and blue, or buff and orange. Superior construction—selected materials—a value seldom shown for anything near this price.

$2 Monthly Pays for This Set

Special - Tomorrow Only

Candlesticks

A $3.50
Value $1.75
Pair

These artistic Candlesticks, as sketched, are fashioned of Dutch silver plate, showing typical Dutch figures in bas relief. For Wednesday only at this unusual price.

Occasional Table

A $12.50
Value $8.75

Beautifully finished in either brown mahogany or dull walnut, this Table would lend an air to any room. It is 24x24 inches in size, made of gum, and is a distinctive looking piece of furniture.

$1 Monthly Pays for This Table

Stoves, Heaters, Ranges

Bungalow Range

A complete gas range and kitchen stove all in one! It is enameled in gray and nickel trimmed and is made with the popular high warming shelf. Gas section has four burners and large oven. Coal section has two openings. An outstanding value at this special price.

$5 Monthly Pays for This Range

Hot-Blast Heater

This heater owes its popularity to its tight construction, fuel economy and fire-keeping qualities. It is made of heavy refined blue steel, nickel trimmed, and is air-tight. To fully appreciate this heater you should examine it and compare it with others offered at this moderate price.

$2.50 Monthly Pays for This Heater

Hero Oak Heater

This small heater banishes chill from the air and sends its warm radiance into every corner. Made of polished blue steel with nicked top ring, foot rails and draft registers. A heater that gives a great deal of warmth with a little fuel. Economical to own—and economical to buy at this low price.

$1.00 Monthly Pays for This Heater

Parlor King Heater

Made of solid cast iron with a casting on the outside, this Parlor King Heater insures comfort and a warmhouse for the winter. It takes air at the bottom and passes it between the casing, giving a lot of heat with perfect air circulation. A heater well worth the money.

MILDRED BARBOUR

Concerning the Action and Characters.

SUE DRUMMOND, a young Virginia girl, on the death of her father goes to live in the Long Island home of relatives. The family consists of—

MRS. BLANCHARD, sister of Sue's father.

COL. BLANCHARD, a stock market speculator.

ROGER, their son, a would-be playwright.

JOAN, unmarried daughter; while near by lives—

JOSEPHINE, the elder daughter, wife of—

JACK ADAMSON, a young business man.

On the train an attractive woman leaves in Sue's care a handbag, which she fails to reclaim. Josephine gives a dinner in Sue's honor, and Sue wears a string of beads she finds in the handbag.

MR. HASKINS, a theatrical promoter, is curious about them.

CHAPTER 9.

Several Interesting Discoveries.

SUE found herself in the most beautiful shop she had ever seen or imagined. It had a lofty vaulted ceiling, and a great sweep of skylight through which the sun shone down on show cases and struck fire from their jeweled contents.

She was fairly dazzled by the brilliance and color that surrounded her. As she stood looking about her in uncertainty, an impressive individual in a frock-coat approached her.

"Can I assist you, Madame?"

She extracted the newspaper clipping from her purse.

"I saw this in the paper this morning. I think perhaps I can give you some information about the necklace."

He scrutinized her keenly for a moment.

"Allow me to take you to our manager; I think perhaps I can give you some information about the necklace."

He led her down the aisle between the glittering show cases and ushered her into a small room in the rear.

Another frock-coated individual rose to greet him; he was rather pink and white and chubby, with jewels that overhung his collar.

Sue told him her story of the pearls in her possession simply and frankly. He had small, keen eyes, and they studied her closely. When she had finished, he touched a button on the edge of his desk, and when a secretary answered his ring, he gave a brief order which she did not catch; then he turned to her again.

"I am quite convinced, Miss Drummond, that the pearls in your possession are the ones we are looking for. You understand that they do not belong to us; we are merely acting as the agents for the owner from whom they were stolen some time ago. They were purchased from us originally, or rather from our agent abroad, who secured them at great expense and effort. Since you say that you have not been in New York long, you probably have not heard of the Pemberton jewel theft which created such a furore, and it is not necessary to go into the details now. Most of the jewels have been recovered, but the missing necklace was the most valuable of the lot. The woman you describe, who met you on the train, was arrested last night on her arrival in New York. She has long been suspected as a notorious jewel thief, but, unfortunately, the police found nothing on her; she was clever enough to slip her plunder to you. Again, unfortunately, she succeeded in getting away, and we have detectives scouring New York trying to find her."

She shuddered involuntarily. "It's rather a frightful thought—being so close to a thief and having stolen goods in one's possession, isn't it?" she appealed to him. He beamed upon her patronizingly.

"It is not your fault in the least and you must not feel bad about it. You have done us a tremendous favor in coming to us so quickly, and you have proved your honesty, Miss Drummond, in returning pearls whose value, if I should tell you, would astonish you. If the pearls in your possession are the ones we are looking for, you will come into a tidy little sum for a reward."

"But I shouldn't claim a reward for being honest," protested Sue. "Nonsense," he scoffed. "When you say things like that you prove your unfamiliarity with New York. Now, I suggest that you allow one of our representatives to accompany you back to Long Island. He is qualified to identify the pearls we are looking for. My car is at your disposal."

Sue hesitated for a moment. "You understand, of course, that I have not mentioned the finding of the necklace to my relatives."

He eyed her keenly for a moment, but he saw only wide blue eyes and a pure, oval face framed in pale gold hair. It was a reassuring sight, apparently, for he said:

"Naturally, I understand. My representative will not annoy you at all. I dare say you can manage to bring the necklace to him without exciting curiosity."

It was a tribute which Sue acknowledged with one of her demure smiles.

Within 10 minutes she was on her way back to Long Island with a very correctly tailored young man who might have been the son of one of the best Fifth Avenue families.

Her intuition prompted her to search about for conversational topics which interested him, and finding that he was a baseball fan, she got him to talking about the game, with the result that they arrived at the Blanchards in a pleasant state of friendliness. He was convinced that he had never before found so charming and sympathetic a companion. It was not until he had left her that he realized that she had told him nothing about herself.

At the Blanchards fortune favored her, because Mrs. Blanchard was attending a bridge party, and there was no one at home but the servants.

Leaving the young man in the car, Sue went up to her room and took the pearls from their hiding place in the bag. Seeing them for the first time with their enhanced value, she held them up to the light, and all her woman's love of beauty revealed in their lustrous sheen. She vowed then and there to own such a necklace some day herself, as she touched her fresh lips to their cool, hard surface.

Queer intuitive force prompted her to search again the dressing case in which she had found them before she turned it, too, over to the jeweler's representative.

Deep down in an inside pocket which she had hitherto overlooked she discovered a sheet of note paper written in a dashing, individual hand. It bore no date or salutation, and was unsigned. It read:

"Come back as soon as you can. The danger is past. Something else offers."

She slipped the note into her dresser drawer. Then she placed the pearls in the bag where she had found them and took it down to the man waiting in the car.

Sue was dressing for dinner in the evening of the day when she had turned over the pearls to the jeweler's representative. Mrs. Blanchard came to her room and looked with disapproval at the simple frock spread across the foot of her bed.

"We are having guests for dinner, my dear. I think you'd better wear something a little more formal. We really shall shop for you when this spell is over; meanwhile, there is a lag summer's gown of Josephine's which I think you could wear quite well. I send it in to you and will let my maid 'do your hair'."

"Is this going to be a real party?" Sue asked.

"No, just a few good friends, but there is one man who is anxious to meet you; he adores Southern girls. I want you to be especially nice to him; we are all so fond of him, and moreover," she broke off with a little nervous laugh, "well—he is very wealthy and therefore very eligible."

When she had gone, Sue sat staring at her reflection in the dressing glass.

So, she thought, it had come—the thing which Haskins had prophesied. She WAS expected to relieve the Blanchards of her care at the first possible opportunity. She was to make the most of her visit, apparently, either that or go back to the deadly monotony of Virginia with only old Aunt Sally for company and an occasional ride with Tom Sheldon for diversion.

She was still considering the situation when Mrs. Blanchard's maid came in with a wrap of rose colored chiffon over her arm.

"Mrs. Blanchard sent this gown for you, Miss. I'd better do your hair before you put it on."

Sue looked at it, again; she had never seen anything so scant, but she made no comment and submitted her hair to the deft fingers of the maid.

When the task was completed and the rose garment had been slipped over her smooth white shoulders, she had to own that the result was undeniably attractive. Though she felt abashed and frightfully unclad, she gave no sign of it when she entered the drawing room and was presented to the guests already assembled there.

Mrs. Blanchard had failed to mention the name of the man to whom Sue must be especially nice, but she had no difficulty in picking him out. He was introduced as a Mr. Hinkamp, and she thought him the most unattractive person she had ever met. He was small and blond and inclined to baldness; under a little fuzzy mustache, he showed front teeth like tablets; they gave to his mouth a perpetual expression of surprise. Before she had talked with him five minutes, she discovered that his conversation consisted of bromides and that he giggled.

She made herself very charming, however, and before dinner was half over the admirable Mr. Hinkamp was captivated. Mrs. Blanchard beamed her approval, and the Colonel, well pleased with the situation, was moved to open a precious bottle of old Sauterne.

Joan excused herself shortly after dinner on the plea of a headache, and Roger, muttering about an engagement in town, departed also. Mrs. Blanchard looked after him with a worried expression and sought the Colonel's eye significantly, but he was staring rapily at the amber contents of his glass and failed to notice.

Sue never quite knew how it happened, but she was left alone with the Hinkamp man. She listened to him politely and with apparent interest for two tiresome hours before he took a reluctant departure. When she was finally released and went wearily upstairs to bed, she recalled with unpleasant distinctness that she had promised to meet him and have tea with him on the following day, and that the rest of her week was filled with tentative engagements with the same tiresome man.

Long after she had turned out her light, she lay in the darkness analyzing the situation, turning over in her mind the possibility of evading her relatives' determination to settle her matrimonial future for her. She thought of telling them that she was engaged to Tom Sheldon, but realized clearly how little weight a youthful engagement with an impetuous young farmer in far-away Virginia would have to a worldly family like the Blanchards. She wondered if perhaps the Colonel needed money, and an alliance with Hinkamp would bring about financial assistance.

She felt suddenly very alone and forlorn and friendless there in the dark—a stranger in a strange land with no one who really cared to whom to turn for comfort or succor. She would have liked to put her head down on someone's shoulder and cry and be tenderly comforted; but despite her appearance, she was not the type for tears. She had never really had anyone to help her in her heart-breaking moments.

So, stifling her tendency to emotion, she switched on the bed-side lamp, and selecting a book from the rack beside her, she plunged resolutely into its pages, scarcely noting its title or its author.

Long afterward, she learned to look back with amazement on the evening of this simple act. The fate that led her to choose this particular volume came near to breaking her in the months that followed.

Suggestions for Southern Resort Gowns

Left—A semi-sport two-piece frock of georgette, quite suitable for southern wear. It is of gray georgette, trimmed with embroidery and lace.

Center—One of the advance sport dresses very popular at Palm Beach is this two-piece lavender jersey with the knife plaited skirt.

Right—A new white satin evening gown, one of the earliest models for Palm Beach wear. The flounce is of lace and tulle picoté with gold. Velvet flowers of varied hues adorn and enhance the beauty of the gown.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Sets the Grease.

A greasy garment should be soaked a while in cold water before washing, as hot water will set the grease and make it difficult to remove.

Vitamins.

Raw cabbage is splendid for the system on account of its supply of vitamins. When having cooked cabbage for dinner, first cut out a wedge-shaped piece and save it for salads. Then cook the rest. Cold slaw is also a popular dish employing raw cabbage and should be served frequently.

This and That.

Place hot ashes in metal containers. Paint the shelves in the medicine closet with white paint, then they are easily wiped out if any medicine is spilled.

A button bag near the clothes washer is convenient to hold any buttons that may be wrung off; they are sometimes hard to match. The housewife who knows so many good recipes for casseroles and oven dishes is bound to be a thoughtful and economical cook.

Sign on the Brim.

Signed hats are the latest fad. A number of prominent artists have consented—for a consideration—to design exclusive hats for fashionable milliners. At the price charged, customers demanded something more than mere hats, so they have been given the artist's signatures on the brims.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

HOME-MADE toys are frequently more amusing than those that are to be found in the shops. Take, for instance, the old-fashioned stockinet doll, made from a piece of an old undie, stuffed with cotton. Bits of black silk make serviceable shoes, yellow worsted makes the hair, while the face may be painted, or little buttons make the eyes and the nose and eyebrows and mouth are added in silk embroidery floss. Dressed in gingham, what could be nicer?

Worsted balls are not to be found in the shops, but are easy to make. Take two pasteboard discs 6 inches in diameter, cut holes in the center of each an inch and a half in diameter. Now place them flat together and begin to wrap worsted through the hole and over the edges, in and out, until it resembles a huge doughnut and the hole in the center is almost closed. Then take a very sharp pair of shears and cut around the edge clear to the pasteboard. Next, force the two discs apart enough to run a strong string around the center between them and tie the worsted tight. Now break away the discs and stuff the ball, then clip the edges to make a perfect sphere. The worsted may be in mixed colors or of one solid color.

The rainy-day play apron is one having a number of pockets and some sort of a small toy hidden in each pocket. On rainy days, when the other toys cease to attract, it is brought out of its box, and it is always sure of a warm welcome. Wise mothers keep them on hand and change the toys every once in a while to keep up the novelty. Home-made paper dolls are also a delight. The dolls may be cut out of Bristol board and the faces, hands, hair and shoes are painted. Then they may be dressed in clothes made of the soft tissues that are pasted, sewed or gummed in place. If there are a number of little light blocks with a hair-line cut sawed across them, the dolls may be stood up like real people.

Escalloped Shrimp. Prepare the shrimp the same as for the toast, then add to them a half cupful of dry crumbs, a half teaspoonful of onion juice, and a chopped hard-boiled egg. Fill buttered ramekins with the mixture. Dot the tops with little lumps of butter. Bake in a medium oven about 15 minutes.

Women have always dipped clothes into water to soak and rinse, but taken them out of water to wash. It is the rubbing of one fabric against another in soap suds, out of the water, that washes clothes. In the the clothes come up out of the water into the suds, rub themselves against themselves and go down into the water again to rinse themselves off.

It washes cleaner and quicker—faster than a woman can rinse, blue and hang out; 60 lbs. of dry clothes an hour. See this wonderful washer at

The Coon Th

Some things in life

THE instant Bobby Coon felt that sharp reminder he knew what it was and he recovered his wits. He did so. He knew that he had stepped on one of the little spears of Prickly Porky the porcupine. Those little spears which Prickly Porky carries in his coat are called quills, as you know. This one had dropped from Prickly Porky's coat and Bobby had stepped on it in such a way that the sharp point had entered his foot.

Bobby didn't stop to pull it out then; that dog was too near. But the instant he felt that little spear Bobby remembered that he had seen Prickly Porky in the yard under which he had stepped on that little spear. To be sure, it had been the day before. But Bobby knew that Prickly Porky sometimes spends several days in a tree, having plenty to eat and being no reason why he should move on. It was too dark to see if he was still up there, but Bobby decided to take a chance. So without pausing a second he scrambled up that tree.

Out on a branch half way up the tree he saw Prickly Porky and a little sigh of relief escaped from Bobby. But he didn't even speak to Prickly Porky. Instead he kept right on up that tree until he was near the top. There he flattened himself against the trunk and waited.

How that dog did bark at the foot of the tree! He barked as if he were trying to bark his head off. What he was trying to do was to tell those hunters that he had driven Bobby Coon up a tree. Bobby, looking down, saw the light come bobbing along between the trees and heard the hunters calling excitedly to one another. Presently they were gathered just below around that tree. One of them pointed a flashlight up in the tree and saw Prickly Porky and a little sigh of relief escaped from Bobby. But he didn't even speak to Prickly Porky.

SCOTT FIELD HEAD BACKS MITCHELL AT ARMY COURT

Lieut. Col. Paegelow Agrees With Colonel That Shenandoah Should Have Had Parachutes.

REFUTES THEORY HELD BY NAVY

Expanding Gas, With Not Enough Valves, Would Break Up Airship, the Witness Testifies.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Through the testimony of Lieutenant-Colonel John A. Paegelow, commandant of Scott Field, at Belleville, and other airship experts, the defense in the military trial of Col. William Mitchell today sought to show that the reduction in the number of the automatic safety valves on the Shenandoah and the failure to provide her crew with parachutes justified Mitchell's charge of criminal negligence against the navy.

Col. Paegelow, who qualified as an expert by telling of his extensive experience with observation balloons in France and his subsequent work at training the field in the United States, was asked by Representative Frank R. Reid, civilian counsel for Mitchell, whether he thought parachutes should be carried on aircraft.

"Absolutely," he replied with emphasis. "I'd try any man for disobedience of orders if he didn't carry them."

Mr. Allen J. Gullion, who today considered the burden of the prosecution, asked Col. Paegelow whether his answer did not apply solely to airplanes and not to non-rigid airships, and not to rigid airships like the Shenandoah.

"Applies to all," he said.

"It applies to all," replied the witness. "An airship is an airship, sir."

Mr. Gullion called the attention of the witness to the navy theory that a parachute on a rigid airship is likely to be more of a hindrance than a help.

"Do you not know," he continued, "that the navy regulation against parachutes on ships of this kind is based partly on the theory that a falling ship would be likely to fall on top of the man coming down with a parachute?"

The witness knew of the theory but did not describe it.

"That wouldn't happen if the man had any sense," he said. "He wouldn't allow himself to get under the airship."

The charge of emergency, asked Reid, "have you ever escaped from a ship through the use of parachutes?" "All the time," replied Paegelow.

The examination elicited indirectly at the reduction of the safety valves on the Shenandoah from 10 to 8—a change which a previous witness, Capt. Charles Clark, testified had reduced the safety factor of the airship. It was brought out that as an airship ascends the gas expands and that safety valves are necessary in order to reduce the pressure of the gas on the framework of the craft.

Hypothetical Question.
Col. Paegelow was asked a hypothetical question about the effect of gas expansion on an airship, if adequate means of lowering the pressure were not provided.

"It would break her up," was his terse reply.

Col. Paegelow testified that hydrogen has a greater lifting power than helium, in the proportion of 100 to 92. The Shenandoah's buoyancy, he added, in reply to a question, was therefore reduced when she was filled with helium.

But this answer, however, was not taken as condemning the use of the noninflammable helium was asked a question by Major-General Howze, president of the court, and that he preferred helium after giving his testimony. Col. Paegelow was excused from further attendance at the trial.

Ordered Not to Talk.
Ernest Sheehan, a newspaper reporter of Cambridge, O., testified that he had arrived at the scene of the Shenandoah wreck soon after the ship crashed, and was told by some men that they could get some information he would be given. "They had been ordered not to talk," he testified.

A comparison of the British and American airships was made on Page 2, Column 4.
